Troops Keeping Order After Big Riots In Belfast

Police Report Situation Well in Hand After Second Outbreak, Clashes This Forenoon Following Those of Yesterday Evening

Communists To Blame, Say Police

Canadian Press

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Oct. 12.—British army troops were rushed to Belfast to-day after rioting, similar to that which resulted in one death and more than thirty serious injuries yesterday, had broken out again shortly before noon.

This afternoon the police reported they had the situation well in hand.

Quiet was restored by the police by last midnight after a stern quasi-military rule had been clamped down in the city. The quiet continued throughout the early morning and forenoon until about 11 o'clock, when shooting broke out again in the Falls area west of the city.

ARMORED CARS USED

A bus was wrecked by the mob and every available armored car was brought into use by the police.

The milling crowds retreated quickly before the charge of armored cars manned by police, however, and quiet was restored.

A detachment of the Iniskillen Fusiliers was brought in from the barracks at Hollywood and it was announced the King's Royal Rifles were due to arrive Friday.

CROWDS KEPT MOVING

Street cars and busses which had discontinued service yesterday evening had begun functioning during the early forenoon. Many people went out to visit the scenes of yesterday's riots out of curiosity, but police kept them on the move as well as all groups of unemployed.

Wholesale arrests were made during the morning. In one street alone police gathered in thirty-nine persons. It was understood plain-clothes constables had mingled with the mob during the riots, noted who the participants were and bided their time.

Where trenches had been dug in the streets the occupants of nearby houses were ordered to fill them in, but police eventually did it.

CHICAGO TEACHERS GET REAL MONEY

Canadian Press

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Happy days are here again for Chicago school teachers. The $2,400,000 school payroll for the first half of last April was met by the sale of tax warrants to local banks.

NORFOLK MARU WAS AGROUND

Japanese Ship Floated From Ediz Hook Before Arrival of Salvage King

Was Bound From Puget Sound to British Columbia Ports to Load Lumber

After being ashore on Ediz Hook, at the entrance to Port Angeles harbor, for a short time this morning, the Japanese freighter Norfolk Maru succeeded in floating herself without assistance.

In response to a call for aid from the agents of the Yamashita Shipping Company, the steamer Salvage King of the Pacific Salvage Company was sent out from the Inner Harbor at 11.30 o'clock this morning.

Before the King had reached the other side of the straits, however, the news was received that the freighter had been floated.

The Norfolk Maru was due off Victoria this afternoon en route to Vancouver to load lumber. She was on her way here from Puget Sound when she went aground.

This is the second abortive trip the Salvage King has made within the last week to aid ships in distress. She went to assist the freighter Canadian Winner, ashore at Reef Point, Baynes Sound, but the vessel was floated when she was within ten miles of the scene.

DEMANDS CARE OF TRANSIENTS

Winnipeg Council Says Ottawa Ought to Convey Rod Riders to Their Homes

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—Immediate action on the part of the Dominion Government to relieve the city of the transient unemployment problem is demanded by the Winnipeg council. A resolution was adopted petitioning the government to provide every transient with transportation to his legal place of residence and proper food and accommodation while stranded here.

More than 3,000 transients have been taken off freight trains here within the last six days in accordance with the Dominion Government's ban on rod riding which went into effect October 1.

SLOT MACHINES SUNK AT SEA

Somewhere in waters surrounding the city to-day are fourteen slot machines formerly operated in several newsstands and pool parlors.

They were confiscated after a prosecution and were ordered demolished. While police did not state the location, they said the machines would be thrown into the sea and put to rest many fathoms deep. They were valued at about $200 each.

New Chairman and New Member Of Montreal Harbor Board

When J. H. Rainville, chairman of the Montreal Harbor Commission, recently was appointed a member of the Senate of Canada, J. C. Newman, right, one of the members, was named chairman of the board, and Alphonse Raymond, left, was appointed a member, filling the vacancy created by the elevation of Mr. Newman.

Japan In Manchuria Tries Negotiation

Tokio Army Leaders Decide to Seek "Peaceful Solution" of Rebellion in Northern Region; Eyes on Russia

Associated Press

Tokio, Oct. 12.—Decision to seek "a peaceful solution" of the rebellion in western Helungkiang province in Manchuria was reached to-day at a conference of high Japanese military officials, including General Sadao Araki, War Minister.

The purpose of the determination on peaceful methods was given by the War Office as a desire to avoid friction with Soviet Russia.

"BIG SWORDS" FIGHT

Mukden, Manchuria, Oct. 12.—Fierce attacks by the fanatical Chinese "Big Swords," armed with spears, daggers and bayonets, have characterized the latest phases of the Japanese push against 30,000 Chinese insurgents in the Tungpien area, where a score of foreign missionaries are located.

The "Big Swords" believe they are immune to death. A thousand of them, shrieking "Charge! Kill! Die!" put up gallant resistance against the Japanese near Hailung, retiring only after 155 had been killed in a single hour of fighting. General headquarters said the Japanese losses were only one private killed and four wounded.

SEED ARRIVED ON FARMS TOO LATE

Canadian Press

Calgary, Oct. 12.—Farmers in various sections of southern Alberta are complaining to the Dominion Government regarding distribution of seed last spring.

They declare the seed was poor quality and that the cost was too great for them to bear. The farmers also maintain the seed arrived too late in the season.

RELIEF WORK OR PAY OPEN

Local Authorities to Decide on Method of Payment

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Agreements between the Dominion Government and the various provincial governments respecting the administration of direct relief, place the decision as to whether it shall be paid in money or in kind directly in the hands of the local authorities.

Some doubt had arisen in several quarters as to whether or not some new ruling by the minister had provided authority for payment of direct relief in cash. It was learned at the Department of Labor to-day that the act specifically gives the prerogative to the local administrator of the fund.

The act provides the government of Canada will share with the provincial and municipal authorities in giving food, shelter and clothing, "or the equivalent thereof," to those qualified to receive relief.

The local authorities may decide the method in which they will supply the needy with these necessities, the Federal Government's part being only to pay its share of the total.

DRUGS SEIZED ON SHIP HERE

Chinese Arrested After Discovery of Opium in False Bottom of Trunk

Fung Tin Sui, Chinese passenger, was arrested by custom officers on board the Blue Funnel steamer Tantalus here early this morning after the discovery of opium valued between $2,500 and $3,000 in the false bottom of a trunk aboard the ship.

Fung appeared before Magistrate George Jay later on a charge of unlawful importation of narcotics and was remanded for one week.

It was one of the largest dope seizures made here for a number of years. There were forty-eight tins of opium the officers said.

Custom officers J. Dakers and F. Hall discovered the drugs while searching through the baggage of the few passengers aboard the ship.

Sizing up one of the trunks, the officers decided that the inside did not corresponde in size to the outside. Investigating this discrepancy they discovered the false bottom. Inside were the tins.

Subsequent inquiry resulted in the arrest of Fung, aged thirty-three, who was en route to Vancouver.

The Chinese was turned over to the custody of Constable J. Howe of the R.C.M.P. and A. Huxtable took charge of the case for the custom department.

ABDUCTORS KILL WOMAN

English Resident Murdered in Harbin, Manchuria; Two Outlaws Slain

Police Rescue Three Children; Two Bandits Make Escape

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 12.—Mrs. C. T. Woodruff, English woman, whose husband is chief accountant for the British American Tobacco Company, was killed byt bandits to-day as she struggled to prevent abduction of her three children.

The bandits shot her dead, seized the children and fled. Two Russians pursued them, but the abductors opened fire, wounding both seriously. Then Chinese police took up the chase, killed two of the bandits and rescued the children. The other two abductors escaped.

The crime was committed in broad daylight on one of the principal streets of Harbin and the whole city, which lately has been a prey to such raids, was raised to a high pitch of excitement.

The children were not harmed.

Redcliff, Alberta, Wants Moratorium

Canadian Press

Redcliff, Alta., Oct. 12.—Redcliffe's financial position has become so precarious the Ratepayers' Association is urging the Alberta Government to have the town's bonded indebtedness suspended. Redcliff is six miles west of Medicine Hat, in southern Alberta.

According to the association, taxpayers are losing their homes because of lack of funds to meet their taxes.

The Alberta Government has been petitioned to appeal to the bondholders in an effort to obtain a moratorium.

COLLEGE BOARD MOVED SLOWLY

Tracing of Manitoba Shortages Shown in Records Presented at Inquiry

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 12—Almost two months elapsed between the time the vice-chairman of the board of governors was advised of a "serious state" in the University of Manitoba's financial affairs and the first meeting of the board to consider reports which later revealed the loss of $1,000,000 in endowment funds of the institution.

In records presented to the board of inquiry investigation the defalcations R. F. McWilliams, K.C., to-day showed that on June 28, 1932, Robert Drummond, comptroller-General of Manitoba, advised R. W. Craig, vice-chairman of the board of governors, of the serious state of the university's financial affairs.

WINNIPEG MEN MET

It was not until fourteen days later Winnipeg members of the board met and made arrangements for an audit of the books of the investment firm of Machray & Sharpe, through whose accounts all university investment funds were handled.

John A. Machray, K.C., senior partner of the firm and honorary bursar of the university, recently was convicted of stealing $500,000 from the institution and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

On August 15, a formal demand was made by the board of governors for Machray to produce all bonds and securities belonging to the university and to provide all information regarding them within two days. The letter reminded the bursar of repeated unsuccessful attempts by the comptroller-general's auditor to have these documents produced.

Preference Rates In Canada For Goods From Britain Explained to M.P.'s

SPEAKS TO-MORROW

REV. ROBT. JOHNSTON, M.A., D.D. Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD OPENS

Provincial Organization Elects New Moderator This Evening at St. Andrew's

Rev. R. Johnston, Dominion Moderator, to Give Address To-morrow Evening

The Presbyterian Synod of British Columbia, which will meet in St. Andrew's Church this evening, will bring together representatives of all the Presbyterian Churches in the province. The outstanding figure will be Rev. Robert Johnston, M.A., D.D., moderator of the General Assembly, who arrived in Vancouver yesterday and addressed large gathering in the Central Presbyterian Church in evening.

Other ministers of prominence will be the veteran preacher and author, Rev. R. G. MacBeth, D.D., who has recently recovered from a serious illness. His many friends in Victoria will be glad to see and hear him again. Dr. R. J. Douglas of Westminster, synodical missionary and one of the clerks of Synod, will also be in attendance.

COMMITTEES MEETING

Committees are meeting this afternoon in preparation for the opening meeting at 8 o'clock this evening.

After the sermon by the moderator, Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, B.A., his successor in office, will be elected.

To-morrow morning the Synod will get down to the business of hearing reports, and sessions will continue throughout Thursday and Friday.

The address of Dr. Johnston on Thursday evening will be the chief item on the programme. On Thursday and Friday afternoons, at 2 o'clock, Very Rev. Dean C. S. Quainton will give addresses on "Mysticism in Its Relation to Religion." All the meetings will be open to the public.

SNOW IN ONTARIO

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 11.—Northern Ontario awakened to-day to face the first real wintry blast of the season. A thin layer of snow was present in most sections, and freezing temperatures, as low as 15 degrees, were reported.

NEW TREATIES ARE EXPLAINED

Schedules of British-Dominions Trade Pacts Made Public in London

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Oct. 12.—Forty per cent of British exports to Canada will enjoy immediately the advantage of lower customs duties than those previously in force. British goods valued at more than $8,000,000 will receive free entry to the Dominion market.

This, in brief, is the effect of the Imperial Conference agreements on British exports to Canada as summed up for the Canadian Press in authoritative British circles this afternoon.

The complete schedules of all agreements reached at the conference were issued this afternoon.

The Anglo-Canadian agreement provides for immediate modification by Canada of import duties on 215 items. In 132 cases the duties on British goods are reduced and in seventy-nine additional cases British goods for the first time enter Canada duty free.

Pacts With Other Dominions Tabled

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The pacts entered into by Canada with the United Kingdom, South Africa, Irish Free State and Southern Rhodesia at the recent Imperial Conference here were tabled in the Commons this afternoon by Premier Bennett.

"The agreements," Mr. Bennett declared, "mark the first forward step in a definite scheme of closer Empire economic association. They are based on the principle enunciated by the Conservative Party before the last general election, and steadfastly supported by it from that time to the present. They conform to the general plan proposed by this government at the economic conference held at London two years ago, reaffirmed at the opening of the Ottawa conference, and adopted in a very practical way by the agreements which are the outcome of its deliberation."

WOOLEN GOODS

Decrease in the specific duties on woolen goods—from yarns to clothing—by one-quarter on every item entering Canada on which specific duties are operative, with the exceptions of those covering blankets and carpets, was announced by Mr. Bennett.

On items covering blankets and carpets, the specific duty is cut in half. Those woolen items relating to hair yards, lustres and linings, grey fabrics, four ounces or less in weight, and billiard cloth, are made entirely free of duty.

COTTON GOODS

Reduction in the specific duties on cotton goods—from yards, to clothing—by one-third on every item coming into Canada from the United Kingdom was announced by Premier Bennett to-day.

"In so far as the British preferential tariff is concerned," the Prime Minister stated, "the specific duties on cotton goods—from yards, to clothing—are reduced by one-third on every item on which, at present, specific duties are operative, the sole exception being that covering cotton velveteens, on which the specific duty is removed entirely and the ad valorem duty reduced. Cotton fabrics composed of yarns of a certain fineness are made free of duty, as are typewriter ribbons and cotton bobinet. A wide preference is provided for on mercerized cotton yards, with free entry under the British preferential tariff."

All alcoholic liquors, as well as pure alcohol, imported from the United Kingdom, would have a preference of $2 a gallon over imports from other countries, the House was informed. The general and intermediate tariffs would remain at $10 a gallon, but the British preferential would be reduced to $8.

TOBACCO RATES

Tobacco and cigarettes from the United Kingdom will have a decided advantage over the "weed" imported from other countries, by virtue of the new tariff schedule, the Commons learned. Cigarettes, on which the preferential, intermediate and general tariff was $4.10 and twenty-five per cent in each case, will now be taxed only $3.50 and twenty-five per cent per pound when imported from the United Kingdom. The general and intermediate rates are to be left unchanged.

Cut tobacco is to be reduced from 95 to 80 cents a pound, while intermediate and general tariffs will remain at 95 cents.

IRON AND STEEL

Changes in the iron and steel schedules of goods entering Canada from the United Kingdom also were announced by the premier.

The first feature of these proposals, the Prime Minister stated, was a very material widening of the preference on primary forms of great commercial importance, such as steel plate; black, galvanized and tinned sheets; boiler plate and various kinds of strip and hoop steel.

Nearly Eighty Per Cent of Taxes Paid

Current Collection Total to Date $1,537,324, Comptroller Announces

City Requires $100,000 in Two and Half Months to Reach Estimate

Clerks in the city treasury office finally caught up on the recording of tax payments this morning and after a last check-up, City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald announced that collections of current accounts to date aggregated $1,537,324.

This is approximately 79.4 per cent of the levy for the year and leaves the city with a little more than 5 per cent to collect before the end of December in order that the estimated 85 per cent may be reached.

While officials made no statement in connection with the collections, it was intimated that the figure had not reached the amount which had been hoped. However, Mayor Leeming pointed out that the lower graduation of penalties between now and December 31 would probably serve to bring in a greater proportion of late payments than in previous years.

Between this date last year and the end of the year approximately $45,600 was collected and, estimating on this basis, it would give the city a collection of about 81.8 per cent, Mr. Macdonald said. The difference in graduation of penalties may, however, have the effect of a larger payment, especially in view of the fact that there are more accounts outstanding than at this time in 1931.

The general levy for the year was $1,823,000 and frontage taxes amounted to $112,000, or a total of $1,935,000. The actual estimated up to the last collection, or $1,644,750, so that the payments to date are slightly more than $100,000 short of that amount.

One of the promising signs, it was explained, was that a large number of people had paid on account and it is likely their bills will be cleared up by the end of the year.

No figures were available on collection of arrears, although these are stated to be in good shape.

WHEAT CARGO DOWN HUDSON

First Grain Steamship Leaves Albany, N.Y., For Europe With Canadian Product

Albany, N.Y., Oct. 12.—With the sailing to-day of the steamship Nailsea Moore for Cobh, Ireland, grain for foreign export began moving for the first time out of the new inland grain elevator at this Hudson River port.

As the Nailsea Moore steamed down the river toward the sea with 240,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, the steamer Catherine Radcliffe, just in from London, was taking on the first of 120,000 bushels of grain. This cargo is for the United Kingdom, Antwerp and Rotterdam.

The grain was shipped from the Canadian prairies, across the Great Lakes and down the state barge canal.

Premier MacDonald Sixty-six To-day

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 12.—Premier MacDonald celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday at work to-day at No. 10 Downing Street, where his attention was demanded by matters connected with various pending conferences.

He had one short break this afternoon, however, when the members of his family participated in a birthday tea party.

Bright Fan Inquiry Set For Next Week

Captain of Grain Steamship Which Sank in Hudson Strait at The Pas To-day; Investigation in Montreal

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Tuesday next at Montreal, it is understood, will be the time and place for the opening of the Bright Fan inquiry.

A judge and two assessors probably will be appointed to conduct the investigation.

The British steamship Bright Fan sank in the middle of Hudson Strait with 253,000 bushels of grain ten days ago after hitting an iceberg.

AN ACCIDENT

The Pas, Man., Oct. 12.—The feasibility and safety of the Hudson Bay route should not be affected by the recent sinking of the Bright Fan.

The mishap was an act of God, declared Capt. R. E. Oliver, who commanded the grain steamer, on his arrival here from Churchill to-day.

Capt. Oliver declined to make any statement regarding details aboard ship when the crash came, but members of the crew declared everything was in order with the lookouts at their posts.

Capt. Oliver was reticent about the accident, stating he did not wish to commit himself until he should reach the east, where an inquiry into the disaster would be held.

The men of the crew of the lost Bright Fan arrived in The Pas to-day and will leave to-night for Winnipeg.

BY-ELECTION IN P.E.I. TO-DAY

Canadian Press

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Oct. 12.—Prince Edward Island's first by-election since the government of Premier James D. Stewart was ballotted into power a year ago last August, was held to-day. Electors in the Fifth District of Prince went to the polls to choose between H. M. Downing, government candidate for the seat made vacant when Hon. Leonard MacNeill, Minister of Public Works, died in February, and Dr. John MacNeill, former Liberal minister without portfolio, who lost by a few votes in this constituency at the last general election.

Jobs Assured In Hamilton

Canadian Press

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 12.—One of the largest hosiery orders ever given in Canada, for 1,000,000 pairs of silk stockings, has been received by a local mill and will keep the stocking department busy working night and day for the next six months.

GREAT LAKES GRAIN RATE INQUIRY

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Information relating to grain rates on the Great Lakes is being collected by the Federal Government.

Announcing this to-day, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said he had received no protest from prairie provincial governments against increases in the rates while grain prices were sinking.

The information being collected will be considered in the light of the western protest, when it reaches Ottawa.

NORTH VANCOUVER IS APPEALING ORDER

District Will Ask Appeal Court at Present Session to Declare No Commissioner Needed

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 12. — Leave was granted the District of North Vancouver by the B.C. Court of Appeal to-day to set down for hearing at the present sitting an appeal from an order of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald authorizing the Lieutenant-Governor-in Council to appoint a commissioner for the municipality.

J. G. A. Hutcheson, counsel on the application, stated it was a matter of great public importance and the appeal should be heard at this session and not be delayed until the court next meets in January.

Chief Justice Macdonald directed counsel to have the appeal books filed by October 19. The appellant municipality must put up $150 security for costs.

The respondent is Philip Whitehead, president of the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association, who alleged default in payment of interest on a bond issue when the case came before Mr. Justice McDonald in the Supreme Court.

TWO MORE SEEK COUNCIL SEATS

A. Hinder and J. A. Shanks Will Stand For Aldermanic Honors in December

Two more candidates are in the field for aldermanic honors to-day, bringing the list to eight for the five vacant seats.

Arthur Hinder, secretary of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, will make his second attempt to gain public support for the council. Mr. Hinder ran as the ratepayers' choice last year and believes the support accorded him, despite his late entrance into the contest, justifies his candidature for the second time.

J. A. "Five Points" Shanks, another of last year's unsuccessful contestants, will be in the contest again. Mr. Shanks, an ex-alderman, has displayed an interest in civic affairs for a number of years.

Name "Kingdom Of Canada" Suggested

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The House of Commons will be asked at the present session to record an opinion that the name of Canada should be changed from "the Dominion of Canada" to "the Kingdom of Canada." Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker of the House and Conservative member for Montmagny, Que., has given notice of a resolution declaring that "in view of the Statute of Westminster, the traditions of the Canadian people and the constitution of the country," this change in name should be made.

ARREST HUNDREDS OF MINE STRIKERS

Between 600 and 700 Taken in Police Raid in Taylorville, Illinois; 600 More Go to Jail Voluntarily

Associated Press

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 12—Moving to prevent possible disorders, national guardsmen early to-day raided the headquarters of the striking miners and placed between 600 and 700 of them under arrest.

The diggers had gathered at Taylorville for the observance of the anniversary of the Virden, Ill., massacre thirty-four years ago, and were jammed in a second-floor hall across the street from the Christian County courthouse when 180 troopers, acting under orders of Capt. C. J. Meacham, herded the miners to the third floor of the courthouse. They were held to be questioned individually. Officials indicated those who could not give satisfactory reasons for presence might be escorted out of the city.

Capt. Meacham expressed renewed determination to carry out the orders of Sheriff Charles Wieneke against any parade of miners this afternoon in commemoration of the Virden massacre.

WALKED IN

Six hundred striking coal miners voluntarily placed themselves under arrest shortly afterward, crowding the capacity of courthouse rooms to more than 1,200.

They applied to the guardsmen without disorder, for permission to join the group taken in the raid on the miners' hall. Each additional group was greeted with cheers by those inside, and with boos and spitting at the helmets of the guardsmen below.

Down below in the streets white dressed women of the miners auxiliary paraded round the square.

Commons Asked To Approve Trade Pacts

Duties under the British preferential tariff would be removed entirely on poundage steel in bars, large bars for shafting, casement sections, rust and heat-resisting steels, silicon sheets for electrical use, co-operate steel, tramway rails, heavy structural shapes and sections, centre and side sills for steel cars, hollow forgings, power equipment for dairying purposes, automobile engines of heavy rating, telephone and radio apparatus and special-type storage batteries.

On steel tires, railway axles, wire products, steel chains, certain machinery, cutlery and small tools, the preferential margin would be widened. Automobiles, motor trucks and motorcycles would be embraced in the iron and steel schedule and these would be made free of duty under the British preferential tariff.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—A general widening of the British preference is shown in the tariff changes introduced in the House of Commons to-day.

Of a total of 262 tariff items brought down by the Minister of Finance, some thirty-seven are changed merely in wording, in order to harmonize with items arising out of the Imperial Conference negotiations.

These latter number 225, and on 223 of these the British preference is widened. The schedule of items tabled comprises 157, which are free of duty under the British preferential tariff, as compared with eight-one similarly free prior to this revision.

METHODS ADOPTED

Methods of widening the preference are indicated by the following table, which shows that:

(1) in 81 items, only change is reduction in British preferential rate.

(2) in 89 items, change is increase in intermediate or general rate, or both.

(3) in 49 items, change is by reduction in British preferential rate and increase in other rates.

(4) in two items, change is by reduction in all rates.

(5) in one item, change is by increase in all rates.

(6) in one item, change is by reduction in British preferential and intermediate rates.

Changes in rates in respect of the larger groups of commodities may be summed up as hereunder:

IRON AND STEEL

The basis of a width-division for duty purposes in steel plate is increased from 60x60 inches, and the preference is increased by raising the intermediate and general rates on both wide and narrow plate.

General and intermediate tariff rates are increased on black sheets and galvanized sheets, and on tinned sheets of a class not made in Canada. Tinned sheets, N.O.P., are made free under the British preferential tariff, with increased rates under intermediate and general tariffs, while steel sheets imported to be tinned are similarly treated. The intermediate and general tariff rates are increased on sheets imported for galvanizing. Intermediate and general tariffs are increased on hot or cold rolled hoop and strip steels.

STEEL BARS

Duties under the British preferential tariff are removed entirely on poundage steel in bars, large bars for shafting, casement sections, rust and heat-resisting steels, silicon sheets for electrical use, cooperage steel, tramway rails, heavy structural shapes and sections, centre and side sills for steel cars, hollow forgings, power equipment for dairying purposes, automobile engines of heavy rating, telephone and radio apparatus and special-type storage batteries.

Rates are imposed, under the intermediate and general tariffs, on barbed wire and galvanized fencing wire.

AUTOS AND TRUCKS

Automobiles, motor trucks and motorcycles are embraced in the iron and steel schedule and these are made free of duty under the British preferential tariff, but without any changes under other tariffs in the case of the two former.

Typewriters are made free under the British preferential tariff, while increases are made in the intermediate and general rates on printing and lithographing presses.

BURY FAMOUS RUGBY PLAYER

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—A funeral service was held here to-day for the late Frank Reginald Adams, eighty-one, famous English rugby player and sculler of a half century ago.

In 1878 Mr. Adams captained the "All England" international rugby team. When the Calcutta Cup was first put up for competition he was captain of the English rugby team which defeated Scotland in an international match for the trophy. His name was the first to be engraved on the cup.

He came to Vancouver twenty-one years ago.

Mr. Adams is survived by a widow, two sons, William Ogden Adams of Santa Ana, Calif., and Frank Adams of Toronto, former holder of the Pacific Coast sculling championship.

Interment took place in Ocean View Burial Park here.

Control Committee of Communist Party of Russia Expels Several Prominent Men

GREGORY ZINOVIEFF

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Moscow, Oct. 12.—The general control committee of the Communist Party yesterday expelled twenty of its members, some of the prominent leaders of the Soviet regime since the days of the revolution, on a charge of having organized a counter-revolutionary movement advocating the dissolution of the collective and state farms.

The group included Gregory Zinovieff, former head of the comintern, and Leo Kameneff, brother-in-law of Leon Trotzky, military leader of the revolution, who is now in exile in Turkey.

CIRCULATED PAPERS

Other members of the group were former followers of Trotzky and members of the right wing of the party. They were charged with circulating anti-party literature opposing the present policy of collectivization.

Zinovieff and Kameneff were expelled once before, but were reinstated in 1927.

The twelfth "plenum" of the comintern concluded to-day with a statement saying it "noted the end of the capitalist stabilization period" and predicted the imminence of fierce class struggles, culminating in wars and revolutions.

It was the first session of the comintern since April, 1931.

The British Government also made public the agreements between Great Britain on the one hand and Australia, Newfoundland, South Africa and India.

The Anglo-Australian agreement is based on a formula which provides the United Kingdom goods shall enjoy certain minimum preferences graded according to the duties chargeable upon them. Australia, it is explained, did not make specific provision for reduction in the duties on United Kingdom goods by reason of an election pledge not to make extensive reductions in duties except on recommendation of the Australian Tariff Board.

Reductions of Australian duties on British goods have, however, already begun. The Australian Government has reduced the duties on woolen piece goods, corrugated and galvanized iron and steel plates and sheeting; cotton, tweeds, towels, a toweling, dynamos and electrical machines and transformers.

REMOVES PROHIBITIONS

Australia has also removed prohibitions on the import of certain goods from the United Kingdom; removed the fifty per cent surcharge from a number of items and exempted thirty-five classes of goods from the ten per cent primage duty.

The agreement between the United Kingdom and South Africa provides for South Africa increasing the margin of preference on British canned fish from a farthing to a halfpenny per can, among other things.

Newfoundland's agreement with the United Kingdom provides for a ten per cent preference in the Newfoundland market on sixty-one classes of British goods, effective in July of next year. Hitherto Newfoundland has not accepted the principle of British preference. The British Board of Trade, as a result of the Ottawa Conference, it is intimated, is further co-operating with Newfoundland in an endeavor to find a greater market for British iron ore.

In addition to preferences listed in the agreement between the United Kingdom and India, there is a supplementary agreement providing for a preference on British non-galvanized iron and steel sheeting which is expected to prove of material advantage to the South Wales industry.

URGE HIGHER U.S. TARIFFS

Washington, Oct. 12.—Twenty-five Washington and Oregon pulp and paper concerns through E. M. Mills, president of the Washington Pulp and Paper Corporation, to-day petitioned President Hoover for higher tariffs on these products to "equalize the disadvantages occasioned by foreign discriminations."

Mills presented a brief contending the duties should "equal the discriminating charge or the rate of currency depreciation" found in foreign countries.

The industry, it said, "is fast approaching extinction because of discriminating duties and of unequal and unfair competition from foreign countries."

Mills declined to give the President's views on the petition, and did not mentioned detailed increases in duties.

VARIED CRITICISM HEARD IN COMMONS

Policies of Bennett Government Raked By Several Speakers; No Reply

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Silence from Conservative benches greeted a six-hour opposition attack on the government's policies and record in the Commons yesterday. Speaker after speaker rose on the left of the chamber, raking the ministry fore and aft and not a voice was raised in rebuttal.

The many-sided attack took in every issue of the day—taxes, tariffs, unemployment relief, banking and currency reform, the Canadian National Railways and even the price of gasoline. And in the midst of it, Charles B. Howard, Liberal member for Sherbrooke, Que., threw out a direct challenge to the government to dissolve Parliament and bring on an election.

The government's apparent inability to combat unemployment and falling trade was the main opposition topic. E. J. Young, militant free trade Liberal from Weyburn, Sask., proposed enlargement of a scheme operating in sections of Saskatchewan to relieve unemployment. Men would be placed on farms, the governments paying them $5 a month to cover expenses and a like sum to the farmers in part payment of their board. This would produce useful employment for 300,000 men at a low public cost, he said.

FARMERS' POSITION

Farmers who join with Labor or Socialistic groups are not working in their own interests, in the opinion of Mr. Young, who indicted the Farmer-Labor Party of Saskatchewan. He could not understand farmers who associated themselves with a movement which demanded unemployment insurance for city workers at the expense of farmers. High wages in the cities, he claimed, were at least partly responsible for the plight of the farmers.

Citing statistics, he said the average annual income of a good farmer on a good section of land was $200, and the average wage of an industrial worker in the city was $850. Industrial wages had more than doubled since 1914 and farm prices had been reduced by more than half.

Unemployment existed because farmers were unable to buy goods to give employment to city workers. Yet the government was being asked to enact unemployment insurance to force the farmer to pay the city worker when he was not working.

EXPORTS CUT DOWN

If the people had been told in the last election that the new government, in shutting out imports, would curtail exports to an equal amount, it would never have been elected, he declared. Some industries had benefitted by protection, but the great mass of people had suffered and continued to suffer.

Inefficient industries should be eliminated from Canadian industrial life, Mr. Young declared, just as inefficient departments were eliminated from business. He suggested, for instance, the oil refining industry, which he said paid $8,000,000 in wages and took out of the people for its products $24,000,000.

ADVICE TO MINISTERS

Every cabinet minister should be compelled to leave his post for six months in the year "and live among the common people," said James S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, "finding out for themselves how the people live and what they think. They have no conception of actual conditions in this country."

Mr. Woodsworth was subjected to interruption from the government benches. When he had outlined the suffering of families whose needy state had come to his attention, and particularly the case of a little girl who had fainted in school because there was no food for her at home, there was some laughter and a series of "Oh's" and "Ah's."

"Any man who would ridicule such incidents as I have mentioned is not fit to have a seat in this house," said Mr. Woodsworth.

On the order which stopped riding on freight trains by unemployed after September 30, Mr. Woodsworth said the "unemployed should be given free transportation on decent trains."

A Toronto weekly, he said, had estimated the unemployed at 500,000.

BANK CHARTERS

It had been stated by Mr. Bennett that he was for a "solid money policy," said Mr. Woodsworth, and bank charters were to be extended for one year for the bankers to continue their "special privileges." This was being done, the government said, because of the "World's Economic Conference, and the reason given was that "we cannot get our banking straightened out until we have our instructions from the World Economic Conference." A representative of Soviet Russia was being invited to the conference, "and I hope before long we would learn something from Soviet Russia about banking," said the member.

Mr. Bennett, he said, had changed his attitude about Soviet Russia and Mr. Woodsworth was "puzzled" about the attitude of the government in letting Soviet oil come into Canada.

PROFESSIONALLY OPTIMISTIC

"The Speech From the Throne," Mr. Woodsworth said, "contains no indication of any government proposals designed to help the people. It is full of meaningless or misleading phrases. The professional optimism of the Prime Minister would lead one to think he believes in the old Coue theory.

"He may be free to take that position," Mr. Woodsworth continued, "but it is intolerable that he, a wealthy man, should, with unctuous phrases, lecture the poor people on the spiritual advantages of their plight."

Mr. Woodsworth likened the attitude of the Prime Minister toward the needy people to that a strong man safe on shore watching another man struggling for his life in the water, and offering him only observations on the value of swimming in improving the muscles.

SOUTH HURON

The South Huron by-election result was the "handwriting on the wall," J. L. Brown, Liberal, Lisgar, told the House.

If it were possible to secure a record of blessings and curses directed at the government, the latter would exceed the former by about ten to one, he said.

Mr. Brown protested strongly against regulations of the Department of National Revenue which, he said, discriminated against the independent manufacturers of agricultural implement parts in the United States. His protest was on behalf of the western farmer, who, said Mr. Brown, was handicapped in his effort to obtain these parts which sold at lower prices than the parts supplied by the original manufacturer of the implements.

"If I asked the Minister of National Revenue whose recommendations brought about these regulations," Mr. Brown proceeded, "I suppose he would not answer. But I will answer. It was done at the instigation of the Massey-Harris Company and other manufacturers."

Jean Francois Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que., opened fire on the Postmaster-General, Hon. Arthur Sauve, in connection with the filling of vacancies in Quebec post offices.

Dismissal of postmasters in the Lake Saint John, Que., district, Mr. Pouliot said, was known as the "Lake Saint John Tragedy." The rights and privileges of members of Parliament had been disregarded by the Postmaster-General and officials in his department; and Mr. Sauve had "disqualified himself from any responsible office in the government" by his unfairness in dealing with postmasters.

CURRENCY DISCUSSION

Premier Bennett's declaration in favor of "sound money" was ridiculed by William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin.

"Sound money is something Canada never had," declared Mr. Irvine. "It is something no nation ever had while on the gold basis. It is to get sound money we are conducting this agitation."

Mr. Bennett, himself, had admitted the money system of the world had collapsed. This implied it was no longer sound. The reason it had collapsed, the Alberta farmer claimed, was because its basis was unstable and its basis was gold.

"We stand for a money system based on the character of the Canadian people plus all the wealth of the Canadian people," he asserted.

GASOLINE PRICE

The report of the banking and commerce committee which investigated the cost of gasoline during the last session of Parliament formed the basis of an address by C. E. Bothwell, K.C., Liberal, Swift Current, Sask. Mr. Bothwell was a member of the committee and, with Dr. Thomas Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch, Sask., prepared a minority report which was not submitted to the House.

Mr. Bothwell declared evidence given before the committee proved the consumers of gasoline in Canada were paying too much and that lower prices would prevail if the retailers were permitted by tariffs to buy direct from United States refiners.

In addition to the advantage of buying direct from United States refiners, the Dominion could secure a much lower rate, Mr. Bothwell declared, by purchasing from Dutch West Indies producers or certain central European sources.

The Imperial Oil Company fixed the retail price of gasoline in Canada, Mr. Bothwell argued, regardless of the cost of production to refiners other than the Imperial Oil Company. They all followed the lead of the Imperial Oil Company, he said, quoting from the evidence to prove his contention.

CONFERENCE COST CANADA $238,581

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12. — The total amount expended by Canada in connection with the Imperial Economic Conference was $238,581.88, Sir George Perley, Acting Secretary of State, told William Duff, Liberal, Antigonish-Guysboro, N.S., this in the Commons yesterday afternoon.

The sum paid for entertainment, including lodging, restaurant and other charges of delegates and official parties while conference was sitting in Ottawa, was $138,505.

Barbed Wire Duty Report Is Denied

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—The Department of National Revenue has had nothing before it regarding the fixing of arbitrary values on barbed wire importations from Holland, Hon. E. B. Ryckman told the commons yesterday afternoon.

M. N. Campbell, Progressive, Mackenzie, Sask., told the House he had received a telegram from western Canada voicing complaints of the farmers that the fixing of an arbitrary value on barbed wire from Holland had worked to their disadvantage.

The minister said neither he nor the government had anything before them of that nature.

Currency Inflation Proposal Is Debated

New Westminster Council Considers Edmonton Suggestion Currency Be Issued Against Provincial and Municipal Bonds

Canadian Press

New Westminster, Oct. 12.—The proposal of the city council of Edmonton that a form of currency inflation should be undertaken by the Dominion Government will be discussed by the New Westminster city council next Monday evening.

This was decided by the aldermen yesterday evening when a letter giving the proposal was read from Charles E. K. Cox, city clerk of Edmonton. The Edmonton council proposed issuance of currency against provincial and municipal bond issues.

J. J. McDevitt, Agnes street, on behalf of the unemployed of the city, wrote to the city council proposing the establishment of a shoe repair shop where unemployed could have their shoes mended free of charge. The matter will be discussed also at the next meeting. Members of the council suggested that if such work was undertaken by the city it would be better to rotate it among existing shoe repair shops.

ASSIZES OPEN AT NANAIMO

Jury Acquits Chinaman on Drug Charge; Another Pleads Guilty

C. M. Dalgliesh of Courtenay Being Tried on Manslaughter Charge

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Oct. 12.—Nanaimo fall assizes opened this morning with Chief Justice Morrison presiding. Tong Sam pleaded guilty to a selling opium charge at Duncan on August 12 and sentence was reserved.

Cheng Chong, arrested charged with a similar offence at Duncan on August 12, pleaded not guilty. C. F. Davie and Victor B. Harrison were prosecuting counsel, the prisoner having no counsel.

Mr. Harrison offered testimony by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who had sent Yee Hoy to purchase opium from accused with marked money, and had then arrested Cheng Chong.

In his charge to the jury the Chief Justice pointed out that they must judge between the evidence of the police operative Yee and the testimony of the accused. Both were on the same footing.

The jury found Cheng Chong not guilty after being out twenty minutes. W. R. Griffiths was foreman and two women were on the panel.

Trial is proceeding of C. M. Dalgleish, of Courtenay, on a charge of manslaughter of John W. McKay, arising out of a car accident at Comox on August 6. The late Mr. McKay had been riding in a car driven by the accused, which went over an embankment. Dr. Briggs, of Courtenay, the first witness, stated he made a post mortem and found death due to shock.

Troops Keep Order After Big Riots In Belfast

A force of 500 extra police arrived during the night.

BULLETS FLEW

There were twelve outbreaks of firing yesterday evening. Until 11 p.m., thousands of persons thronged the thoroughfares. More than 2,000 police patrolled the streets on foot and in busses. Street car service was suspended. Fire occurred late in the evening.

Several members of the city corporation requested the Lord Mayor to do something promptly to relieve distress and hunger among the unemployed.

In several districts of the city, street lamps were smashed and the thoroughfares were kept lighted by armored cars equipped with searchlights.

Thirty-four persons were remanded on charges of rioting at a special court held in the city jail last midnight.

Two of the seriously injured victims of yesterday's rioting were reported in a critical condition in a hospital.

LITTLE LOOTING

Looting during yesterday's uproar was not as extensive as during the troubles a few years ago. A tour of the disturbed areas this morning showed thousands of smashed windows. The barricades were still standing behind which the crowd had stood to attack the police.

Conference between the Lord Mayor and representatives of the workers began in the Town Hall at noon in the hope of finding some satisfactory basis for outdoor relief benefits.

Meantime twenty prisoners were arraigned in court on charges of unlawful assembly and rioting. Most of them were heavily bandaged. All were remanded in custody until Tuesday.

Police decided to enforce a curfew at 8 o'clock this evening in the areas where the most serious fighting occurred.

COMMUNISTS BLAMED

The Press Association said the Belfast police believed the root of the trouble was in Communism.

A high police official was quoted as having said to a Press Association correspondent: "This is no genuine working class movement. They don't go around throwing stones at policemen. It is the Communists who have gone to work among them and the roughs of the city who have taken this opportunity to have a go at the police. Many of the worst men we have had to handle are men who never have done a day's work in their lives. We know many of the tough customers, and unfortunately they have got at the decent poor."

It is estimated there are 100,000 unemployed in the Belfast district.

Two days late Machray attended a meeting of the board and regretted his inability to produce the requested documents until the completion of an audit then under way.

RESIGNED AS BURSAR

The following day Machray wrote the board, expressing his desire to resign as bursar and chairman of the university finance committee because of ill-health.

His resignation was accepted and a week later the order-in-council was passed by the Manitoba Government rescinding his appointment as chairman of the board of governors.

At the fourth meeting on August 18 it was decided to notify the Minister of Education as to the condition of various trust funds and a letter was written to Hon. R. A. Hoey advising him funds of the university had not been produced and no accounting had been made of them to the board.

AVIATORS RESCUED

San Pedro, Cal., Oct. 12.—Radio advices to-day to the coastguard station here reported the four United States marine corps aviators who had been stranded on San Clemente Island were rescued yesterday evening and taken aboard the cruiser Pensacola.

Paris, Oct. 12 (Canadian Press)—A report that Andre Francois-Poncet was soon to resign as French Ambassador to Germany was officially denied to-day.

No Armament Race Wanted, Says Papen

No Tariff Wars Desired, States Chancellor in Announcing Plan For Changes in Constitution of Germany

Associated Press

Munich, Germany, Oct. 12. — The German Government is determined no longer to be "driftwood on political party waves," Chancellor Franz von Papen told a group of Bavarian industrial and business leaders here today, announcing his plan for reforming the constitution of the Reich to make the government independent of parties.

The first task of his government, he said, would be the restoration of the Reich's full sovereignty and equality, and he wanted "no race for armaments and no tariff wars, but a peaceful Europe, based on justice and self-determination."

On the proposed reforms to eliminate the force of parties, he said:

"As a counterweight against one-sided Reichstag resolutions promoted by party interests, Germany needs a first chamber with strong participation in the Legislature.

"Measures to that end have been completed and will be placed before the new Reichstag at its first assembly."

The Reichstag a few weeks ago passed a no confidence vote in Chancellor von Papen by a majority of 513 to 32. An election is set for November 6.

Yesterday the foreign relations committee of the Reichstag adopted a motion charging the Von Papen government with repeated violations of the constitution.

U.S. ASKS FOR INSULL VISE

State Department's Instructions Would Strand Utilities Ex-Magnate in Greece

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Washington, Oct. 12.—The State Department has instructed the United States Legation in Athens to take up the passport of Samuel Insull Sr.

The department this afternoon had not received word whether Insull was willing to surrender the document, however.

Without a passport, it would be impossible for him to enter any other country. Consequently, if he surrenders the document, State Department officials believe he will be isolated in Greece.

Officials refused to discuss what further step would be taken in case Insull should refuse to yield his passport.

THE PROCEDURE

Under the system of "taking up" a passport, the United States consulates abroad are instructed to take over the document from the holder. In the event the holder refuses to surrender it, it would be taken up the next time he applied for a renewal of his passport at a consulate.

Associated Press

Athens, Oct. 12.—Samuel Insull, entirely free following his brief detention by police here, awoke to-day in fine spirits at the Petit Palais, a leading hotel of Athens, and said he planned to stay here for some time, enjoying the glory that was Greece.

Meanwhile, officials at the United States legation said the necessary warrant was on the way to secure his detention again and that as soon as it arrived a fight would begin in the courts to take the erstwhile power magnate back to the United States to face an indictment for embezzlement in connection with the collapse of his utilities empire.

BEFORE APPEAL COURT

Apparently the first process in the extradition matter now will be the presentation of attested documents from the United States. On the basis of these the case would go before the appeal court here, which would be called on to decide whether the offences charged were punishable under Greek law.

M. Romanos, one of the principal lawyers of Athens and president of the Greek Order of Advocates, has been retained by Insull to take charge of the defence.

U.S. SENATE ACTION

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Machinery of the United States Senate was set in motion to-day to investigate the Insull debacle.

James E. Stewart, federal operative for the senatorial committee on banking and currency, was due to take charge of an investigation into all phases of the Insull utilities crash.

State Attorney John A. Swanson, after telephonic communication with an undisclosed person in Washington, canceled a planned trip to the capital. Cancellation of the trip was interpreted as indicating the federal government was expecting speedy action to bring about the return of the Insulls.

PLANS NOT CHANGED

Paris, Oct. 11.—Samuel Insull Jr. today said his plans had not been changed in spite of the news from Athens that his father was being held there pending extradition proceedings.

He declined to comment on reports that efforts were being made to connect him with his father's leaving France. He said his mother was still convalescing.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Oct. 12.—A bulletin issued to-day by the Ministry of War said the Paraguayan army had captured Fort Lara and Fort Cabocastillo from the Bolivians in the Gran

Supreme Court of Canada Reverses Ruling of Two British Columbia Courts

Canadian Press

A judgment of the Superior Court of California affecting land in Victoria, B.C., was set aside by the Supreme Court of Canada in Ottawa yesterday according to word received here. The lands included the Promis Block and the original judgment ordered George E. Duke and his wife of Victoria to convey the land to the executors of Oscar Promis.

Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald had given effect to the California judgment in British Columbia and his ruling has been confirmed by the Court of Appeal of the province.

The Dukes appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, alleging the British Columbia courts had no right to give effect to the decision of a foreign court in British Columbia. The appeal was allowed.

"Rattlesnake Pete" Dies in His Bed

Associated Press

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 12.—Peter Gruber, whose snake lore and successful treatment of poisonous reptile bites and medical use of their venom made him internationally famous as "Rattlesnake Pete," died at his home here yesterday.

The seventy-five-year-old ex-saloon keeper and reptile museum proprietor, whose hands and arms were scarred with the marks of more than 5[illegible] snake bites, survived thirty-three attacks of venomous snakes to die in his bed of a heart attack induced by rheumatism.

Several persons owed their lives to "Rattlesnake Pete's" knowledge of snake bite treatment.

PREMIER URGES NO-PARTY RULE

Scheme Is to Meet Present Adversity, He Tells Saanich Conservatives

His union government scheme is being endorsed by the whole province, Premier Tolmie told the annual meeting of the Saanich Conservative Association yesterday evening. H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., Conservative organizer, spoke in similar vein.

Mr. Twigg said it was to be a government without party affiliation and endorsements of his proposals were being received daily from all sections.

The Premier said it was a plan to meet the present adversity. He asserted he was willing and ready to place the interests of British Columbia first, the Conservative party second and himself and other things after that.

"This is not the time for panic, and the less one is stampeded the better," the Premier went on.

"There is no need for anyone to go back on his or her convictions. Let us first give our utmost in energy to clearing away the present situation and then go back to our old parties if we want to."

The Premier said unemployment was the biggest problem and hoped the Ottawa economic conference results would go a long way towards solving it.

SAANCH WELL TREATED

"It is true that no one predicted the depression would go to the extremes that it has, but the world is always full of wise men the day after the race is run," the Premier went on.

The Premier emphasized how well the government had served Saanich, spending approximately $243,360 on roads there in the last two years and relieving the municipality of arterial highways.

The hall at Conservative headquarters, Campbell Building, where the meeting was held was crowded and the audience under President W. O. Wallace, who was chairman, gave the Premier much applause.

COURT FINES TOTAL $1,050

No Auto Fatalities Last Month But Four Were Seriously Hurt, Report Shows

Fines paid into the City Police Court in September aggregated $1,050, according to the monthly report of the desk sergeant. Forty-seven convictions and six dismissals were recorded.

The fines included $300 under the Liquor Act and $300 from disorderly houses. The Motor Act produced $230.

In seventy-two automobile accidents four persons received serious injuries and nine were slightly hurt. There are fifty-two cases of autos colliding, nine collisions between cars and bicycles, six between cars and pedestrians, one between an auto and street car and four cases of cars hitting poles or fences.

The police patrol responded to 194 calls in the month and officers rendered first aid in nineteen cases.

Mrs. R. A. Johnston and Mrs. F. Turcotte visited Victoria last week.

Miss A. Mackenzie spent the week-end with her parents at her home on the Sooke Road.

PROVINCE CANNOT RESUME FULL COST

Special to The Times

Duncan, Oct. 12.—The Duncan city council on Monday evening refused to support a resolution urging the provincial government to resume costs of all social services. The proposal was submitted by Pitt Meadows municipality, but the council felt that the idea was not feasible.

The clerk reported ten lots were offered at tax sale on September 20, one was sold and nine fell to the city.

Y.M.C.A. DRIVE IS COMMENDED

F. E. Winslow Expresses Appreciation of Benefits of Apple Day

"We in the financial business have probably a better understanding of economic conditions than the average citizen. We realize the necessity for retrenchment in undertakings in general. But we also realize that necessary items must be cared for at present as they have been in better times. That is one reason why I personally am strongly in favor of the Y.M.C.A. Apple Day Campaign," said F. E. Winslow to-day.

"I consider the training given underprivileged boys by the Y.M.C.A. not only an advantage, but a necessity in building up a virile, honorable and upstanding youth. To the family of moderate means, the value of Y.M.C.A. training is very apparent, as is seen in the wide membership in the boys' section. But it is to the boy of a family not so well cared for financially that the association's work is of the greatest benefit. To such a boy fewer avenues of activity are open. To him there is a greater tendency to play around on the street where influences are not particularly conducive to the building of a good character.

"For such lads the "Y" offers supervised schedules in which they may find some wholesome outlet for their energies. In their courses they can learn the principles of good citizenship. That is one of the reasons for my wholehearted support of the Apple Day drive the association will conduct on Saturday. Without the funds which such a campaign is certain to bring from an intelligent and sympathetic public, the work for underprivileged boys could not be continued."

Salt Spring

Ganges, Oct. 12.—Ganges Chapter I.O.D.E. met on Friday at the home of Mrs. Desmond Crofton, when arrangements were made for a "Poppy Tag" for Armistice Day and for a sale of superfluities on Nov. 19 in the "Edgewood" Rooms. The chapter's prize for highest marks in the matriculation class of 1932 at Ganges High School was won by W. Allan, son of Rev. and Mrs. William Allan of Victoria. Rev. Mr. Allan was last year minister of the United Church at Ganges. Tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. F. L. Crofton. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Eaton, Ganges Hill, on November 4, at 2.30 o'clock.

The South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute met on Thursday in the Institute Hall at Fulford Harbor and arranged to hold a dance on Friday, November 11, the proceeds to be devoted to the "Relief Fund." Mesdames J. Horel and J. Cairns were hostesses for tea. Mrs. R. Maxwell and Miss M. E. Shaw were elected delegates to attend the Annual Conference of Women's Institutes to be held in Victoria on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Ladies' Aid of the United Church at Ganges are organizing a sale of work, to be held in the Mahon Hall the latter part of November. A special feature will be the large number of hand-made quilts, for which the wool has been carded and spun by the members.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyndal Bittancourt have returned to Ganges after spending several months on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mrs. Burnett, accompanied by her brother, Wesley Peterson, have left for Vancouver.

Miss Wenda Johnson of Victoria is the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rogers, Ganges.

At the Institute Hall, Fulford, Friday evening nearly two hundred people enjoyed a cabaret and dance organized by the Fulford Athletic Club.

Miss Iris Vye is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Mollett.

Miss May has replaced Miss Irene Moses as teacher at the Burgoyne Bay School. She is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Mollett.

Miss Evelyn Jackson left Fulford on Saturday on an extended visit to Duncan.

Miss Sheila Taylor arrived from Vancouver on Saturday to visit her mother, Mrs. J. Taylor.

Lady McBride is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter Captain and Mrs. M. P. Macintosh.

G. Levinge is motoring on the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell and child arrived on Saturday from Seattle on a visit to Mr. Caldwell's parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Caldwell, Salt Spring Island.

Mrs. P. Cudmore and her two small sons returned on Saturday to Fulford Harbor after a week in Vancouver.

Miss Margaret Monk has returned to her home at Beaver Point after several months' visit with relatives in Kamloops.

Mrs. Harry Noon has returned home after spending two weeks at Duncan.

George Maude is progressing favorably in St. Joseph's Hospital after an operation.

Miss Betty Goodwin has returned to Patricia Bay after being the guest of Mrs. F. C. Turner.

Miss Jessie Robinson of Sardis, B.C., is the guest of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Beech.

Mrs. Waugh of Prevost Island is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Scoones.

A birthday surprise party was tendered Mrs. Walter Stevens on Saturday evening. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. E. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. Horne of Victoria, Mrs. G. Dewhurst, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stevens, the Misses Nancy, Ruth, Lorna and Bessie Stevens and Messrs. D. Goodman, P. Nelson Ray, Gordon and Douglas Parsons and J. Stevens. Cards were followed by supper, served by Mrs. Bond, hostess of the surprise party.

NEW MOVEMENT HAS STRENGTH

Oxford Group Movement Stresses Ethical Challenge of Christianity, Says Dean

Experiences in New Movement Are Discussed at Christ Church Cathedral

The strength of the new Oxford Group Movement lay in its endeavor to make people face the ethical challenge of Christianity and this was important at a time when business life especially so needed to face this challenge, declared Dean Quainton from the pulpit of Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday morning.

In this respect the movement was devastatingly radical and uncompromisingly practical, said the Dean. It so stressed the Christian qualities of honesty, unselfishness, love and purity that unless a man were willing to lay down everything at the feet of Christ, he hated the movement and opposed it.

The Dean pointed out he considered himself justified in preaching on the Oxford Group Movement because, during his recent visit to England, he had read all its literature, had attended a great many of its meetings, had met most of its leaders and had had a long interview with its founder, Frank Bookman.

THE DEAN'S CONFESSION

He confessed it had made a profound impression on him. His first attitude had been critical, "positively sniffy," he admitted, and he had approached the movement with a determination to get at the bottom of it. Instead, it had got at the bottom of him; it had broken him down and lifted him up; it had given him more peace of mind than he had ever had before, less fear of his fellow men, a greater Christian sympathy for sinners and "a cleaner thought life." This was a confession, he admitted.

"The first thing that strikes a visitor to one of their gatherings is the unforced hilarity of the proceedings; then the buoyant unconventionality, the frankness about spiritual experiences and the complete absence of "pie" or goody-goody, together with a fellowship that submerges racial and social differences," said the Dean after describing a visit to a meeting in the quarters of a Harley Street specialist.

The Oxford Group Movement laid special stress on the importance of a daily quiet time and of witness by life and word to what Christ meant to man, as well as the duty of sharing spiritual experiences. Anglicans, commented the Dean, were inclined to be too reticent about such a sharing and in this could learn much from the Christian Scientists.

SPIRITUAL RENEWAL

Dean Quainton observed there could be little doubt of the need of spiritual renewal. Judging by spiritual revivals of the past, it might be assumed that when one came it would come in a way that the orthodox would neither expect nor like. The Oxford Group Movement seemed to comply with these conditions.

The movement would be a blow to the prejudices of some, he continued, since the founder was not an Englishman nor an Anglican, but a German Lutheran, and he had been first influenced by a woman preacher.

As far as he knew, none of its leaders had given any interviews to the press. Bookman and a few others of the movement were now in Montreal, he believed, and he had invited them to Victoria. Their coming largely depended on time and money and Bookman always refused to speak anywhere without the consent of the bishop of the diocese, a custom with which the Dean expressed himself as thoroughly in accordance.

Russell's "For Sinners Only" was recommended by the Dean as an authentic book dealing with the Oxford Group Movement.

LIQUOR NOT MAIN OBJECT

Canada's Tourist Trade Not Threatened If U.S. Goes Dry

There is no real reason to believe that Canada's tourist travel will suffer severely if the United States repeals the Eighteenth Amendment to permit the legal purchase of liquor in that country, according to opinions on the subject received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

For every one among the U.S. tourists who stops at the liquor stores hundreds pass by with nothing more than a curious look at the place of business, according to a writer in The Port Arthur News-Chronicle, who takes issue with The New York Times, which states that the influx of millions of U.S. cars into Canada is in the main determined by the facilities for getting a lawful drink.

"It is possible that some in the United States, and in this country also, have succumbed to the idea that to procure liquor is the principal aim and object of most of the people of the republic," the writer says. "There has been so much talk about it for political purposes and propaganda effect that such a conclusion may be only natural but Canadians have no real reason to believe that it is liquor that brings visitors or to fear that they will cease to come when liquor may be legally had at home. For every one among the tourists who stops at the liquor stores hundreds pass by with nothing more than sometimes a curious look at the place of business."

New Conference Plan on Prairies

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—The three prairie governments have decided to form an interprovincial conference which will meet each month for the consideration of mutual interests. This was announced here yesterday evening.

Acting as a sort of prairie parliament, the interprovincial conference will provide the Premiers and cabinet ministers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta with regular opportunites of dealing with vital matters of public interest without delays that might otherwise be experienced.

Four well-baby clinics were held during the month.

A Life Income . . . For Business Women!

Every business woman knows the great temptation there is to live right up to her income. . . . spending is so easy . . . and yet she realizes that if this temptation is yielded to, she will regret it at some time in the future. The need, therefore, is for some plan whereby she will not only have comfort and luxuries now, but in later life too . . . when she will need them most.

To enjoy a retirement in absolute independence you must save and invest wisely . . . consistently . . . to provide for the future; to establish a means of income if your health fails; to create a fund for recreation and travel when you have the leisure.

A safe and profitable way to accomplish this is under one of the retirement income plans of the Confederation Life Association. Then, when you need an income most you will have it . . . guaranteed for life. Why not find out how a part of your present earnings, deposited regularly, will bring you independence without sacrifice in earlier years? "... at a place called Canyon"

A VICTORIA MAN found it necessary to get in touch by long-distance telephone with a lady whose exact whereabouts he did not know.

"The only information I could give you," he wrote to us afterwards in a letter of appreciation, "was that Mrs. Blank and her daughter stayed at a hotel in Ellensburg a week ago last Saturday, that they were travelling eastward toward Spokane and Yellowstone Park in a new automobile with a British Columbia license, and that they would be staying at medium-priced hotels en route. After some two days you eventually located Mrs. Blank at a place called Canyon."

MR. MACKENZIE KING ON UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE TARIFF

For the third time from his place as leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has asked the government to appoint a national committee to deal with the problem of unemployment. There is not the slightest indication that his advice will be taken. The ministry evidently has thrown up its hands in despair and the best it seems able to do for the idle workers is to give them direct relief, which means, of course, that they will be put on the dole in its worst possible form.

The declaration in the Speech from the Throne that the unemployment question continued to "receive the anxious consideration of my ministers," did not impress the Liberal leader; but to say that Canada was approaching prosperity, with the number of workless four times as high as it was two years ago, was merely "adding salt to an open wound." Fully understanding the seriousness of the situation, especially in view of the government's apparent inability to formulate any constructive policy for the amelioration of our condition, it was natural that Mr. King should contrast Mr. Bennett's campaign pledges and promises of 1930 with lack of achievement, declining trade and revenues, and official helplessness while the country is confronted with one of the gravest economic crises in its history.

In its burning desire for the abolition of party lines in British Columbia, The Vancouver Daily Province has gone wider afield and tells us that "when Mr. King says that the Bennett tariff policies are largely responsible for the serious economic condition of Canada, he is just talking party politics," that "there is no stuff and substance in such talk that is worth the breath of the humblest Canadian citizen's briefest retort." What the Liberal leader said in his speech on Monday was that in the session of 1930 the Prime Minister had given the House an estimate of approximately 175,000 unemployed in Canada. The highest figure then suggested was 200,000. Now, estimates of unemployed in the country are running as high as 750,000. Mr. King said a reasonable estimate would be half a million, and then, he continued, "I believe the government's tariff policy is accountable for conditions in Canada being as serious as they are."

Our Vancouver contemporary may throw verbal bricks at Mr. Mackenzie King and tell him he is playing party politics when he discusses the government's fiscal policy and the effect it has had on the Dominion's trade and revenues, and is continuing to have, but it can not ignore the official figures published by the authority of Hon. H. H. Stevens. The latest returns show that our external business already has been cut in two and is considerably less than it was in 1913.

Mr. King predicted that unless the government changed its tariff policy soon, conditions would grow worse. The history of the last two years is sufficient foundation upon which to base this statement. One of the first blows struck at Canada's trade was the economic war which the present government began with Australia and New Zealand. An exchange worth between fifty-five and sixty millions of dollars promptly began to shrink and the new treaties which have been negotiated are not returning more than a small part of that business. The total of Canadian trade with Australia and New Zealand combined, for the twelve months ending last August, was just a little more than $15,700,000. We recall that it was The Vancouver Daily Province which said one of the noteworthy achievements of the King government was its negotiation of the first treaty with Australia which began to operate in the fall of 1925, and which at times produced an exchange that gave Canada nearly a six-dollars-to-one advantage.

Canada's relations with Australia and New Zealand cover only a part of the trade-restricting policies of the government to which the opposition leader referred. The tariff was jacked up generally and nearly half of the seventy odd nations with which this country does business have since given us a dose of our own medicine. It is a policy which has successfully kept out imports; but it also has prevented the outflow of goods in very much the same proportion. When Mr. Mackenzie King says unless this policy is changed soon, conditions will get worse, he is merely sharing the views of such an impartial economic authority as The Financial Post of Toronto. Some time ago it declared that a very large part of the Dominion's loss of trade and revenue had been caused by the government's tariff policy, while the general world slump had accounted for the rest. So alarmed has this journal become recently that in its issue of September 17 it said that "those Canadian merchants and industrialists who have been hard hit by the high tariff policy of the last two years hope that the Bennett government will not wait for the meeting of Parliament to clear away the highly artificial conditions created when duties were made prohibitive instead of protective."

The Financial Post is not interested in party politics but in expressing views similar to those of Mr. Mackenzie King it recognizes the facts of the case and that is of first importance to it because the economic condition of the country is involved. It is this condition which is alarming the taxpayer who is now to be asked to find the money for relief in the form of the dole. The electors of South Huron fully understood this condition when they returned a representative to the House of Commons to support the Liberal leader with a record majority—more than four times as large as that given in the general election two years ago.

OUTSPOKEN REMARKS ABOUT JUDGE STUBBS WIN MUCH SUPPORT

The case of Judge Stubbs, of Winnipeg, whose recent observations from the bench are to be the subject of an inquiry by a high court judge from Alberta, is causing a lively newspaper controversy across the country. The Winnipeg Tribune does not mince matters and says that this is not the first time the views of the jurist in question have come into conflict with the Attorney-General of Manitoba, Mr. Major, and suggests that political factors are involved. It should be noted that county court judges may be dismissed by federal order-in-council. On this phase of the question The Tribune remarks:

> It is evidently planned to "get" Judge Stubbs by the order-in-council route and we have its starting point in the appointment of a commissioner to investigate his conduct.
> There may be and indeed there have been cases of judicial misconduct which have warranted dismissal by order-in-council. The case of Judge Stubbs does not fall within that category or anywhere near it. His offence, if it is an offence, turns on the fine shades of meaning to be read into his observations on the social order of things and inequalities of the administration of the law.

The Tribune then says it would be the duty of the government at Ottawa to "examine the value of these fine shades of meaning" after the commissioner has reported, and so determine whether Judge Stubbs should continue on the bench. It then adds: "The authority to remove Judge Stubbs, if he is removed, is to be a political authority, or putting it more bluntly, an authority consisting of a group of politicians."

Although politically opposed, The Toronto Globe points out, The Ottawa Journal and The Peterborough Examiner agree about the case of Judge Stubbs. Both newspapers have dealt with it exhaustively and we quote The Journal in part:

> Certainly the judge speaks his mind with great frankness. He is reported to have said flatly that there was one law for the rich and another for the poor. He taxed school boards with "criminal responsibility" for shutting out unemployed young men who wanted to attend. He asked in sarcastic tones what would be the proper penalty for an alleged theft of $2,500 when an Appeal Court had held eighteen months a suitable term for stealing $284,000.
>
> As The Journal sees it, there is something honest, wholesome, and admirable in the calculated indiscretions of a judge who uses wisely the authority of his high post for calling attention to grievances and inequities. We like to think of His Majesty's Judges as blazing with passion for the larger justice which is not bounded by law and limited by tradition.

The Peterborough paper says:

> The man on the street will be inclined to look upon the probe as a case of much ado about nothing.
>
> The things Judge Stubbs has been accused of saying do not strike the public as being either dangerous or radical, and unless a jurist is expected, to use the words of Judge Stubbs himself, to be "an official phonograph and judicial rubber stamp," it is difficult to see what all the fuss is about.

The probe has not yet commenced and The Toronto Globe thinks that perhaps after a perusal of the comments of the press the federal Minister of Justice may be convinced "that he has committed a colossal blunder by ordering an investigation of plain words of plain truth spoken by a judge who, apparently, believes that his real business is to further justice."

HUMAN INTEREST AND OTHER THINGS AT OTTAWA

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. J. S. Woodsworth recited details about cases of hardship which had come to his personal notice. A dispatch from Ottawa tells us that he was interrupted by members sitting on government benches, that when he mentioned the case of a little girl who had fainted at school because she had not had sufficient food adequately to sustain her, there was laughter from members occupying government benches.

The above carries its own commentary. It is an item of human interest which should be contrasted with another dispatch from Ottawa to-day which tells us that the House of Commons will be asked to record its opinion that the name of Canada should be changed from the "Dominion of Canada" to "Kingdom of Canada." Mr. Armand Lavergne, Deputy-Speaker of the House and Conservative member for Montmagny, has given notice of this resolution, declaring that "in view of the Statute of Westminster, the traditions of the Canadian people and the constitution of the country," this change of name should be made.

Instead of discussing nonsense of this kind, Mr. Lavergne and his colleagues in the government should be giving their earnest attention to policies which would prevent the human tragedies which Mr. Woodsworth had in mind, and of which there will be many this winter unless something practical is done to ameliorate existing conditions.

WANTS CANADIAN BOAT
The Border Cities Star

After Mr. Kaye Don's ill-fated second attempt to win the Harmsworth Trophy from Mr. Gar Wood, of Detroit, The Star suggested that a Canadian boat, driven by a Canadian an dlooked after by Canadian mechanics, be entered next year. We also suggested that it would be possible to pay for such a boat by popular subscription.

That the idea would meet with favor is shown in the following letter from Mr. H. Pugh of Chatham: "We certainly agree with your editorial 'Why Not Canada?' and are offering the enclosed as our contribution." Mr. Pugh enclosed his cheque for $25.

Loose Ends

We proclaim the truth about civilization and Orange Pippins—the experts come to my viewpoint at last—the maple leaves fall at Cowichan—and so does a valuable Island culture.

By H. B. W.

By H. B. W.

I HAVE A FRIEND who comes over here from Vancouver about twice a year to settle with me the fate of civilization, the future of the race and a few matters of that sort which are easily settled in a long week-end. Usually we decide without much argument that the fate is certain, and that there is no future, but last week-end we came to a more important conclusion. We reached a final conclusion about Orange Pippins and, incidentally we dispelled a gross libel about our Saanich Peninsula. You see, this friend of mine somehow has conceived the notion that I planted a tree of Orange Pippins in my garden entirely at his suggestion and against all my own wishes. As a matter of fact, I planted it some time before he ever mentioned the subject. I am inclined to think, indeed, that he never saw an Orange Pippin until my tree bore for the first time, but I would not break his heart by mentioning my suspicions. He persists, therefore, in perpetuating the legend of my unwillingness and his insistence that Orange Pippins were the finest fruit in nature. He eats my Orange Pippins with a fierce smacking of his lips, he proclaims at the top of his voice, plainly audible a mile down the road, that he always did say Orange Pippins were the finest apples in the world, and he denounces me brutally for my old and entirely imaginary prejudice against them.

* * *

YOU WOULD think that he himself had planted the Orange Pippin tree by the rhubarb patch over my dead body, that he had pruned and sprayed it by stealth in the night, and that he had stood guard over it year after year, fighting back the hordes of unbelievers who wanted to chop it down. I sometimes believe, as he crunches my Orange Pippins and proclaims their virtue with his mouth full, that he himself invented the Orange Pippin, that, perhaps, he is the father of all the race, the original red-cheeked, tough-skinned jolly Orange Pippin. I fear, however, that I am wandering, which is not unprecedented. What I want to dispel is not the illusion of my friend that he made my Orange Pippins, but the illusion of the experts that this Island can only grow good early apples. If they were not too valuable I would offer my Orange Pippins to science as proof that the experts are wrong.

* * *

LOOK AT THE gorgeous, orange-red shining cheeks of them, so much firmer, so much richer than the soft, painted skins of your pampered darlings of Okanagan, as the natural bloom of a country lass is superior to all your sophisticated drugstore complexions that grow on the other side of the hill. Bite into the firm yellow flesh of them, too firm for the machine-made teeth of civilization. The slushy McIntosh Red is good enough for them, but a man's apple should be made of sterner stuff. And then taste the flavor of them, the deep, biting flavor which is like wine, and feel the robust vigor of them like a sunny day in autumn. Beside that, the flavor of your McIntoshes and other effete varieties esteemed of the public is sickly sweetness and mere froth. It is time the world knew that our Island can grow apples as good as any from Niagara or Okanagan, that the old libel against our own Peninsula was denounced. Well, the world will soon know if my Vancouver friend is not stricken dumb or arrested for causing a public disturbance.

* * *

NEVER AT ANY time have I doubted the utter truth of everything written in this column. Just the same, it is pleasant to have it confirmed by somebody who knows what he is talking about. It rather gives to my airy nothings a home and habitation. It seems, then, that a group of the ablest engineers and statisticians in America met the other day in New York, and after gathering exhaustive figures they made these announcements, which you should digest carefully: The United States now has sufficient industrial equipment to do the work of ten billion men, or five times the earth's total population. On the basis of equipment used in 1830, six million men would have been needed to cultivate the soil in the United States to produce the present crop. With the best modern equipment on every farm (as it ultimately will be) only 4,000 men would be needed to sow the present crop. (Please get that one and also the next one.) If all United States factories were still running today at the rate of 1929 production, the highest on record, then only half of the 12,000,000 or 14,000,000 unemployed would be at work. To produce all the commodities which the United States requires, the individual worker needs to work only 660 hours, or eighty-two eight-hour days.

* * *

AND NOW WE come inevitably to the obvious conclusion which these impartial experts have reached (and remember, please, that they are neither Communists nor columnists), a fact which I have sensed instinctively long ago without these figures to support it, namely: Unless the world heeds such figures as quoted above, unless we manage to control our economy somehow and distribute the products of our machine, we shall no doubt get through this depression but the next one will come quicked and will be far worse. The next one after that will be worse still. And so on. We shall be caught between the nutcracker of reduced consumption and increased production, and we know what that means in a mild way now. A child can see it. After a while, perhaps, the electorate will also.

* * *

WE WENT UP Duncan way last week-end, partly to prove once more (for I am sometimes in danger of doubting it) that there never has been a fish in the Cowichan. The proof, I may say, was as successful as usual, but lest the people of Cowichan imagine that I am criticizing their river, I hasten to add that I have proved the same thing about many better fishing rivers than theirs. It was delightful down by the Cowichan, as usual, though a little melancholy, with blue mists strung between the trees and the yellow maple leaves sailing down all around. And on the ground the leaves, turned to a deeper russet color, lay in a thick carpet, which crackled pleasantly beneath our feet. All through this country, by the way, are neat little white posts by the roadside with a notice signed by Frank J. Barnjum, the well-known forest conservationist, and warning people to preserve the woods. Mr. Barnjum has spent a fortune purchasing some of the virgin timber here and dedicating it to public use, but the public, or part of it, can't even be bothered preserving Mr. Barnjum's little signs. Most of them had been torn from their posts, presumably by nature lovers, who were so affected by this appeal that they had to take it home with them. No doubt they would have taken the forest, too, if they had brought an axe.

* * *

BUT IT WAS not of these matters that I wish to speak. I wrote this paragraph to tell you that in Duncan I made another of those painful discoveries which are leaving me no illusions about life. In Duncan, the heart of the most English district outside England (some Englishmen have told me it was even more English), which once produced a wholesome, out-of-doors, tweed-clothed civilization of its own, I went into a shop and tried to buy a certain magazine with some pretensions to intelligence. I could find nothing but a litter of movie magazines, confession magazines and all the lowest kind of sexy, moron stuff that comes out of the printing presses across the line. The girl in the shop said this was what Duncan wanted. It might easily have been Victoria. No doubt there are other shops and other people in Duncan. The stout old race of pioneers still lingers on. But the habits of the new generation are alarming, indeed. The separate and wholesome civilizations which have been built on our Island with such labor through the years are going to become civilized and lost. They are going to become just like us.

Gratifying progress is being made in the installation of the chain of wireless stations on the Coast. Before the opening of the new year the whole system will be in operation and messages will be receivable from any ship off the Coast which wishes to employ the most modern system of life-saving and aids to navigation.

Nanaimo is after the intermediate championship of British Columbia and with that end in view, the Wanderers of that city propose entering the Island league.

H.M.S. Shearwater was examined in drydock yesterday afternoon and it was found the war-sloop had sustained little damage through grounding when coming into the harbor.

A movement is on foot in Bellingham to provide a direct line of steamers from that port to Alaska. At a recent meeting of the chamber of commerce and other representative bodies the matter has been discussed, and it is believed that a line will be shortly secured.

A visitor to Victoria last week stated that he had visited every centre west of Winnipeg and that he had found there was more demand for real estate in Victoria than any other place.

GOVERNMENT REFORM

To the Editor:—Early in the present year a number of business, professional and working men in various parts of the province inaugurated a movement known as National Councils of Canada. Enthusiastic and energetic workers were enlisted. A sane tentative platform was adopted. Public meetings were held in some of the principal centres.

These councils were designed to become local vigilance committees—each forming the nucleus of local organizations supporting independent candidates in the various ridings. It was not a political party, and provided the constitution were adhered to, never could become one. The founders of the organization were actuated in its formation by what they believed to be a prevailing and growing tendency in favor of a non-party system of government, so it was sought to organize non-party sentiment by means of these councils.

About the same time other kindred organizations had their being, all more or less pledged to non-partyism. These appear since to have more or less expired from lack to public support. Perhaps, however, in view of the bizarre policies advocated and the fact that extremists of all hues were in control in many cases, this was not surprising. It could not, however, be said that all of these organizations suffered from these weaknesses, and so far as the National Councils at least were concerned, the policies adopted were reasonable, practical, moderate, apparently generally acceptable and well-known in all parts of British Columbia. However, while these various organizations made certain headway for a time it soon became apparent that genuine public support was lacking. Difficulty was experienced in getting men and women to take a public stand and openly profess their non-party principles. "We cannot let it be known that we favor your movement but we shall vote for candidates put forward by you at an election," was the usual explanation. Financial support could not be obtained as the bulk of the pseudo non-partisans did not consider, apparently, these reforms worth working or paying for and the few who would subscribe the very rare dollar, stealthily, insisted that the source be kept secret, and then possibly gave a larger donation to the Liberal or Conservative parties to whom they professed allegiance.

In the face of such conditions how utterly hopeless is the cause of governmental reform or reconstruction in this province! How absolutely pernicuous is the system which even in their dire distress and calamitous condition men and women will tolerate and even support—the very machine which is crushing them collectively—in the hope that they may derive some individual benefit.

Perhaps these organizations have not had, supporting them, citizens of the "right sort." So far as other organizations are concerned, I cannot speak, but they would appear to have well-intentioned, capable, decent persons identified with them. I do know, however, that not a single member of the executive of the National Councils had ever received patronage from any provincial government and I believe that none sought the spoils of office. In the movement there are men of standing, integrity, well-respected in this and other parts of British Columbia, of administrative experience equal, except perhaps in political corruption, to the leader of any existing political party. Yet, in spite of all this and of the professed public desire for reform and reconstruction, the fact remains that the apathy of the general public, even in their present distress and misery, is hard to shatter. In other words, the non-party movement is evidently "fifty years too soon." Possibly I may be wrong in my conclusions, and unfair in my criticism of the people of this province. Perhaps, after all, public opinion is sincerely opposed to the present system and the failure of these various organizations has been due to the personnel or the policies. What sort of organization then could prove effective to combat the present acknowledged effete governmental system?

The Kidd Comission has been the butt of criticism from the press and public gerally and the well-intentioned members of that committee have been duped and deceived by the party politicians in control of the very boards of trade which encouraged them at the outset and sponsored their efforts. Further, they are unconsciously being used as "cats'-paws"

WOULD ZONE PROVINCE LAND

B. A. McKelvie Tells Business Women Why Government Settlement Schemes Fail

Inadequate methods of land settlement by the government, which, in spite of the spending of thousands of dollars, had never made any attempt to "put farmers on the land," were condemned by Bruce A. McKelvie yesterday evening as one of the biggest handicaps to progress in British Columbia. Mr. McKelvie, who is news editor of The Colonist, was speaking before the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club at its supper meeting at the Y.W.C.A., his subject being "What Is Wrong With British Columbia?"

"GOLD-MAD MINERS"

Observing that the early settlers in Washington had all entered the state in covered wagons, with ploughs attached, Mr. McKelvie contrasted it with British Columbia, whose early arrivals had been "gold-mad miners," with no thought but to make money enough to return to their former homes.

Subsequent settlement schemes had failed largely, in the opinion of the speaker, because no effort had been made to ensure that only those fitted for agricultural pursuits should thus be assisted. On the other hand settlers had been encouraged, even abetted to take up land in all parts of the province, regardless of its suitability, the position of the market or general living conditions.

"We have bet them one hundred and sixty acres that they could not make good on the land, and seventy-five times out of one hundred cases we have won," was the speaker's criticism.

ZONING SOLUTION

Such promiscuous settlement entailed enormous cost to the taxpayers, the government having to build schools, roads and establish police protection for these scattered groups, while the settlers themselves were handicapped by their distance from markets and the consequent high freight rates imposed.

Mr. McKelvie advocated zoning as a solution, removing pre-emption lands from the market, and by centralizing settlement, and to concentrate upon developing the land close to the existing market.

"As a measure of economy and a corrective, we chop off university appropriations, we reduce our civil servants' salaries and all of little avail. British Columbia must bring in some sort of policy which will direct and control settlement if the country is to prosper," Mr. McKelvie said.

Miss Clay, the president, introduced the speaker, who was thanked on behalf of the club by Miss Mabel Cameron.

Miss Platt and Miss M. Piercy sang a duet, "Peace," Miss Platt later contributing a solo, "Going Home," both numbers being greatly enjoyed.

Institute Women Open District Conference Here

Mayor Leeming Welcomes Rural Delegates to City; Declares Agricultural Prosperity First Essential to General Stability; Useful Arts for Women Demonstrated by Miss Westcott

Declaring that agricultural prosperity is essential to the welfare of the province generally and that a strong rural hinterland is one of the first requirements for stability, Mayor Leeming tendered a cordial welcome on behalf of the city this morning to the rural women gathered in the Parliament Buildings for the opening session of the annual conference of the South Vancouver Island District Women's Institutes.

COMMENDABLE AIM

The Mayor expressed his complete sympathy with the aim of the Women's Institute movement to improve conditions in rural life and so help to put agricultural settlement on a more permanent basis. The institutes were a great factor in building up a strong rural hinterland which, he declared to be the first requirement for general stability in British Columbia. He also complimented the Victoria W.I. on its splendid work on behalf of the Solarium, which is doing so much in the matter of child restoration. Mrs. Chambers, delegate from Cedar Institute, thanked the Mayor on behalf of the visitors for his cordial welcome.

Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., opened the gathering with prayer, invoking the Divine blessing on their deliberations and in all their undertakings. The greetings of urban women's organizations were conveyed to the conference by Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, for the Women's Canadian Club; Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, for the Local Council of Women, and Mrs. Curtis Sampson, for the Provincial I.O.D.E., each expressing their warm interest in the work of the institutes.

USEFUL ARTS FOR WOMEN

An interesting romance of the business world was revealed by Miss L. M. Westcott, principal of the Academy of Useful Arts, Vancouver, in her address and demonstration of "Useful Arts for Women." Miss Westcott opened her academy in the mainland city four years ago with only one pupil and a capital of less than $100. To-day she is paying $125 rental for premises which are already proving all too small to accommodate her many pupils and has started seven other schools in the province, in addition to training two Chinese and a Japanese girl who are on their way to the Orient to establish similar schools in their respective countries.

Miss Westcott aims to develop the natural talent in girls by teaching them fifteen ways of making a living, including designing and sewing. She observed that there was now developing a reaction against factory-made clothes and in favor of skilled dressmaking. She demonstrated the proper way to finish a neck and put on a binding, her deft fingers being watched with much interest.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Several institute reports were presented during hte session, showing the valuable community work being undertaken by the rural women, in the way of community betterment, the arranging of flower shows, the staging of practical demonstrations and the giving of prizes in the schools.

The visiting delegates were the guests of the Victoria Women's Institute at luncheon.

H.M.S. Resolution Chapter—H.M.S. Resolution Chapter I.O.D.E. held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Barrowclough, Beach Drive, yesterday evening. It was announced that Major R. A. Donald has kindly consented to address the meeting next month at the home of Mrs. Clifford Collison, Newport Avenue. His subject will be "Current Events." Mrs. A. W. MacKenzie will tag for the Navy League on October 22, as representative of Resolution Chapter. The sum of $5 was donated towards the layettes. It was announced that three large boxes of women's and children's clothing had been sent to the Peace River district in care of Miss Claxton, Grand Haven Outpost. Prizes of pictures and books will be given for essays on "Patriotic Topics" to the schools adopted by the chapter in the Peace River district. Miss Joyce Henalow was appointed convener of the third troup of Victoria Boy Scouts, which have been adopted by the chapter.

Navy League Auxiliary. — The Women's Auxiliary to the Navy League will hold a special meeting to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, in the Navy League rooms, Bastion Building, to arrange the details for the "at home" to be held Friday, October 21, at Rainbow Sea Cadets Headquarters, Outer Wharf, and for the tag day Saturday, October 22. All members are urged to be present, and anyone willing to assist with the tagging kindly tlephone Mrs. P. P. Curtis, G 1756.

Victoria Girls' Council Elects Year's Officers

The annual meeting of the Victoria Girls' Council was held at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday evening, commencing with supper, a large representation from the various churches of the city being present. Miss Barbara Daniels, president of the Girls' Council, presided at the gathering, and Miss Gwen Gardiner presented the annual reports.

Miss Lillian Parfitt, sponsor of the Girls' Council, conducted the election of the officers which resulted in the following: Honorary president, Barbara Daniels, Metropolitan United; president, Phyllis Baylis, Hollywood Presbyterian; vice-president, Wilena Graham, Oak Bay United; pianist, Elsie Cross, Emmanuel Baptist; press reporter, Margaret Fleming, James Bay United; denominational representatives, Margaret McKinnon, Douglas Street Baptist, and Mavis Johnson, Gorge Presbyterian. The new officers-elect were welcomed by Barbara Daniels, and the installation ceremony was conducted by Miss Parfitt, and Miss Urquhart, after, which, Miss Beall, chairman of the Girls' Leaders' Council, who was present at the gathering, discussed with the girls the findings of the Senior Provincial Girls' Camp at Ocean Park.

The theme for the evening was "Thanksgiving," and the Baptist girls presented a dramatization of the first Thanksgiving. The meeting closed with an impressive worship service led by Miss Parfitt, in keeping with the theme.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the girls' rally which will be held on Friday, November 11, when the Canadian Girls in Training will have the pleasure of meeting their provincial girls' secretary, Miss M. Fountain.

SINGER DENIES RUMORED ROMANCE

Engaged? Not a bit of it. So declared Rosa Ponselle, famous operatic star, when she returned to New York from a European trip and posed like this with "Whiskers." The shaggy pup is her very best friend, said the singer, while denying the rumors of a romance abroad.

W.B.A. Banquet—Queen Alexandra Review No. 1 members are reminded of the annual banquet to be held in the K. of C. Hall Monday, October 17, at 6.30 o'clock. On Tuesday Mrs. Laura LeGallais, provincial health supervisor of the W.B.A., will hold a clinic for members and juniors. Those wishing to make an appointment are asked to phone Mrs. Winters, G 3832, or Mrs. Adams, E 6679.

Concert Is Enjoyed.—A very successful concert was held in the Presbyterian Sunday school Saturday afternoon. The programme was arranged by Miss Olive Campbell with the assistance of a number of her pupils. At the conclusion of the concert afternoon tea wa served by the Ladies' Aid of the Sunday school, under the convenership of Mrs. F. W. Urquhart, and a candy stall did a brisk business in charge of Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Taylor.

Benediction Sung—Rev. Father Wood of Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt, was the celebrant at benediction in the Convent Chapel during the Diocesan convention of the Catholic Women's League, when a specially chosen benediction was sung by the sisters' choir, including Gounod's "Ave Verum"; an Ave Maria, the musical setting of which is by a sister of St. Ann; "Tantum Ergo" (Tozer); the Divine Praises, "Blessed Be God," sung by Sister M. Patricia, and the "Laudate" (Hamma), in chorus. The chapel was beautifully decorated with flowers and many lighted tapers adorned the high altar.

Women of the Moose—In spite of it being Thanksgiving Day there was a good attendance of members at the regular monthly business meeting of the Women of the Moose, held in the K. of C. Hall on Monday evening, with Senior Regent A. Hatcher presiding. Mrs. R. Panting reported that the two members who are ill were improving. The members welcomed back Mrs. B. Drysdale, who has just returned from a three-month trip to England. It was arranged to celebrate Mooseheart Day on the next meeting night, which will be October 24, with a joint dance with Lodge No. 1390 and Maple Leaf Legion No. 33, final arrangements being left in the hands of the committees. After the meeting delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Allan and Mrs. Margaret Robertson, assisted by Brothers Jane and Pearce.

ARTS SHOW ATTRACTIVE

Work of Local Talent to Be Seen at Arts and Crafts Society's Exhibition

The Island Arts and Crafts Society's twenty-third exhibition of paintings, drawings and crafts was officially opened in one of the art exhibit rooms in the Belmont Building yesterday afternoon by Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson. T. Bamford, president of the society, introduced the guest of honor and outlined the purposes of the society and the people to whom it is indebted for assistance and co-operation in the staging of the exhibition

Listed in the neat and useful catalogue supplied at the main entrance to the art rooms on the first floor, are some 130 water colors, fifty oils, thirty-six pastels in black and white, twenty-four "modern" works and one bronze statue—the full nude figure of a man in the act of launching a glider into the air and bearing the sculptor's, E. W. Clarke's title of "Little Brother of the Birds."

Though the "orthodox" exhibits outnumber the "modern" considerably, it is perhaps significant that at last the exponents of the latter have secured a room for themselves—in fact two small rooms, and here the casual spectator succeeds in having his attention arrested. Miss Emily Car's four ample canvasses stand out in this section for their boldness, their heavy touch and the sweep of their conception.

Her "Thunder Bird," an Indian symbol only partly visible above the evergreen underbrush which is slowly enveloping it, has been shown in the Paris Salon and is undoubtedly worthy of this distinction. Edythe Hambroff's nude is also a fine piece of work, while Max Maynard, Ina D. D. Uhthoff, Jack Shadbolt and fourteen-year-old Ronald Bladen have interesting and unconventional exhibits which will draw attention for their novelty.

Since there is no official adjudication of the many water colors, oils and pastels, it is unfair to signal any one artist's work, but there are undoubtedly some of outstanding merita. Some exhibitors had as many as half-a-dozen works in each section, and several were exhibiting in more than one section. The exhibitors follow:

The handicraft exhibits downstairs included hand-made rugs, embroidery, tooled leather, wax and paper flowers, lamp shades, parchment work, hand-painted cards, pottery and clay work, and numerous novelties. Miss Lily Darling had some outstandingly good paper flowers and Mrs. Arthur Cree's wax flowers were also noteworthy. Mrs. Alice McLeish, Moss Street, has an exhibit of two hand-woven rugs, and the cardinal red one was attracting a great deal of attention.

Mrs. E. Simmonds, Pioneer Home Industries, had an exhibit of rabbit fur and skins, as well as patchwork quilts and a spinning wheel made in Victoria. All the work is done within one city block, including the rearing of the rabbits, the spinning of the wool, the dyeing, tanning and fur preparation.

Mrs. Fuleston Clarke had some noteworthy hand-woven Turkey wool rugs. Miss Pearl More's plastic relief work drew attention with its cleverness, as did the hand-painted cards of Mrs. F. Rogers, the Oriental novelties of Mrs. F. E. Blowers and the sea gull and wildflower designs done on China by Catherine Lothian.

Some neat Russian embroidery was exhibited by Mrs. F. Tennyson and several hand-woven pram covers by Mrs. B. Thorpe Doubble. Miss Miriam Caufield has made some lamp shades which she is showing and Mrs. M. McMorran, Mrs. M. M. Groos, Mrs. Violet Maynard, Miss Forbes and Miss I. Woodward have contributed some beautiful colored pottery work done with Victoria clay. Miss Alice Ravenhill deserves much praise for her fine work copies of Indian totems and figures, while Mrs. H. C. V. Hall has an extensive exhibit, including Persian prayer mats inwoven with special designs and hieroglyphics, enameling on wood and tin, silver application on china, and two Zulu soapstone objects she has collected.

Tea is served in the craft exhibit rooms under the direction of Mrs. G. Storey Waller and with Misses Betty Bechtel, Jean Lennox, Kay Wilson and Eleanor Helsterman assisting charmingly. The exhibition is continuing a week and it is expected many will take the opportunity of seeing what is being done in Victoria along art and craft lines.

Lovely Gowns Shown At Morning Style Parade

Angus Campbell and Company Limited Inaugurate New Idea in Matutinal Fashion Show at Store; Mannequins in Latest Models; to Be Repeated To-morrow and Friday Mornings

Matutinal style parades are a recognized feature in the ateliers of London and Paris, and in stealing a leaf out of Europe's book, the firm of Angus Campbell and Company Limited introduced to Victoria an innovation which promises to prove popular, judging by the interest shown at their fall opening this morning. From 10 until 11 o'clock six graceful mannequins paraded in the ready-to-wear salon, showing the very decrees of Dame Fashion. The parade will be staged again to-morrow and Friday morning at the same time.

A novel idea was chosen for the presentation of the styles, the opening group depicting the members of a luncheon party at which a bride-elect announces her forthcoming nuptials, the subsequent groups showing the wedding garments of the bridal party and some of the guests, then the going-away outfit, with a glimpse of coats and hats such as might be used for such an important occasion, some of the intriguing fashions a bride might wear for the many diversions of a honeymoon trip, and, in conclusion, some stunning evening gowns, suitable for debutante, bride or a matron.

THE BRIDAL PARTY

In the first group, the bride-elect, gracefully modeled by Miss Helen Campbell, wore a very smart afternoon gown of brown and caramel lace, the two shades skilfully allied in the bodice and long full skirt, the short, capelike sleeves being carried around to the back. Velvet roses in three shades marked the high waistline. Suitable for an older guest at such a function was a lovely model of black velvet, the graceful skirt cleverly cut to give slimness, the bodice of black cut velvet, with long sleeves of novel shape. In this group also was a more youthful gown of angelskin lace in a warm beige tone, with which was worn one of the popular coatees of brown chiffon velvet in cape effect, the ends tieing at the waistline.

Of course the bridal party was the focal point of interest. And ensembles for bridal wear are the very latest, up-to-the-minute decree, and who could wonder, after seeing the intricately-cut but simple elegance of the sleeveless gown of lustrous ivory satin, with its high-waisted effect, over which was worn a long-sleeved directoire-like coat, cut away in the front but lengthening at the back into a graceful train. The neckline at the back was finished with a pleating of tulle and, as the bride dispensed with the traditional veil, she wore a simple wreath of orange blossoms and pearls to complete the lovely ensemble.

Her retinue included four bridesmaids, flowerlike in their gowns of pastel shades. The first wore a floor-length frock of Nile green silk net over satin, the full godets in the skirt adorned with dainty embroidered flowers in two shades of pink, similar flowers embellishing the quaint puff sleeves of the little coatee. Satin ribbons of pink and green to tone circled the high waistline and fell low at the back. Another lovely bridesmaid's frock was of palest pink silk net, with demure ruchings on the round neck and bebe sleeves, which were also relieved with charming embroidered flowers in pastel shades. Elizabeth blue net with touches of pastel coloring on the long, fluffy skirt and a coatee of shirred net to match was worn by the third attendant, while the fourth looked as if she stepped from an old-fashioned story book in her charming frock, of shell pink point d'esprit, with triple rows of matching velvet ribbon on the full skirt, the ubiquitous coatee reappearing in the guise of pink taffeta lined with powder blue, the blue forming the quaint revers.

STUNNING COATS

After the wedding comes the honeymoon and the bride reappeared all ready for it in her stunning traveling outfit, including a handsome coat of diagonal weave cloth in French navy blue, with deep collar and novel cuffs of squirrel, over a lovely model gown of French navy Canton crepe with a basqued bodice of lime-green crepe and matching lace, showing the new square neckline. Her hat was a Connor model, an English importation, of blue soleil felt of jaunty shape, finished with corded ribbon to tone.

In this group was also shown a dress coat of black ribbed weave, the huge collar of red fox finished with novel tie ends of the material, the sleeves finished with the elbow frills which are one of the newest features. This coat was worn over a very smart afternoon gown of black Canton crepe, embroidered here and there in a conventional design of white and yellow, further interest to the gown being imparted by the new tie cuffs on the sleeves and the bow tie effect at the neck to match. A Gainsborough model hat of black fur felt in an intriguing tricorne effect, caught at the left back with a clipped coq feather cabochon, completed this handsome toilette.

Hunter's green was the becoming color of a stunning coat of diagonal weave cloth trimmed with Kolinsky sable cuffs and collar and skilfully cut to ensure the semi-fitting line which is demanded by Dame Fashion for fall and winter wear. With this coat was worn a smartly simple frock of crinkled crepe in the same shade of green, finished with a leather belt and novel buttons, and a jaunty hat of fur felt with fawn and green corded ribbon.

FRENCH SPORTS SUITS

The honeymoon trip, with its golf, bridge, dancing and other diversions was the inspiration of the fourth and fifth groups. One of the loveliest of the afternoon gowns was an imported model of Parma violet wool crepe, the broad armhole and loose sleeve—reminiscent of the magyar sleeve of some years ago—accented with steel, hobnail trimming, the wide, soft belt finished in front with "penny whistle" ornaments of steel reflecting the trend toward the unusual in trimming notions. A copy of a Suzanne Talbot beret in black fur felt, with a very full, nose-length veil lent the crowning note of chic to this costume.

That subtle flair which is the hallmark of Paris lifted a group of sports suits out of the ordinary into the higher realms of sophisticated smartness. Angora was the material which fashioned a two-piece spectator suit, the skirt of black, cunningly cut and stitched, the coat of blue, with simulated waistcoat strapped with black and white in novel design on the blue, the sleeves with deep elbow-length cuffs of the black, allied to a sleeve of the blue, strapped just above the novel elbow line with the black and white.

STRIPES AND STRAPPINGS

Another French model two-piece boasted a skirt of Spanish tile wool, intricately and cleverly cut and fitted, with a coat-like bodice of lace basket weave in various shades to tone the military-like front closing in diagonal line and edged with an inset section strapping of the plain material. A third two-piece imported Paris model sports suit was of maroon brown knitted material as to skirt, with a jaunty bodice of wool in a diagonal stripe in maroon, beige, blue and a touch of red. Th collar of this suit was its most intriguing feature, the tie ends being a continuation of the front closing, passing around the neck and tieing at the back—a truly Parisian touch of chic. A most becoming hat of maroon fur felt completed the delightful ensemble.

For the more strenuous sports, coats of suede of an alluring softness and lovely colorings were shown, with skirts and hats in keeping. In this group were also modelled the latest creations of the Golflex line, all showing the well tailored lines and splendid material which are a feature of these garments.

ALLURING, EVENING GOWNS

The final group was given over to evening and dinner gowns, which seem to be more alluring than ever. One was a charming creation of white net, embroidered all over in a floral design in gold thread and finished at the high waistline, with a broad, gold belt. At the back of the low decolletage were two feather flowers of blue and rose, which peeped from beneath when the coatee of French blue silk velvet with short puff sleeves was donned.

The essence of sophistication, such was the French model gown of triple sheer crepe in an elusive shade of mustard—a daring change from the pastels and black and white combinations—the bodice joined to the slinky skirt with clever emplecements, and finished with cape sleeves which tied loosely at the waistline at the back. Three roses of the material, edged with a deeper shade of brown, were the only and novel trimming.

SMART SOPHISTICATION

Ultra-smart, too, was another imported gown of softest pink, triple sheer crepe, the square neck reflecting the French touch in an equisite pattern of pink and crystal beads, while the waistline was indicated with two rouleaux of pink chiffon velvet in a deeper tone. Miss Campbell modeled a very beautiful evening gown of white silk net patterned in a design outlined with tiny silver sequins, a deep collar of novel shape at the back lending further interest to the gown.

France was also the inspiration of the striking gown of sheer triple crepe in a tangerine shade, the shoulder straps widening into a wing-like effect, finished with crystal beading, at the back of the deep decolletage. A black chiffon velvet coatee, lined with white velvet which turned back into a roll collar effect, enhanced the smartness of this lovely toilette. Another noteworthy gown in this group was of eggshell lace, the simple cross-over bodice finished on the left hip with a flat trimming of scarlet geraniums, the color note being repeated in the geranium velvet coatee with its shirred, bolster collar and its quaint puff sleeves.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

CHEESE ADDS ZEST TO SALADS
By SISTER MARY

Cooler weather means a new interest in food and cooking, and many of the dishes that were put aside during the hot summer months become desirable. Salad accompaniments are just such a concoction.

When the salad formed the principal part of many meals, bread and butter or rolls were naturally served with it to bring the meal into proper balance. Now that heartier meals are wanted, the salad usually appears as a separate course and some sort of accessory is needed.

There are innumerable crackers or wafers on the market that make excellent salad accompaniments. Every housekeeper will find it well worth her while to learn the different brands and varieties and use them as they suit her needs and pocketbook. These can be used as purchased or dressed up a bit. Toasting increases their crispness and slightly changes their flavor. Sprinkled with grated cheese and put in a very hot oven just long enough to melt the cheese, they become quite elaborate.

Cheese crackers can be prepared for toasting before the meal is served. Then while the table is being cleared for the salad, slip the crackers into a very hot oven or under the broiling flame. It will take only one or two minutes for the cheese to melt. Work four tablespoons grated cheese and two tablespoons butter to a smooth paste and spread on small unsweetened crackers. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and toast.

There are times when an even more elaborate salad accompaniment is wanted. Cheese cups, cheese balls, cheese sticks and fingers or triangles of crisp toast are delectable morsels that can be made in the home kitchen.

Any salad not including cheese in its make-up gains much by the addition of a cheese accompaniment.

When cheese does form a main ingredient in the salad, tiny brown bread sandwiches, crisp toast and bread sticks are suitable if something more than plain or toasted crackers is wanted.

Cheese biscuits are delicious and are made of a baking powder biscuit dough to which grated cheese has been added. Use one-half cup grated cheese to two cups flour in the regular baking powder biscuit rule. Cut these biscuits with a one-inch round cutter. Serve warm.

Cheese straws are crunchy and inviting with a fruit or vegetable salad.

Stars Set Styles Not on the Screen

By ROBERT GRANDON

Hollywood, Oct. 12.—Over at Levy's Tavern the other evening, stopped to chat with Una Merkel and her lucky husband, Ronald Buria . . . who wouldn't be lucky, wedded to the winsome Una? . . . and the sight of her nails reminded me once more that all Hollywood styles are not of the screen . . . Una finishes her nails with a platinum polish in striped pattern, and less resourceful females are following her example.

Polished toe-nails are the pride of Wynne Gibson and Frances Dee and Sari Maritza . . . You see, they don sandals at the beginning of summer and wear them until late fall, and during that time, they have no stocking bills, for their bare tootsies are on exhibition . . . Marlene Dietrich and Halullah Bankhead are sandalized, too, but with sheer stockings . . . so sheer, that the polished nails are very evident, and Miriam Hopkins and Claudette Colbert walk likewise.

Berets are affected by the stronger sex . . . Gene Markey and Bill Haines and Lionel Barrymore were pioneers . . . In fact, Bill wears the smallest beret on the largest head in all Hollywood . . . and now that George Brent has adopted the style, it's quite certain it will be more popular than ever . . . Women may take to summer furs, but Lee Tracey is one of the gang who sticks of a plaid muffler, no matter what the termometer may register . . . and Bob Montgomery and Laurence Olivier keep him company.

Since George M. Cohan . . . our own Yankee Doodle Boy . . . has come westward to make pictures, there's a new fad in the air . . . Georgie specializes in black ties . . . never wears anything else, in fact . . . and the style threatens to be contagious.

Would you like to know some interesting facts about Clark Gable? If so write Robert Grandon in care of this paper requesting the leaflet on Clark Gable. Enclose a stamped addressed envelope.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

We would like to disregard colic as a subject of interest to modern mothers. There were far more colicky babies in the era when all children were breast fed, no matter what the deficiencies of that supply, than now when formulas appear as soon as the baby acts dissatisfied. Most of the cases of so-called colic which come to my attention are just plain, undisguised hunger. The mother has no idea of how much a child can consume, she pays no attention to weight and when her baby cries after every feeding she doses him on camomile tea, pats his back, rubs his stomach and feels that she has done everything possible to cure him of his ailment.

PLAIN INDIGESTION

If she happens to believe the old superstition that some babies have six weeks colic, or three months colic, or heaven knows what other arithmetical alibi, she is certain to sit down with folded hands and wait until the period is past.

Colic is indigestion. The only baby who would be apt to suffer with indigestion would be the overfed child. If his mother will pay the least attention to the scales and note his gains in weight and compare them with the average, she should be in a position to judge if he is being stuffed to the point of indigestion or if, perchance, he is not getting enough food to keep his hollow stomach from writhing in painful dissatisfaction.

A FEW QUESTIONS

If she is using a food or a formula in amounts far beyond the average, foolishly contradicting the advice of authorities on what a baby can or cannot eat at any certan age, she may well wrestle with colic, for baby's digestion cannot be outrage indefinitely without unhappy consequences.

When the mother thinks of colic as a solution of the puzzle of baby's actions, she will do well to first make a study of his food and his feedings. Is he being fed oftener than once in four hours? Is he being given food between these hours? How much did he weigh at birth? How much does he weigh now? And how does this gain compare with the average? Is it more or less? Does he have many daily movements or is he constipated? Does he cry after each feeding or after only one or two?

PROBABLY HUNGRY

That last query is an essential one, as colic does not keep union hours and appear on the dot at 9 p.m. or directly after the 6 p.m. feeding when the baby has been free from its ravages at all the other feeding hours. If the stomach is capable of digesting the milk at one hour, it should be at another, and those regular attacks of so-called colic are baby's strenuous attempts to voice his irritation at the meager meal he has just been fed when he needs and wants a bigger one.

We have leaflets on "What to Do for Attack of Colic," but along with this we hope mothers of colicky babies will ask for "Under and Overfeeding," in the certainty that they will discover whether they are dosing a hungry baby or really stuffing the baby to the point of pain. Both leaflets are available to any mother for the usual self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send your request to Mrs. Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Love Unlocks The Door

By ANNIE S. SWAN

CHAPTER VI

"I think I'll go over to Auntie Bell's when I come out of school this afternoon, as father is not coming home till seven," said Jean Morison to her sister one day as she prepared to go out to her daily occupation. A week had passed since the occurrence which had so upset her, and no further conversation had passed between them regarding it.

The tell-tale gloves still lay quite openly on the mantlepiece of the workroom, which satisfied Jean that there had been no second meeting. Lily, she fancied, looked brighter, and her fears began to be a little allayed.

"There's the sofa blanket. Could you take it?" asked Lily eagerly. "Mine's finished. I put the last stitches in while I was watching the dinner this morning. How far on are you?"

"Only about half. Yes, I'll take it, if you like to roll it up."

Lily nodded and ran up the stairs. After half a moment Jean followed her with a piece of brown paper and a string. She laid it on the table, and watched Lily while she folded it into a neat, square parcel.

"You've never taken the gloves back to your friend," she said suddenly, making one of those remarks which are far from intentional, but which sometimes hit the mark.

"No," replied Lily with apparent serenity. "I'm not going to bother about them."

"They're worth ten shillings; they're real reindeer. I've seen them in the Copenhagen shop," said Jean, who was of a thrifty mind.

"Are they? Tell Auntie it's much better than the last one, for the shades are much prettier. I hope she'll like it."

"I doubt you'll have to finish the other one too," said Jean as she took the parcel in hand. "What are you going to do this afternoon?" she added, glancing round the room, which wore an air of extreme and unusual tidiness.

"Oh, I'm going to tidy up a bit, some of my own clothes, I think."

"Will I bring back any more work from auntie?"

"No."

"She'll wonder. Will you be going over yourself soon?"

"I'll see; but I don't want any work back to-day.Oh, tell her she ought to charge two pounds for the blanket, there's a lot of work in it."

"All right," said Jean, and turned down the stairs. Lily followed her, and even accompanied her to the door.

"Good-by, then, Jean; you'll be home by six or so, I suppose?"

"Likely. Good-by."

The impulse was on Lily to kiss her sister, but a proceeding so unusual was certain to create fresh suspicion, so she refrained.

"I'm vexed if I've been cross, Jean; I didn't mean it ever, mind that."

Jean stood on the mat in the dim, half-lighted landing, oddly arrested by the words. It was a very unemotional house, and the happenings of each day, the little lapses of courtesy an of temper, were always permitted to pass without a remark and certainly without apology.

"What's the matter with you, Lily? Are you well enough?"

"Oh, yes; never was better. Give my love to Auntie Bell—"

She closed the door rather suddenly because she beheld her "bete-noire" Jemima Bain coming out of the opposite door, and did not want to parley with her.

Jean had the company of her friend part of the way to the school, but Lily's words recurred to her after she was within, and again as she walked across to Hanover Street. She arrived at the shop about half-past four, just her aunt's tea time. The little errand girl was behind the counter, and Jean nodded to her as she passed in.

Now, Jean did not like the shop; in fact, like her father, she was secretly ashamed of it, though she always felt when there that sense of comfort inseperable from what is called "a good way of doing." The shop was as full as it could hold of dainty goods, temptingly arranged, while the back room was the very picture of solid comfort. By her cosy fireside Miss Oliphant was enjoying her afternoon cup of tea, after a particularly fine business day. A good many Edinburgh ladies knew that back room, and some of the more privileged customers had tasted Miss Oliphant's fine brew. Also more than one burden had been unfolded there, and had been eased by the quick sympathy and commonsense of the woman who had been able to live the solitary existence and yet keep herself in touch with life at every point.

She bade Jean good afternoon pleasantly enough, though she would rather have seen Lily any day.

"You're a sicht for sair een, Jean; it's fower month the morn since ye were here," she said, as she motioned her to a chair.

"Dear me, do you write down the dates, auntie?"

"No, but I've a lang memory for thae kind o' things; I can aye tell hoo lang a customer has been o' comin' back, It's the secret o' guid business, to mind things. Hoo's Lily?"

"Weel enough," said Jean, but her tone had a dry note in her aunt's estimation, and she pricked up her ears.

"I havena seen her since the nicht o' the mission tea. Was she ony the waur o't?"

"No; she enjoyed it. That's the sofa blanket; she finished it to-day. I'm only about half through with mine."

"Next week will do. My, it's a beauty; she has done it splendidly.

"Yes, it's very nice; and as long as I mind, she said you should charge two guineas for it. There's a lot o' work in it."

"It widna be dear at twa, but we'll see. The Americans dinna like to pay ower much; and Mrs. Jackson's, that set the fashion, was only thirty shillin's."

Jean hung it over the chair back and admired it's pretty coloring and the perfect shape of the silken thistles.

"You never see a sofa blanket in this country now. Maybe the old fashion is coming back.

"Maybe; but sit ye doon, Jean, an' I'll mak' a fresh cup o' tea. Hoo's the auld man?"

"Quite well, but tired, auntie. I can see that. I wish we had money enough to let him get a holiday at Christmas; he needs it."

"If he wad live like ither folk," said Miss Oliphant severely, "an' tak' fresh air instead o' sittin' for ever at books, he wad be better. Here's your tea. And Lily's weel, is she? I havena seen her for more than a week."

Jean ate a morsel of bread and took several drinks of tea before she spoke. She wished to tell her aunt about the glove episode; but her natural reserve and fear of her aunt taking any drastic measures alone deterred her. But at last the desire to discuss what had been occupying her thoughts for the past week overcame these scruples.

"Auntie, have you noticed anything unusual lately about Lily?"

"A wee bit dowie; yes; she needs a holiday, too, I dinna doubt, but winna get it."

"Oh, I think she's well enough in her health, but I think she has something on her mind."

"Whit kind o' a thing?"

"Well, I hardly like to tell, for I am ashamed of it, and it has troubled me a lot," said Jean, her color heightening a little; but presently she summoned her courage and related to her aunt the incident of that momentous afternoon. Momentous, because she felt that it marked an epoch in their lives, just as Ted's blunt announcement that he had taken his passage to New Zealand had marked another epoch, the first breaking away of the family from parental rule. Miss Oliphant's face grew troubled as she listened.

"I dinna like it, no, I dinna like it, Jean, I admit, but still it may be richt; Lily's neither a bairn nor a fool."

"But she has kept it so dark, aunti."

"Weel, but that's nateral in the circumstances, an' you're no a speakin' family," she answered calmly. "It is nateral for a lassie to have a jo; in fact, it's what should be, an' if I had my life to live ower again, lass, I'd enter the mairret state. The happiest? No; seldom that; but it's what the Creator ordained, and it's mair satisfying. But that's neither here nor there. What are we to do aboot Lily? Weel, naething, so far as I can see, at the present moment."

"Would you not speak to her the next time she comes over? She is very fond of you; I daren't, you see, she snaps my head off."

"There's something wrang, I can see; it's no' a' fair an' square, or there wina be this need o' hidin' things. Your faither msy be what he likes, but I canna think he'd stand in the way if a decent man came along for either of ye."

Uncle Wiggily and the Carrots

(By HOWARD R. GARIS

One day, when Uncle Wiggily and all his little rabbit boys and girls were sitting at the breakfast table in the hollow stump bungalow, Mrs. Longears said;

"Don't you think, Wiggy, you had better pull the carrots this afternoon?"

"Yes, I think so, my dear," answered the rabbit gentleman as he twinkled his pink nose at his wife.

"Do you mean, Unkie Wig?" asked Baby Bunty, "that you are going to pull the ears of the carrots, like you pull the ears of the corn?"

"Not exactly like that, my dear," answered Uncle Wiggily, as he blew a kiss from the sugar spoon to the little orphan bunny. "I pull the ears of corn off the stalks, but I pull the carrots out of the ground where they grow. You may come home from school this afternoon and watch me pull the carrots."

"Oh, goodie!" cried Jingle, jumping up and down. But she forgot she was still at the table and when she jumped, while sitting in her chair, her knees tangled in the cloth and she pulled a cup of milk down into Nurse Jane's lap.

"Oh, my!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Excuse me!" said Jingle, and then she and her twin sister Jangle took their napkins and sopped up the milk from Nurse Jane's lap.

"You must be more careful, my dears," said Uncle Wiggily.

"But may we have some carrots when you pull them?" asked Buster, a boy rabbit.

"Yes, a few," his father promised.

Away hopped the rabbit children to the Hollow Stump School to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher, while Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose and made ready to go to his garden to pull the carrots. For in the old rabbit gentleman's garden grew many vegetables that rabbits eat; carrots, lettuce, cabbage and beans, and when fall came he gathered these from his garden and stored them in the cellar of his bungalow to use through the winter.

"I have a fine lot of carrots," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he looked at the green, plumed tops. These green tops were of little use. It is the golden yellow, spear-shaped part, which grows under ground, that makes carrots so good for rabbits to eat."

Walking along the rows, Uncle Wiggily began pulling up the carrots, which had grown as large as they would ever been. There were many of them and soon the rabbit gentleman had made a large yellow pile of carrots at the end of his garden.

"When I have them all pulled," said Uncle Wiggily, "I'll get the wheelbarrow and cart them into my cellar."

Soon all the carrots in the garden were pulled and put in a pile. Then Uncle Wiggily felt tired, so he said:

"I will lie down on the pile of carrots and have a little sleep. When I waken I will wheel them into the cellar."

So Uncle Wiggily went to sleep and while he slept along came running Little Bub and Little Bab, the rainbow boy and girl who were not twins, though they seemed to be.

"Oh, look at Unkie Wig asleep on the carrots!" whispered Bab.

"Yes," said Bub. "Let's play a joke on him."

"How?" asked Little Bab who, being a girl, didn't know as many tricks or jokes as did Bub.

"We'll snuggle down inside the pile of carrots," whispered Bub. "And then we'll reach up and tickle Uncle Wiggily and he will think it's the carrots doing it and he'll be surprised."

"Oh, yes, let's do that?" laughed Little Bab.

So the rainbow children burrowed and snuggled down inside the big pile of carrots until they were underneath Uncle Wiggily. Then they reached up their hands and tickled him on his pink nose.

"Oh! Oh!" cried the rabbit gentleman, sitting up suddenly. "What tickled me? It must be the carrots. They have come to life and they are trying to tell me to put them back in the ground! Oh! Oh! Oh!"

Just then Bub reached his arm up out of the carrot pile and gave Uncle Wiggily a little pinch on his leg.

"Oh! Oh!" cried the rabbit gentleman. And when, a moment later, his rabbit children came racing home from school to eat carrots, Mr. Longears told them they had better not, as the vegetables were alive.

"Ho! Ho!" No they aren't!" cried Jingle. "I see Bub and Bab hiding in the carrots, Daddicums! They must have pickled and tinched you; I mean they must have tickled and pinched you!"

Then Bub and Bab laughed and came out from the pile of carrots and they had lots of fun with the rabbit children. Then Mr. Longears laughed and took the carrots to his cellar. And if the kitchen faucet will stop trying to squirt molasses on the gas stove when it's trying to bake the beans, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the honey bugs.

MUSICIANS PROVIDE KIWANIS PROGRAMME

The Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel yesterday enjoyed a special musical entertainment, provided by the club's orchestra under the leadership of W. Tickle. Miss Merle North, soprano, was guest soloist and rendered two selections.

W. Ellis Brown, president, called upon Austin Curtis to receive one of the buttons given members becoming parents for the first time. The presentation was made by Rev. E. F. Church.

A. M. Kirk was welcomed on his return from a tour of England and Europe.

ACTON — On Tuesday, October 11, there passed away at the family residence, Mrs. Lillian Grace Acton of 709 Discovery Street, aged sixty-seven years; born in Preston, Lancashire, England, and a resident of this city for the last forty-two years. There survive, besides her husband, one son, Leonard Acton of this city; two daughters, Mrs. Amy Clayton, at home, and Mrs. W. S. Moore of this city; one sister, Mrs. Helen O'Brien, also at the family residence; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon, October 13, at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Mortuary Ltd. Chapel, and Rev. E. F. Church will officiate.

WALKER—On October 10, 1932, in this city, Adrian Stanley Walker, only son of Mrs. Elizabeth Walker of 732 Fort Street, aged twenty-nine years and born in Victoria. He is survived by his mother and one sister, Mrs. J. G. Carroll Jr., of Seattle.
The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 8.45 from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where mass will be said at 9 o'clock. Interment in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WOOSTER — The death occurred at the family residence, 2435 Musgrave Street, on October 10, 1932, of Frederick Wooster, in his sixty-seventh year; a resident of this city for the last twenty years; born in Alysbury, Buckinghamshire, England. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, one son, Lawrence; one daughter, Edythe, at home; three sisters, Mrs. C. E. Munt of Victoria, Mrs. E. P. Vincent of Vancouver, B.C.; Rev. Mrs. W. White of High Prairies, Alberta; one brother, W. J. Wooster, Montana, U.S.A.
The funeral will take place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors on Thursday, October 13, at 2 p.m., with Rev. Canon Nunns officiating. The remains will be laid at rest at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Too Ambitious? Maybe Your Adrenal Glands Are Working Overtime

Overactivity May Lead to Excessive Optimism

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The adrenal glands are two in number, situated deep in the abdominal cavity just above the kidneys. Each gland contains two parts, a medulla and a cortex, and both are essential to proper functions of the body.

A complete destruction of the cortex of the adrenal gland by tuberculosis or other disease results in the appearance of the condition called Addison's disease, formerly invariably fatal but now relieved through the use of a specific extract of the cortex of the adrenal gland called cortin.

Moreover, according to Dr. Walter Timme, the secretion of this cortex is associated particularly with the the proper development of the secondary sex characteristics. In case of disturbance or degeneration of the cortex abnormal pigmentation of the body develops giving a bronzed appearance.

The secretion of the medulla of the adrenal gland is a substance called adrenalin which is of the greatest importance for proper activity of the human body. An excessive supply of this substance produces rapidity of the pulse, flushing of the skin, a lessening of the secretions of the body, a heightened temperature, blood pressure and chemical activity in the body.

The effects on character are an excessive feeling of well being; the individual becomes a little too dynamic with a little too much initiative and optimism. Usually such patients are easily excited.

On the other hand, an absence of this secretion makes the individual unfit to cope successfully with either the physical or mental activities of life. There are rapid changes in the blood pressure with a tendency to low activities of the sex glands and with blood pressure, a general loss of tone in the skin, early exhaustion and weakness.

Such people cannot undertake work that requires much energy or with which there is associated a sudden demand for exertion. They dislike sudden speeding and will not climb stairs. They have a tendency also to slow pulse, intense perspiration and excess activity of the intestinal tract.

Obviously, such patients require constant stimulation such as may be given to them by the use of stimulant drugs or by providing the secretion of the glands as prescribed by their physicians.

NANAIMO COUNCIL

Special To The Times

Nanaimo, Oct. 12—The city council yesterday evening passed supplementary warrants for September of $8,298. A request by J. F. Doyle for assistance in rebuilding the sidewalk on Commercial Street was referred to streets committee.

The secretary of the municipal library board asked for repairs to the library roof, to cost $50.

The B.C. Safety League requested a subscription of $50 and will be informed the council cannot afford the fee at present.

WILL ASK OTTAWA FOR WHEAT BONUS

Prairie Government and Wheat Pool Officials Decide on Step at Conference

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 12. — The Federal Government will be asked for a bonus on wheat production for the present year's crop. This was announced yesterday evening at the conclusion of a two-day conference here between representatives of the three prairie governments and officials of the three provincial wheat pools.

Advisability of calling a conference of representatives of the governments and producers of the chief exporting countries to consider all phases of the wheat problem will also be suggested.

The official statement issued at the close of the meeting read as follows:

"The conference was called to consider the increasingly serious situation affecting not only the prairie provinces, but the whole world economic conditions, due to commodity prices, particularly wheat, continuing so far below the cost of production.

"The proposed conference of representatives of the governments and producers of the chief exporting countries would consider all phases of the wheat problem.

"In view of the continued low price of wheat, the conference decided to ask the Federal Government for a bonus on wheat production for the present year's crop."

NO SET BONUS

The official statement made no mention of what price the bonus might be fixed. Government and pool authorities yesterday evening said it was a matter for the Federal Government to decide. It will likely be on a per bushel basis, they said.

A year ago, following representations made on the prairies, the government paid a bonus of five cents a bushel on the 1931 export crop. Bonus payments were handled by the Board of Grain Commissioners, a special staff being designated for that duty in Winnipeg.

As a further aid to agriculturists in marketing their crop, a vigorous protest was sent Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, against increases in Great Lakes freight rates, from four to seven cents since early in July. Such increases were held not justified at a time when wheat values were dropping.

Finally, it was agreed to hold an interprovincial conference each month—a prairie parliament—at which vital matters of public interest would be dealt with.

Those who attended yesterday's conferences were Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, Premier John Bracken of Manitoba and Hon. M. A. MacPherson, Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan.

Man Posed As Lost Son; Arrested

Associated Press

Freiburg, Germany, Oct. 12.—Christian Hummel was arrested to-day on a charge of swindling the aged parents of a slain German soldier by posing as a long-lost son.

Hummel was alleged to have victimized the aged couple by telling them he was their son, Oscar Daubman, whose name was engraved on a monument to World War dead at Endiger.

Hummell had been wined and dined as Daubman and started a speaking tour, during which he was arrested.

GIRL WORKERS RUN FACTORY

Dublin Experiment Proves Success; Girls Decide Wages and Working Hours

Canadian Press

Dublin, Oct. 12.—The cheerful sound of machinery bids defiance to depression in a Dublin factory which is run by 170 working girls.

The factory exists only for the manufacture of rosary beads, and the proprietor is a grand nephew of the famous Irish patriot and author, John Mitchell.

The girls who work in the factory elect a council every year and they decide wages, hours and working conditions. They know the profits and expenses and they see the books. Each girl has as much of a vote as the proprietor.

Profits are substantial, working conditions satisfactory and the girls say they are happy.

SIR H. NIELD DIES IN LONDON

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 12.—Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Nield, a Conservative member of the Commons for twenty-six years and a well-known figure in legal circles in Middlesex, died yesterday.

Sir Herbert, who was very active in Conservative associations, strongly opposed the extension of the franchise to women over twenty-one.

He was deputy chairman of the Middlesex magistrates; a councillor of the Middlesex County Council; former chairman of the council of the National Union of Conservative Associations, and of the government body of the Association of Conservative clubs.

FIND BODY ON RAILWAY TRACK

Port Moody, B.C., Oct. 12. — The badly-mangled body of Rokuro Omura, Japanese millworker, was found on the C.P.R. tracks here Monday morning by a section crew. He had apparently been struck by an eastbound train.

He was employed in Thurston-Flavelle Ltd. mill here. A widow survives him.

LOSES APPEAL

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Peter LaValley of Lethbridge, Alta., lost his appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from a judgment awarding the Standard Trusts Company and the London and Western Trusts Co. Ltd. $1,641.70 on a claim arising out of a promissory note. The case came before the court by way of appeal from the Supreme Court of Alberta and the appeal was dismissed to-day without counsel for the trust companies being called upon for argument.

FRENCH SENATE ELECTION

Paris, Oct. 12 (Canadian Press)—One hundred and eleven seats out of the 314 in the French Senate will be filled on Sunday at elections in thirty-two departments of France proper, as well as in Constantine, Algeria and Martinique. The senators thus chosen will take office early in January, 1933, just after the Christmas holiday recess of the upper chamber.

KILLED IN CRASH

Drumheller, Alta., Oct. 11.—Nick Bait, twenty-six-year-old coal miner, died in a hospital here yesterday from injuries sustained in an automobile crash Saturday. He suffered a fracture of the spine. Bait was one of five men injured when a motor truck plunged off a road and overturned about a mile from here. Joe Zambo also received a fracture of the spine, but hope is held out for his recovery. The others were not hurt seriously.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1932

Benefic aspects dominate in the horoscope for this day, according to astrology. It is a day in which to pursue business with confidence and assurance of success.

Trade comes under a planetary government that certainly promises great stimulation. Christmas will bring the usual buying impulse much stimulated.

The seers explain that after a period of economy and self-denial the Canadian public is to indulge in an orgy of shopping.

Lawyers, professors in universities and writers on economic subjects are to gain much at this time, it is predicted.

This is an auspicious day for all constructive enterprises. Public works of every sort should benefit.

Extension of wireless service is prognosticated. General use to become so widespread that the long-distance telephone will be often displaced in the usual business programme, astrologers predict.

Reforms and improvements of many sorts are foreshadowed for the United States, where cities are to be thoroughly house-cleaned.

Amusements now come under a direction of the stars which seems to promise increased patronage and a season of great success.

Shorter hours of work are to make recreations even more popular than in the past, and many novel methods of entertainment are to become popular, it is predicted.

The seers prophesy wide interest in study among adults and the extension of public school advantages along new lines.

Persons whose birthdate it is have augury of a year of much joy in the fruition of many desires. Much association with friends is presaged.

Children born on this day probably will be serious of mind and active of body. Many subjects of this sign have a strong feeling of patriotism.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include Molly Pitcher, 1744, national heroine; Arethusa Hall, 1802, noted educator; Bertinelli, 1474, Florentine painter, and Guy Newell Boothby, 1867, English novelist.

WAS MURDERED BEFORE 70,000

Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charlie Ruggles and Johnny Mack Brown head the cast of "70,000 Witnesses," a murder-mystery set on the football gridiron, which comes to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

The story has to do with the attempt of a gambling ring to "fix" a big football game by eliminating the star player of the favorite team.

They fix it so well that the star, breaking loose and en route to a touchdown in a clear field, is suddenly seen to stagger, stumble and fall. Physicians find him dead, with not a mark on his body to explain how he was killed—though they know it is murder.

The boy's teammate and buddy and a clever detective finally solve the case, however.

EMPIRE THEATRE

One of the opening scenes of "Disraeli," George Arliss' Warner Bros. and Vitaphone picture which is now showing at the Empire Theatre, takes place in the House of Commons, with Gladstone making a bitter speech against Disraeli, and Disraeli replying with his usual clarity and cleverness.

Complete photographic reproductions of the minutest details of the House of Commons were obtained by the Warner Brothers' art department for the construction of this set. Complete fidelity to detail was also observed in the sets picturing the interior of No. 10 Downing Street, the official residence of British premiers, and in the scenes at Disraeli's country seat at Hughenden.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

The current Columbia Theatre attraction, Tom Mix's "My Pal, the King," is a directorial product of Hollywood's latest boy-sensation, Kurt Neumann. Following directly in the footsteps of Mervyn Leroy and the other youthful directors of the films, Neumann has given the screen "Fast Companions," and many much-lauded short features in rapid succession.

Still in his early twenties, the blonde young European is destined for "big things" in the motion picture industry, according to his equally youthful Universal chief, Carl Laemmle Jr., and a growing list of admirers.

Neumann has given the Tom Mix romance a new twist that takes it out of the so-called "Western" rut, and he filmed a highly-actionized dramatic picture at the same time.

DISCUSS UNION OF SEMINARIES

Associated Press

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Opposition to a committee report proposing a merger of the thirteen seminaries of the United Lutheran Church in North America developed yesterday when the document came up for approval at an executive meeting prior to the opening of the biennial convention to-day.

Final action on the report was delayed pending further consideration of its recommendations.

A section stricken from the report contained some of the findings of a committee after a study of the seminaries with reference to certain proposed standards. None of the seminaries met the standards completly, this section of the report said.

Eight failed, the deleted section stated, to meet the requirements "in a respect." They included the seminaries at Waterloo, Ont., and Saskatoon, Sask.

Strawberry Vale

Eric Blagburn has returned to Vancouver after spending the holiday at his home, Colquitz.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. West of Ganges were guests of Rev. and Mrs. William Allan, Glyn Road, over the week-end.

Mrs. Cruikshanks and children, Beverly and Sheldon, of Calgary, are visiting Rev. and Mrs. Cruikshanks, Delmar Avenue.

A card party was held by the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute on Monday evening in Colquitz Hall, with eight tables in play. First prizes were won by Mrs. Hamilton and T. Francis; second prizes, Mrs. Payne and S. Dixon, and consolations, Mrs. Neligan and Mr. Rowland. Hostesses were: Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Humphries and Mrs. Austin, and an old-time dance followed the games.

Miss G. Etheridge entertained on Monday evening in honor of her neice, Myra Hodgson, on her thirteenth birthday. Games were enjoyed and prizes won by Muriel Rodman and Jack Allan. The guests included: Muriel Butt, Peggy Smith, Sybil and Muriel Rodman, Myra and Grace Hodgson, Betty and Dorothy Austin, Patsy Gilham, Herbert Norman, Ted Griffin, Kenny Gilham, Phillip Austin, Allistair Humphries, Jack Allan and Stuart Hodgson.

A special meeting of the W.A. of Garden City United Church was held on Friday evening. A donation of $10 was voted toward the roofing fund and two private gifts were received. Arrangements were made for the annual supper to be held on November 16.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Wilkinson Road United Church was held at the home of Mrs. D. Phillips, Royal Oak, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Jewell, president, led the devotional period, the scripture lesson being taken by Mrs. Etheridge. Mrs. Nott gave a reading on "Christian Stewardship." Miss Haddock of the Oriental Home gave a talk on her work at Prince Rupert and Mrs. Campion sang "In the Garden." The next meeting will be held at the Oriental Home, Victoria.

EMPIRE SHOWS HEATHER ANGEL

A crowd of over 300 people gathered to watch a street brawl in a slum quarter near Euston Station recently. The combatants were a young hooligan and a girl whom he had taunted to exasperation.

It was rather a pity the Metropolitan policeman stepped in. The boy and the girl were film actors: The policeman was not. And the scene that was being made for George King's production, "Self-made Lady," had to be shot all over again.

The over-conscientious policeman had thought is was a real fight. The actors had thought he was a screen policeman. George King had thought he was something else, but had not dared to say just what he thought. But all ended happily, and the completed "Self-made Lady," in which Heather Angel wears twenty-two other dresses besides her "fight" rags, comes to the Empire Theatre Friday.

DOMINION THEATRE

When a Harold Lloyd movie is listed as an original story, you can be quite certain that it is an original story. "Movie Crazy," with Constance Cummings, his latest comedy, now at the Dominion Theatre, is original.

Other producers fine-comb the literary product of the world—novels, plays, short stories—in search of plots for their pictures. Not so Lloyd, however. His plots are original in the highest sense of the word. They are original, in fact, that when they are completed they are not even the same ones that he started to work on.

But though Lloyd starts out with a script, he does not feel obliged to follow it through. Ideas develop suddenly, in the middle of a sequence. Lloyd includes them in the picture. A member of the supporting cast may forget his lines, and "ad lib" what often prove to be better ones. Lloyd keeps them in.

CAPITOL THEATRE

An actual reproduction of a Tyrolean inn was constructed for the opening scenes in "Downstairs," John Gilbert's new starring vehicle now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

All details of the atmosphere were carefully prepared on a Mero-Goldwyn-Mayer sound stage from photographs made in the Tyrol mountain district in Austria. Heavy wood timbers were hewn into proper shape for beams and wall braces. Carved furniture of heavy planks was built to furnish the set. Decorative wall effects were reproduced in complete designs.

Native Austrians used in the scene were costumed in the regulation dress of the region.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Miss Gateson created the role of Mrs. Maurrand in "Street Scene" and enacted the lead in "The Great Necker."

Breeden was in Alice Brady's "Zero Hour," and was Mary Hay's leading man in "Greater Love."

In "The Beloved Bachelor" Miss Gateson is seen as Hortense Cole, a pestiferous housewife and bridge player; Breeden is the young man who falls in love with a beautiful girl, only to lose her, in a courtship contest, to Paul Lukas.

SAFETY CAB COMPANY—GARDEN 1155

SAANICH GETS CHEAPER FARES

Coach Lines to Reduce Urban Bus Fares on Saturday

Lower fares will become effective on Saturday on a number of the suburban bus routes operated by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. Harold Husband, manager, this morning announced that the new tariffs will be operated for a trial period of six months. The lower rates are designed to accord with present economic conditions and have been approved by the Saanich Municipal Council. No curtailment of service is proposed as an offset to the lower fares.

Seven routes will be affected, all serving the urban portions of Saanich. The routes benefited will be: Douglas-Agnes, Douglas-Ralph, Burnside-Marigold, Burnside-Wilkinson, Lake Hill, Gorge and Gordon Head.

Information concerning the new fares may be obtained at the Coach Lines Depot, Broughton Street, or from any of the company's drivers.

Many Pay Last Tribute of Respect

A large congregation, including over fifty members of the Masonic craft, as well as many prominent citizens, attended the impressive services held at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday afternoon for Frederick V. Nivin, well-known resident, who passed away last Saturday. Dean Quainton conducted the services, assisted by the Bishop of Columbia, during which the congregation sang two hymns, "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "The Saints of God: Their Conflict Past."

Many beautiful floral tributes paid testimony to the widespread esteem in which Mr. Nivin was held. Interment was in Ross Bay Cemetery. The pallbearers were: P. Vilbert, C. W. Pangman, M. C. McClure, W. Barraclough, Frank Colpman and W. Dickinson.

JUBILEE JUNIORS BUSY ON DANCE

The Junior Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to complete arrangements for the Hallowe'en dance to be held on October 31. Mrs. K. F. Denniston, the president, was in the chair. Committees appointed included: Supper, Miss Inez Carey, convener, assisted by Mrs. Sydney Barker and Miss Helen Forman: prizes, Miss Alice Cotton; decorations, Miss Beryl McCulloch and Miss Catherine Fraser. An appeal was made for more clothes to be distributed to patients leaving the hospital and a special request was made for children's wear. New blankets were ordered for the Junior W.A. room in the children's department.

LAST RITES TO-MORROW

Funeral services for Frederick Wooster, who passed away Monday at his home, 2435 Musgrave Street, will be held from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Canon A. E. deL. Nunns officiating. The remains will be laid at rest at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

To represent the Victoria fire wardens of the city council at the Firemen's Benefit Association Ball in Vancouver to-night, Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, chairman of the committee, left this afternoon.

Commander T. Seno of the Japanese navy, who reached here by the Empress of Canada from Yokohama, is going to Ottawa as naval attache at the Japanese legation. He was accompanied by Commander J. Ueno, who is proceeding to the disarmament conference at Geneva.

RED CHEVRON MEN TO MEET SATURDAY

First contingent men who left for overseas from British Columbia and are now scattered over the province and in various parts of the world are showing an interest in the Red Chevron Association of Vancouver Island. The annual meeting of the association is scheduled for Saturday evening at the Chamber of Commerce, starting at 8 o'clock. Best wishes have been received from members in many up-Island points, from Prince Rupert, Shanghai, Cuba and California.

Annual reports will be presented at the meeting, after which officers will be elected. Following the business a smoking concert will be held for which an excellent programme has been arranged.

All interested in the association are requested to communicate with P. T. Stern, secretary-treasurer.

IS LAID TO REST

The funeral of Mary Ann Demers, who passed away in this city on October 7, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Christ Church Cathedral, Rev. E. W. P. Carter officiating. Many friends attended and the casket and hearse were covered with beautiful floral offerings. The following were pallbearers: Captain J. H. Gosse, B. Homer, J. Greig, J. G. McKelvey, J. Hirst and W. Ferryhough. Interment was in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WALLACE SETS SERVICE RECORD

For Seventh Time He Is Elected President of Saanich Conservatives

W. O. Wallace is head of Saanich Conservatives for the seventh time. He was elected president of the Saanich Conservative Association at the annual meeting yesterday evening.

It was recalled by other officers how Mr. Wallace had undertaken the reorganization of the Saanich Conservatives fifteen years ago, building the organization up step by step until it was now acknowledged to be the outstanding riding in the province in point of organization, and the degree of interest in public affairs.

"I have always tried to play ball in the interests of the community and of everybody irrespective of party or political affiliations," Mr. Wallace said.

The name of Henry Holmes of Ward Four was placed in nomination to succeed Mr. Wallace, who had announced his intention of retiring. However, so insistent was the demand that Mr. Wallace continue his work in the organization that he was forced to yield and accept office.

Mrs. F. F. Osborn was re-elected first vice-president by acclamation. Henry Holmes was victorious over P. H. Reeve and William Kersey in the contest for the office of second vice-president. Mr. Reeve was elected third vice-president by acclamation.

The financial statement was presented to the meeting by A. H. Spurr, who announced his retirement from the office of secretary-treasurer. W. H. Carr was chosen to succeed Mr. Spurr, those running against him being W. G. Cunningham, B. Hoole, F. A. H. Fink and H. Giles.

Mrs. W. O. Wallace and Mrs. H. Lawrie were named delegates at large.

RED CROSS HEAD WILL VISIT CITY

Colonel J. L. Biggar, M.B., national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, will arrive in Victoria on Sunday next and hopes during his stay to address the public on the work of the Red Cross Society in Canada to-day.

George Hardy was fined $300 in the City Police Court this morning after conviction on a charge of supplying liquor to a minor.

Capt. J. R. McIlIree, in an address yesterday evening before the members of the Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, recalled memories of the early days of the Great War, with particular reference to the first Allied trench, called by the Tommies "Plug Street." Capt. McIlIree had charge of the first trench raid and vividly described some of his experiences.

Four persons faced liquor charges in the city police court this morning as the result of a police visit to room 330, Westholme Hotel, shortly after midnight on October 2. They were Albert Watson, Mrs. W. Hyde, Mrs. J. Hoskins and Ethel Goss, charged with consuming liquor in a hotel room, not being bona fide guests. They were remanded to Friday.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture are wearing an emblem of the Turkey Bean League, a horn button or rose and gold worn by members of this organization who pledge themselves to purchase, whenever possible, only goods produced in the British Empire. A supply of these buttons was received at the department to-day with pledge cards and membership blanks. The headquarters of the league are at 63 Buckingham Gate, London, S.W.1.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Impressions of his recent tour abroad will be sketched by Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., before the Kinsmen Club at the Empress Hotel to-morrow evening at 6.15 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Amalgamated Civil Servants' Association was held yesterday evening, the principal subject of discussion being group insurance. Election of officers was postponed to next month.

Mount Douglas High School Parent-teacher Association yesterday evening decided to ask the school board to outline proposals for development of the school grounds. The meeting also discussed the system of fees now in effect in Saanich, but took no action.

The monthly meeting of the Hollywood Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Duncan Bain, Robertson Street. Mrs. F. Kyle gave two solos and Nancy Kyle a 'cello solo with Mrs. McLennan at the piano. Tea was served by the hostess.

Mr. Masters, a returned missionary from Africa, will speak in Knox Presbyterian Church, Stanley Avenue, at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening. His subject will be: "Graphic Scenes in African Story," illustrated with lantern pictures. There will be special music and Gospel singing.

G. W. Goodall, western representative of The Monetary Times, called at the Victoria Chamber of Commerce this morning. A gradual improvement in business in the west, especially on the prairies, was reported by Mr. Goodall. A much better spirit prevailed in Vancouver also, Mr. Goodall stated.

"The Duty of a Government in Declaring Its Monetary Policy" is the subject chosen by Prof. H. F. Angus, of the University of British Columbia, for his address to the Rotarians at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-morrow. Mrs. Kathleen Barrowclough will present a vocal solo.

With an address on "The Kidd Report," Prof. H. F. Angus, head of the department of economics at the University of British Columbia, will open this season's University Extension Association lecture series at the Girls' Central School to-morrow evening. The address is scheduled to start at 8.15 o'clock.

When he fell from the top of a moving freight train during switching operations at Patricia Bay yesterday evening John A. Cameron, 549 Selkirk Avenue, had his fingers crushed, one eye injured, his face cut and injuries to his ribs. He is in the Jubilee Hospital and will recover. Mr. Cameron is a conductor on the train.

The Frances Willard W.C.T.U. will hold a parlor meeting to-morrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Redgrave, 3349 Cook Street, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. John Hall will give a report of the W.C.T.U. convention held recently in Chilliwack, at which she was a delegate. George Little, medalist, will recite and Douglas Clark and his sister will contribute piano solos.

A concert and dance will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at Old Sons of Canada Hall, 751 View Street, under the auspices of the Workers' Ex-servicemen's League in Canada, for the benefit of unemployed members of the organization. A splendid programme has been arranged of great variety, including songs, tumbling, musical turns and folk dances in costume. A good time is assured all who attend.

A talk on town planning and zoning will be given to the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting to be held at the Chamber Friday, October 28. At a meeting of the executive held yesterday evening it was decided to invite Arthur G. Smith of the Vancouver Town Planning Commission to give the talk. Members of the Real Estate Board will be invited to attend.

The Victoria Independent Theosophical Society continues to hold its public meetings on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock in the Jones Building, Fort Street. The present series of meetings is being devoted to a study of Karma, the great law of cause and effect on the three planes of life—physical, mental and spiritual. Discussion is invited by students of any philosophy or religion.

Victoria Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold its first smoker of the winter season this evening at 7.30 o'clock in the clubrooms on Government Street. A special programme has been prepared by J. E. Marsh, past president, chairman of the entertainment committee. The junior Eagles' baseball team will be guests of honor and will present to the lodge the Humphries Cup won this year.

Pleased with the success of the second annual observance of lamb week, Provincial Government officials estimate that about $65,000 was paid British Columbia producers of lamb during the period. Dr. W. R. Gunn stated that about 7,500 carcasses were sold in Greater Vancouver alone during the first week of September, sales in other parts of the province being proportionate. The campaign had been an important factor in relieving peak production conditions.

Dr. Knight, chief veterinary inspector of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture, is inspecting dairy herds and premises in the Prince George area, at the request of dairymen in that district. With the establishment of a creamery in the northern city, dairymen and agricultural officials are desirous that all barns housing dairy cattle shall be put in such condition as will conform to sanitary regulations governing such premises.

On Friday poultrymen from all over the province will meet in New Westminster to select a poultry council. This council will co-operate with the Markets Extension Committee in efforts to develop a steady market for British Columbia eggs in Great Britain. Much preliminary organization work has been accomplished during the past few months and it is expected the new body will be in active operation within a short time.

The special Thanksgiving meeting of the Metropolitan Young People's Society was held in the schoolroom on Monday evening, 150 members and friends being present. The programme opened with a delightful piano solo by Miss Genevieve Knapp. The feature of the evening was a set of moving picture film shown by D. Flintoff. The films shown were: "Leaping Rainbows," "Laurel and Hardy," "Dude Ranch" and "Yoho Park." During the intermission Miss Emma Mutch and J. H. A. Warr gave vocal solos. The president, D. McCain, announced the next meeting of the society would take the form of a "Roman Night," to commemorate the birth of Virgil, the Roman poet, who was born on October 15, 70 B.C.

AGED FLIER COMES BACK

Charles Dickinson, Seventy-four, Says He Is Oldest Living Air Pilot

Charles Dickinson, bald and bearded, reached Victoria from the Orient by the liner Empress of Canada yesterday and left by the 4.30 o'clock boat for Seattle en route to Chicago. Mr. Dickinson is seventy-four years of age and claims to be the oldest living pilot.

"I made my first flight with Graham White in 1910 and knew Wilbur and Orville Wright when planes were first put on wings," said the aged flier. He said he had been in cable communication with the Bellanca Company to secure a plane for a transpacific flight. He ridiculed the idea of a transatlantic flight.

"Why, that's being done every day," he said. "But there is a lot of money in a transpacific flight." He referred to the large sums of money offered for a successful transpacific flight by Japanese newspapers.

Since he has been in the far east, Mr. Dickinson has flown all over China as far as the Great Wall and to the borders of Tibet.

TAKES PILOT ALONG

He says he never goes on a long flight without an experienced pilot. He claims to be a friend of Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, who has financed a number of long-distance flights.

While in the Orient he fell foul of officialdom and his position was not made easier by his refusal to give details of his movements.

He said he had booked his passage back to Japan, but admitted he was not feeling too good, and added his doctor might order him to Florida to recuperate.

SAANICH ROADS AGAIN LIGHTED

Cost of Power For Street Lighting Slashed in Half

Street lights in Saanich will be in use again to-morrow night after being extinguished for several months. The B.C. Electric Co. has agreed to cut in half the cost of electric power for street lighting services and hereafter the municipality will be billed at 3c a kilowatt.

Following conclusion of verbal arrangements between Reeve Crouch and S. J. Halls, light and power manager of the company, the former this afternoon gave instructions for inspection of the two score lights serving urban Saanich. It is expected the work of replacing broken lights will be completed by nightfall to-morrow, when the lighting service will be resumed.

RESIDED HERE FORTY YEARS

Mrs. Wm. Acton Succumbs at Home After Lingering Illness

After a lingering illness, Mrs. Lilian Grace Acton, wife of William Acton, passed away yesterday evening at the family residence, 709 Discovery Street. Funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Chapel, Rev. E. P. Church officiating.

Mrs. Acton was born in Preston, Lancashire, England, sixty-seven years ago, and had been a resident of Victoria for forty-two years. For many years her husband conducted a grocery store on Yates Street.

There survive, besides her husband, one son, Leonard Acton, of this city; two daughters, Mrs. Amy Clayton, at home, and Mrs. W. S. Moore of Victoria; one sister, Mrs. Helen O'Brien, at the family residence, and six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

GIVE UP HOPE AS BOAT FOUND

Believed Three Men and Four Women Drowned in Larder Lake, Ontario

Canadian Press

Kirkland Lake, Ont., Oct. 12—Hope was virtually abandoned to-day for safety of three men and four women missing since Saturday on Larder Lake, twenty-five miles east of this town.

Discovery yesterday of the small motorboat in which the party started for Miller Island, some distance up the lake, led to the belief all had been blown into the water by a terrific forty-eight-hour blizzard which swept the district over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Searchers dragged the lake bottom near where the boat was sighted from aircraft yesterday. Paddles and blankets floated in the water not far from the nineteen-foot craft which was cast up on the beach.

ADMIRAL BRAND RESIGNS POST

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 12.—The movement begun recently in the British navy for the voluntary retirement of many of the senior high ranking officers to facilitate the promotion of younger men is continuing. Admiral Sir Hubert Brand, whose record in the service is a distinguished one, is the latest to offer his resignation and he was to-day created a knight grand cross of the Order of the Bath.

Vice-Admiral Sir Vernon Haggard, who has just retired, has been promoted admiral, and twelve retiring captains have been promoted rear-admiral.

WARD LIBERALS MEET TO-NIGHT

The regular meeting of Ward One Liberals will be held in the Liberal rooms, Broughton and Government Streets, at 8 o'clock this evening. A large attendance is requested as arrangements for the annual meeting will be held.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

W. B. LANIGAN
ARTHUR MALLETT
LEN WAGSTAFFE
MRS. MARGARET LUNDIE

WM. B. LANIGAN

Mr. Lanigan, former general freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is celebrating the anniversary of his birth to-day. The story of Mr. Lanigan's life reads like a story taken from one of Horatio Alger's books. Starting as a telegraph operator on the old Q.M.O. and O. Railway he worked his way up the ladder to one of the highest posts in the greatest transportation system in the world. Mr. Lanigan was born at Three Rivers, Quebec, in 1861. The Protestant Academy and St. Joseph College, Three Rivers, were attended by the young boy and later he was sent to Stanstead College at Stanstead, Quebec. Mr. Lanigan first joined the C.P.R. in April, 1885, as a telegraph operator at Tweed, Ont., six years after his first job as telegrapher for the Q.M.O. and O. Railway at Three Rivers. After entering the service of the C.P.R., Mr. Lanigan quickly forged ahead, and in 1922 was appointed general freight traffic manager, after being freight traffic manager since 1918. A member of clubs from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Mr. Langina is a popular member of the Union Club and the Victoria and Uplands golf clubs in Victoria. Mr. Lanigan makes his home in the Uplands.

Arthur E. Mallett, charter member of the Victoria Rotary Club and Victoria manager of R. G. Dun & Company, is celebrating his birthday to-day. Cleveland, Ohio, was the city and 1875 the year that Mr. Mallett first saw the light of day. His parents were both British, and in 1888 decided to come to Victoria. Here he attended the old high school at the top of Yates Street. His first job on leaving school was with R. G. Dun & Company as they were establishing themselves here over twenty years ago. After seven years' residence in Vancouver, Mr. Mallett decided there was no place like Victoria after all and came back here to live. Mr. Mallett is one of the most active Rotary boosters and is a participant in most of their undertakings. He lives at 1581 Wilmot Place, Oak Bay.

A little over a year ago to-day Len Wagstaffe, who is active in the Nickel Lunch on Broad Street, was one of Victoria's famous "walkathoners." Len is celebrating his birthday to-day. He was a favorite with the audiences that attended the walkathon and won a name for himself with his inimitable style of singing songs.

Mrs. Margaret Lundie, of Tulip Avenue, Marigold, is celebrating the anniversary of her birth to-day. Mrs. Lundie is the wife of G. A. Lundie, M.A., of the Victoria Coaching School. She is the niece of the late Captain Marshall, R.N., who was in command of the British flotilla at Kut-el-Amar in the Persian Gulf during the Great War.

APPEAL COURT TO RULE ON SUM

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—Decision was reserved by the B.C. Court of Appeal on appeal of the Dominion Bank from a judgment of Chief Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court, who, while recognizing the bank's claim to $15,762 of $17,487 which had been paid into court, ordered that the balance of the fund should be held to apply on a $30,500 judgment which the trustee of R. P. Clark & Company (Vancouver) Ltd. had obtained against the late R. P. Clark.

A. Alexander, counsel for the Dominion Bank, contended his client, as against the trustee, who is R. L. Shimmin, was entitled to all the money.

It had been paid into court by a garnishee in attachment proceedings, with a suggestion that the Bank of Toronto had a prior claim. This question, as between the two banks, has not been litigated.

PET BEAR KILLED FOR SLAYING BOY

Associated Press

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 12—Andy, a pet bear which killed four-year-old Peter Ryan of Albion, last Monday, paid the penalty with his own life.

Three shots from a shotgun fired by Lieut. Gerald D. Vaine of the state police yesterday ended his career that started in the province of Quebec three years ago.

Andy attacked the boy while chained to a cemetery fence waiting for his owner, Fred Redshaw, to repair a truck. He had recently attacked others.

PUBLIC WORKS SAVINGS MADE

Esquimalt Completes Three-quarters of Year on Half Appropriation

By practicing rigid economies in expenditure of funds earmarked for contingencies, the Esquimalt Council has completed the first nine months of the year with half its public works' appropriation still unspent, it was revealed in a report submitted to the council by the municipal engineer yesterday evening.

At the beginning of the year $7,563 was set aside for contingencies. Of this amount only $299.17 has been expended. This, with other savings in the public works department, had left the total expenditure for that department at $12,468.18. The appropriation was $24,883.76. In addition to the balance of $12,415.58 on hand for the next three months the municipality has acquired $1,034.15 profit from work done for private individuals and concerns. The report was received and filed.

The council referred to the engineer a request from William C. Hold to have the ditch on the west side of Constance Avenue cleaned.

Accounts of the Friendly Help Society for September, totaling $599, were passed and ordered paid.

Councillor G. W. Brooker returned to the council yesterday evening after a long absence to take over the chairmanship of the finance committee again.

FUNERAL THURSDAY

The funeral of Adrian Stanley Walker, who passed away Monday, will take place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel to-morrow morning at 8.45 o'clock, and mass will be said at St. Andrew's Cathedral at 9 o'clock. The remains will be laid at rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

JUDGE INDUCTS NEW LAWYERS

Mr. Justice Gregory Interrupts Leave So That Two Young Men Can Be Gowned

Mr. Justice Gregory, who is on a temporary leave, broke into his vacation to-day to come down to the courthouse so that two new Vancouver lawyers could be gowned and inducted.

W. C. Moresby, K.C., introduced the two, as follows: Robert Theodore Du-Moulin and Charles Jackson Snider Farrand.

They made their bow to the justice on the Supreme Court bench. He officially welcomed them to the British Columbia Bar and spoke words of advice, urging them to keep in mind the high traditions of the bar and live up to them in their practice.

The two were registered with the secretary of the B.C. Law Society as entitled to practice in B.C. as solicitors as well as barristers.

Because of the absence from Victoria of officiating justices, the Supreme Court calendar has been left free of trials this week. Chief Justice Morrison, who is Victoria judge for the month, is now in Nanaimo presiding over the autumn assizes.

GIRL PAID $5, SIGNED FOR $15

Stenographer's Suit For Minimum Wage Finally Comes To An End

This was the final day of the suit of Miss Margaret Rogers against the Investors Syndicate, which has been before Judge Lampman in the County Court for the last three weeks. She is suing for $360, the difference between the $15 a week minimum wage set by the Minimum Wage Board and the $5 a week paid her by Col. L. B. S. Cockburn, for whom she was working as stenographer and cashier in the Victoria office of the syndicate operated by him.

C. N. Compton of Vancouver, B.C. manager of the syndicate, was on the stand most of the morning. He testified Miss Rogers was employed personally by Col. Cockburn and the company had never paid her salary or had any record of her salary.

A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., conducting the case for the Investors Syndicate, read correspondence which he said proved that it was Col. Cockburn who had paid the girl only $5 a week, but had got her to sign receipts as if she had got the full minimum wage, and it was not the Investors Syndicate at all.

"It is apparent they are suing the Investors' Syndicate because it is more solvent than Col. Cockburn," said Judge Lampman. "That fact has been sticking out all the way through this trial."

"If this girl had been working for the syndicate, she would have known that she did not have to take her pay as she did, a dollar now and a dollar then the way the colonel paid her. This is all an attempt to get from the company the money she could not get from Col. Cockburn."

H. A. Beckwith, counsel for Miss Rogers, called her to the stand as the last witness in the trial.

Mr. Beckwith argued the company was liable for Miss Rogers's salary because she had been under the general supervision of the company's head district officials and also because in the bonding company's policies covering her, it had been set out she was employed by the Investors Syndicate.

Judge Lampman reserved his judgment.

Rev. Robert Connell, naturalist and geologist, will be the speaker at the Royal Astronomical Society's public meeting at 8 o'clock to-morrow night in Unity Centre Hall, 835 Fort Street. Mr. Connell will discuss how the mountain ranges were formed, why they parallel the sea coasts, why marine fossils are found high above sea level and the great movements by which the "earth's blocks" the continents with their broad surface features, came into being. The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides.

HONOR MEMORY OF "Y" FOUNDER

Frank Paulding Tells Metropolitan Men's Club of Work of George Williams

Honor was paid the memory of George Williams, the farmer's boy who rose to knighthood through his conception and development of the Y.M.C.A., by Frank Paulding, general secretary of the local association, in an address on "Founders' Day" before the Metropolitan Men's Club at the church's Sunday school room yesterday evening. The event marked the one-hundred-and-eleventh anniversary of the birth of the founder. Trustee J. M. Campbell occupied the chair.

Mr. Paulding briefly sketched the origin of Williams, who started life the son of a Devonshire farmer. He traced the career of the man in London where he and fellow men gathered for meetings of prayer and eventually conceived the idea of a Young Men's Christian Association in 1844. At that time there were but twelve members.

Later they rented premises and, as the project grew, engaged a permanent secretary. The programme was virtually the same then as it was to-day with the exception of the physical department, Mr. Paulding said.

Four years after its inception the membership had grown from twelve to 1,000 and at present it stood at 2,250,000, he said.

EXPANSION

The expansion of the Y.M.C.A. movement was traced by Mr. Paulding from the London exhibition in 1851. At that time the missionary spirit was developed and during the same year the first association outside of England was formed in Montreal, to be followed shortly by one in Boston.

In 1882 the national council idea was quickly adopted by all countries in which associations existed.

Mr. Paulding attached particular importance to the first world Y.M.C.A. meeting when the basis of membership was established. That basis had been maintained to the present, he said.

Continuing with his sketch of the career of Williams, he noted the founder had been signally honored in 1894 by Queen Victoria who had made him a knight. At that time the association included 5,000 branches with a total membership of 500,000.

FINE TRIBUTE

To illustrate the esteem in which Sir George was held, Mr. Paulding quoted Archdeacon Sinclair's remarks upon the honor done the man by having his remains laid in Westminster Abbey, as follows:

"If any were to ask why the authorities of the cathedral had granted to so humble and unassuming a Christian worker as Sir George Williams the rare and very exceptional honor of laying his remains among those of great heroes of sea and land, of illustrious churchmen, of eminent painters, musicians and wise statesmen, the answer was that the cathedral has a three-fold duty in its sympathies and obligations; to the city, to the diocese and to the empire. In all three aspects the founder of the marvellous organization, the Young Men's Christian Association, was preeminent. During his long business career, he set an example to all city men of a simple, devoted Christian life, of wide and constant generosity, and of unswerving zeal for the welfare of those vast multitudes of young men whom the business of the city requires."

Rev. E. F. Church gave a reading and Rev. J. H. A. Warr led the singing.

COURT HEARS TAX APPEALS

Assessment Revision Sought By Several Owners; Three-hour Session

With sixty-seven appeals listed, involving about 150 properties, the city Court of Revision sat for three hours this morning in its second business session.

An appeal which took up considerable time yesterday was that against the assessment of St. Louis College, and part of the land owned by the Catholic Church on View and Blanshard Streets. C. H. O'Halloran conducted the plea.

Minor reductions were allowed on five parcels.

This morning a list of appeals entered by the Royal Trust Company was handled.

Sitting with Mayor Leeming were Aldermen John Worthington, Alex. Peden and W. T. Straith, Assessor George Okell and Assistant Assessor Arthur Danby were present.

Held Thanksgiving Party at St. Mark's

Over 200 guests attended the very successful Thanksgiving supper and dance held in St. Mark's Parish Hall on Monday evening, under the direction of the Women's Auxiliary. Appropriate and effective decorations were arranged around the hall, the artistic handiwork of Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Graham and others. The concert programme included community singing, led by Mrs. George, and the audience was greatly delighted with the comic songs of Mr. Coddette. Mrs. Wells and Messrs. Bridges and Lake were at the door.

Mrs. Bridges was convener of the supper committee, assisted by Mesdames G. T. Hughes, E. H. Fisher, O. L. Jull, Joseph Rogers, O. M. Prentice, Harris, Duffield, Sexsmith, Brant, Bowyer, Archer, Shaw and Newman. Rev. Owen L. Jull, the vicar, congratulated the W.A. upon the successful outcome of this Thanksgiving party, and the large turnout of the people was a reward for their energetic services on behalf of church work.

Mack's Disposal of Al Simmons Hard to Understand

* * *

Dissension Among Players May Be Real Reason for Trade

* * *

Accident Gave Pitcher Charley Ruffing to Major Baseball

* * *

Rated One of the Greatest Hitters in the Big Leagues

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO, when it was rumored that Connie Mack was about to break up that great ball club which appears to have lost its spark, it was announced by the management of the Philadelphia Athletics that "any changes to be made would be constructive." Forthwith Mack traded Al Simmons, Mule Haas and Jimmy Dykes to the Chicago White Sox in consideration of a sum guessed at all the way from $75,000 to $150,000. It may be constructive to sell chaps like Simmons, who in a slump year hit .325 and drove in 145 runs, but the only team it appears constructive for is the White Sox.

* * *

Simmons this year, slump and all, was the third best hitter-in-of-runs in the league, only his teammate Jimmy Foxx and Lou Gehrig, New York Yankees, having the edge on him. Simmons also in his bad year hit thirty-four home runs, in which department he was third to Foxx and Babe Ruth. Many of the experts state Simmons was disposed of owing to dissension among the Athletics. It has always been said that Simmons and George Earnshaw, big Philadelphia right-hand hurler, could never get along. Even then it might have been better business for Mack to have traded Earnshaw, although no doubt the veteran mentor knows which player is the most valuable to him.

* * *

Simmons won't be thirty until next May, and has a lot of good baseball left, for which the White Sox will have to pay him, by the way, at the rate of about $1,00 for each year of his life. His contract with the A's was for $33,000 a year, and it has another twelve months to run. He is a kid from Milwaukee who learned to hit a baseball much better than the average fellow. About ten years ago Simmons wrote to Mack asking for a try-out. Mr. Mack wrote that he was very sorry. And he was sorrier than that two years later when he had to plank down $50,000 for Simmons' services.

* * *

From the artistic standpoint Simmons never should have been able to hit a baseball at all. It is accepted baseball style to "step into the ball," it being explained by the experts of the game that in this manner a batsman can bring all his power into play. But Simmons has always batted with one foot "in the bucket," which is the expression characterizing a player who pulls away from the plate as if frightened. He was all wrong of course, but he could hit that way, and it never made any difference to Al whether he hit them wrong or right so long as they went over the garden wall.

One of the stories of the recent world baseball series is about Charley Ruffing, who came to baseball as the result of an accident. Ruffing won the first game of the series for the Yankees. In his younger days Ruffing was a coal miner and played first base for his home town team. In an accident while mining Ruffing lost four toes, and it slowed him up so much that he started pitching. He found he liked pitching and got better at it as he went along.

* * *

Ten years ago at the bottom of a black shaft. Now performing for thousands of frantic fans, while millions more read of his deeds. Ruffing is one of the miracles of baseball.

At eighteen he was picking up a few dollars here and there pitching for teams around his home town, Nokomis. His foot healed and he got a job with the Danville club in the Three-Eye League. A Boston Red Sox scout saw him and recommended his work. The Red Sox farmed him to Dover in the Eastern Shore League in 1924 and brought him back up the following year.

Charley fell into the usual habits of Red Sox pitchers. His first full year, 1925, ended with big "Red" having only nine victories against eighteen losses. So it went from year to year until 1930, when the Yankees bought him and sent Cedric Durst to the Red Sox in the deal.

* * *

He been regarded as only a fair pitcher at Boston. He became a great pitcher with the Yanks. Always a "competitor," which is the world baseball men use to designate a fellow with a fighting heart, Ruffing usually won the close ones, and where one run was needed for a game he would bat it in himself.

* * *

Pitchers are looked upon as useless at the bat. Not Charley. He is one of the finest hitters in the game. In his years at Boston he saw service time after time as a pinch hitter.

Last year big "Red" hit .330 and was in eleven games as a pinch hitter. The year before he was sent in in the pinches twenty times, and ended up with a hitting mark of .364. And he pitched in thirty-eight games that season.

BASEBALL HEAD RESIGNS

New York, Oct. 12—Frank B. York has resigned as president of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club and has been succeeded by Stephen W. McKeever, for many years the club's treasurer, it was announced to-day.

Will Refuse To Affiliate With V.I. Association

President Jack Taylor of Victoria and District League Declares N. Porter and W. Hardwick, President and Secretary of Provincial Association, Have Overstepped Their Authority; Victoria and District Teams Have Already Organized in Association Embracing Teams on Southern Part of Island

"Victoria will stand pat and basketball teams on the southern part of Vancouver Island have no intention of joining up again with the Vancouver Island Basketball Association as ordered by N. Porter, president of the British Columbia Basketball Association, and Walter Hardwick, secretary of the provincial organization, following the reconvened meeting of the V.I.B.A. held in Nanaimo Sunday," declared Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League, to-day. Porter and Hardwick are both from Vancouver.

At the meeting in Nanaimo Sunday, which was attended by Porter and Hardwick, the former gave the meeting to understand that the questionnaire submitted by Hardwick and Porter, relative to their recommendations derived from the annual general meeting of the Vancouver Island Association, had resulted in an unanimous decision to rescind the motion passed at the general meeting of the B.C.B.A., whereby the Victoria league would secede from the V.I.B.A. In consequence, all teams on Vancouver Island wishing to affiliate with the B.C. Association would have to do so through the Vancouver Island body.

CANNOT CHANGE MINUTES

"This is against all parliamentary procedure," Taylor stated. "The minutes passed at the annual meeting cannot be changed, except at a general meeting, or by the consent of the mover and seconder. At the general meeting Porter and Hardwick were instructed to attend the V.I.B.A. meeting in Nanaimo for the purpose of organizing the Upper Island. Instead they held a court of inquiry and later made certain recommendations. This was done against the instructions issued by the delegates at the general meeting of the provincial body in Vancouver some weeks ago.

"I was instructed to go ahead and organize the southern part of the Island which I have done. Victoria will continue to refuse to join the Vancouver Island Association and will take immediate action against the ruling made by Porter and Hardwick. The delegates at the B.C.B.A. annual meeting were entirely in sympathy with Victoria's claim for a separate district and the executive of the B.C.B.A. has no power to go against the ruling of the general meeting."

SOUTH ORGANIZED

Taylor has completed organization of the southern association with Bob Whyte as president. Other officers follows: Vice-president, Jack Taylor; secretary-treasurer, Gordon Wooldridge; executive, Frank Shandley, Victoria and District Basketball League; Percy Reeves, Saanich and Suburban League, and Fred Harding, Sunday School League.

At the meeting of the Island group in Nanaimo the following officers were elected: President, T. Lewis, Nanaimo; vice-president, J. Sutton, Courtenay, and secretary-treasurer, C. Mulholland, Nanaimo. This is the first time since the formation of the Island body that the governing officers have been elected outside of Victoria.

FRANKIE WINE VISITS CITY

Well-known U.S. Heavyweight Fighter Back From Tour of Australasia

Hurrying back to the States to meet K.O. Christner in a bout at Akron, Ohio, November 1, Frankie Wine, heavyweight scrapper, who has just completed a tour of Australasia, passed through Victoria yesterday afternoon on his way east.

He reached here from Honolulu by the liner Empress of Canada, his traveling companion being Sam Clapham, British champion wrestler, who claims to have won the title in 1927 from Ted Thye at Portland.

Wine toured Australia and New Zealand with Al Walker, colored heavyweight champion of the world, who came home last week by the Niagara.

Wine, who is a blond glove wielder, lost on points to Young Stribling in a fifteen-round bout staged by the National Sporting Club at Sydney. He looks for a good scrap with Christner at Akron.

Sam Clapham says the fight game in Australia is through, not only with wrestling, but also with boxing.

"It used to be good down there, but not any more," he declared.

Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, who staged the heavyweight title fight between Tommy Burns and Jack Johnson at Sydney, is still the big noise in the fight game "down under."

NOTED FIGHT TRAINER DEAD

J. DeForest, Who Handled Dempsey, McCoy and Firpo, Takes Final Count

Long Branch, N.J., Oct. 12.—Jimmy DeForest, one of the best known trainers in the history of pugilism, died late yesterday at his home here.

DeForest had been ill for some time, and recently was a patient at the Long Branch and Hazard Hospitals here, but returned to his home shortly before his death. Details of his illness were not available.

DeForest was known to millions of fight fans as the man who trained Kid McCoy and who brought Jack Dempsey along the championship trail of the heavyweight title. One of his last appearances in the public eye was when he trained the wild bull of the Pampas, Luis Angel Firpo, for his spectacular meteoric career in the prize ring.

WOMEN BOWLERS RECEIVE PRIZES

Members of the Victoria Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club closed their season with a card party and presentation of prizes at the club rooms yesterday evening. Winners at bridge were: first, Mrs. McKeachie; consolation, Mrs. J. L. White. Following tea the prizes were given by Mrs. G. A. Downard, honorary-president, as follows:

Point game—Mrs. T. A. Simmonds.

Sunlight league—1, Mrs. Munro; 2, Mrs. Morton; 3, Mrs. McKeachie; 4, Mrs. Hawes.

Mrs. Downard was presented with a bouquet of chysanthemums.

LEWIS-DEGLANE MATCH HALTED

Title Wrestling Bout at Montreal Postponed on Account of Cold Weather

Montreal, Oct. 12.—The championship wrestling match between Strangler Ed. Lewis, California, former world champion, and Henri DeGlane, recognized here and in some of the United States as world heavyweight titleholders, will not take place till next spring.

With cold weather already here it was too late in the season to hold the DeGlane-Lewis bout in the Montreal baseball stadium, the only place in town capable of accommodating the crowd that is expected to turn out to see Lewis try to regain his title.

Lewis lost his title here to DeGlane a year ago, when DeGlane alleged Lewis bit him.

Badminton Club Will Hold Dance

The James Bay Athletic Association badminton players will hold their first dance of the season at the Gorge clubhouse on Friday evening. The function will start at 9 o'clock and will continue until 1 o'clock.

Special music has been arranged for the evening. Refreshments will be served by a committee composed of Mrs. W. Thomas, Miss E. Milne and Miss Peggy Cheer.

Tie in Men's Medal At Colwood Course

In the men's handicap medal competition staged at the Colwood Golf Club this week R. J. Darcus and George Simpson tied for first place, each with a net score of 71. Both winners received a turkey. A. M. D. Fairbairn, N. Wallace, C. S. Whiting, Dr. A. Webster, George Straith and J. C. Pendray tied for second place, each with net 72s, and in the draw A. M. D. Fairbairn was the winner of the second prize.

Miracles of Sport — By Robert Edgren

Tour of Canada By British Rugby Fifteen Is Postponed

London, Oct. 11—The Canadian Rugby Union has informed the international board that the proposed tour in Canada of a British rugby team during 1933 would have to be postponed. The rugby union stated that owing to economic conditions in Canada it would be impossible to entertain the visitors at that time but that it hoped to extend another invitation later.

RAISE MONEY FOR LACROSSE

Vancouver Business Men Behind Scheme to Send B.C. Champions East

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—Whether British Columbia will be represented in the Mann Cup lacrosse series in the east this month will depend on the response of business men during the next few days.

Squamish Indians won the B.C. title Monday night, but cash or guarantees are required to place the boys on the train. Calgary is the first stopping place where the exhibition board has offered a guarantee of $900 and possibly more, depending on the size of the gate at the two games, Friday and Saturday.

The trip to Toronto and return, provided the Indians are successful on the prairies, will approximate $2,600. In recent years the Mann Cup series has been successful, financially, and little doubt was expressed at a meeting of the B.C. Lacrosse Association Monday night but that the 1932 encounters will be equally so.

The Indians will have to leave Vancouver to-morrow afternoon to reach Calgary in time for Friday's game.

The proposal made Monday night and which was put into effect yesterday in the shape of a canvass, is for fourteen or twenty business or professional men of the city and district to agree to sponsor a unit of the cost of the trip and to bear any loss on a percentage basis should a deficit be sustained. Several sportsmen have already agreed to this manner of financing and with assistance expected from eastern Canada, it is felt that the 1932 series will become a reality.

It was pointed out Monday night that it was upwards of twenty years since Vancouver was called upon to finance a lacrosse team of its own on an eastern tour. New Westminster has been to the fore in this regard and with the backing of such stalwarts as Major Wells Gray, little difficulty was experienced in past years in the Royal City.

The Indians, led by Andy Paull, are anxious to make the trip and will travel tourist in order to save expenses.

Duncan Sport

Duncan, Oct. 12—In a match played between two teams of the Mid-Island Junior Soccer League, the Olympics and Native Sons played to a 1 to 1 draw.

In the softball series for the Elks Cup a double-header was played Monday, when the Maple Leafs defeated Greenhaven 18 to 10 and 12 to 9 to win the city championship.

Lake Badminton Starts To-night

The badminton club of the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association will hold its opening night in the main hall of the building this evening at 8 o'clock. The club has the use of the large dance floor and ample room for three full-size courts and seating accommodation for visitors.

In the basement of the building are dressing-rooms with hot and cold water showers for both ladies and gentlemen. Practices have already started and it is expected that on the opening night some first-class badminton will be shown. The club is looking forward to Victoria and surrounding districts sending teams to play against the local talent during the coming season. A cordial invitation is extended to all those interested in the game to be at the hall on the opening night.

ALBIE DAVIES CAPTURES BOUT

Victoria Welterweight Hands Nels Ferguson Boxing Lesson at Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—Despite a whirlwind finish in the last two rounds, Pete Savetri, flashy Los Angeles lightweight, was unable to overcome an early lead piled up on points by Harry Marshall, Vancouver, and the Canadian took the decision in a six-round main event on the boxing card here yesterday evening.

Both boys mixed freely, but Marshall had the edge during the early part of the fight with his stabbing attack. Savetri came out fast in the fifth and sixth and chased his opponent around the ring, but the rally was short of earning him a draw.

Davies scored repeatedly with a beautiful left jab and a right cross that Ferguson, try as he, unable to protect himself against.

Davies weighed 140, Ferguson 140½.

Other results: Bert Pound, 150, Vancouver, and Ed Leka went four rounds to draw; Bobbie Luscomb decisioned John Fitzgerald in four rounds, both of Vancouver; Charley Fulton and Clem Davies, both of Vancouver, went four rounds to a draw in the opener.

BEAVERS WILL OPPOSE C.P.S.

Latter Will Make Debut in Senior "A" Men's City Basketball Division

Beavers Dropped First Game to Blue Ribbons; Two Other Tilts at High School

Ernie Harwood and his C.P.S. cagers will make their initial appearance of the season to-night at the Victoria High School gymnasium, when they oppose Frank Shandley's Beavers in the feature game of the card in the senior "A" men's division. The other two games will see West Road meeting the J.B.A.A. in a senior "B" men's fixture and the J.B.A.A. Whites playing Harmony in a senior women's encounter.

The C.P.S. have been playing in the local senior league for several seasons but have never been able to lift the title. They hope this is their year. To-night they hope to start on the right track by taking the youthful Beavers into camp, but they will find plenty of opposition.

Ralph Butler, Jack McKenzie, Stew Skillings, George Davis and a few newcomers will be wearing the colors of the lumbermen.

The Beavers will trot out all their regulars with the hope of chalking up their first victory in fast company. Last season these boys were the pick of the intermediate division, but in their first senior game they were defeated handily by the Blue Ribbons. Coach Harold Shepheard believes, however, that his boys will make a much better showing to-night.

West Road, last year's senior "B" champions, will make their second start of the season with high hopes of gaining their first victory. In their opening engagement they were given a rude shock by the Green Mill and went down to defeat. The Bays will be out to keep their record clean and follow their win over First United with another victory.

The women's game will give the fans an idea of the calibre of competition that the two favorites in this division, Dad's Cookies and Rayshines, are going to meet.

Tommy Macedo will referee the games. The first game will start at 7.30 o'clock.

Young Tommy Will Meet Dado To-night

Oakland, Oct. 12.—Young Tommy, rugged young Filipino who holds the California State bantamweight title, will risk his laurels against a countryman to-night, when he clashes with speedy Dado in a ten-round bout at Oakland Auditorium.

The bout will bring together probably the two outstanding Filipino fighters at this weight in the country. It will also mark the first time two top-notch Filipinos have met in a main event in this section. Tommy has never lost to one of his countrymen.

Dado formerly held the state title. Sentiment among the local betting gentry favors Tommy.

Saanich Thistles And Victoria City To Clash Saturday

Leaders of Victoria Division of the Pacific Coast Football Association to Tackle One of Joint Occupants of Second Place; Esquimalt, Other Second-place Club, Will Take on Victoria West; Victory for Thistles Will Put Them Well in Front

Saanich Thistles, leaders of the Victoria division of the Pacific Coast Football Association, will stack up against Victoria City on Saturday afternoon. In the second game on the day's card Esquimalt, last year's city champions, and the Victoria West will clash. Both matches will start at 3 o'clock.

Grounds and referees for the fixtures will be decided at a meeting of the league executive scheduled this evening. The Coast League claim to have the Heywood Avenue and lower Beacon Hill grounds booked for Saturday, but the allotment of the pitches for the two games has not been made.

THREE POINT LEAD

The Thistles are at present leading by a three-point margin over Victoria City and Esquimalt, who are deadlocked for second place. The Wests are next in line, a single point behind the second clubs. The Thistles and Esquimalt have engaged in one more match than their other two opponents.

On Monday the Saanich eleven turned in a splendid performance to nose out Esquimalt by the odd goal in three. Another win on Saturday will put them well out in front in their quest for the league championship. However, should the City pull through on the right end of the score, the race will become much closer and a great deal more interesting. The City have a good team and one that is capable of extending the leaders to the limit.

The match between Esquimalt and the Wests will find the former battling to hold their place near the top, while the Wests will be after the needed two points, in order to get into the thick of the race for first berth.

JOE M'CARTHY GETS CONTRACT

Manager of World Champion New York Yankees Signed For Three More Years

Famous Baseball Pilot Refuses to Divulge Plans For Changes in His Team

New York, Oct. 12.—Joseph Vincent McCarthy, the square-jawed Buffalo Irishman who piloted the New York Yankees back to world championship baseball heights in a two-year term as manager, yesterday received his reward in the form of a new three-year contract at a substantial increase in salary.

No other details were divulged after a short and highly agreeable conference between McCarthy and the Yankee owner, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, but it was understood the figures written into the new contract called for at least $100,000 for the three-year period.

It marked a fresh step forward in the unusual career of "Marse Joe," who never played a game of Big League baseball in his life but now holds the distinction of being the only pilot ever to manage pennant winners in both the American and National Leagues.

SQUARES ACCOUNTS

Two years after being removed as manager of the Chicago Cubs, McCarthy not only has squared accounts with his old employers but now has established himself firmly in the driver's seat of the richest outfit in baseball.

McCarthy yesterday denied he had any trades or alterations in the Yankee machine in mind and parried all questions as to what he contemplated or expected for 1933. The most he would admit was that "it would be tough staying on top" but he added quickly: "It always is. The fans like to ride the champions."

SCOTS MARSHAL RUGBY TALENT

Regiment Calls Players Together For Organization For Season

Smart College Trio Added to Backfield Candidates of Militia Team

Braw laddies of Glen Warple, adopted "heighlanmen" who play rugby for the Canadian Scottish Regiment, wear the thistle on their chests and manage to win senior city championships fairly regularly, took up the fiery cross yesterday as they started marshaling the clan for this year's battles.

They didn't pipe the pibroch for the men they had lost, but they gave their new recruits a warm welcome and promised them plenty of activity during the coming season.

With some of the boys still out of town they brought together a good number of last year's seniors and added to them several of last season's intermediate stars, including the smart College backfield trio of Chuck Copeland, Bill Boorman and Ted Colgate.

Larry Henderson, captain last year and leader of many a Victoria rep squad, was elected captain again this year, while Campbell Forbes, star forward and all-Canadian, was named vice-captain. Johnny Rowland, who also went to Japan with the Canucks, was elected leader of the scrum.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

There was a good scattering of the old guard, including Bruce and Campbell Forbes, Bill Oliver, Sleap, Harry Robson and Syd Normington on hand for the gathering and they agreed prospects for the team this year in the senior "A" company were bright.

During the meeting officers of the regiment, led by Lieutenant-Colonel Brooke Stephenson, officer commanding the First Battalion and president of the Canadian Scottish rugby club, stressed the need for more playing fields. He referred to the growing popularity of the game and noted more grounds were needed to give the men a chance to increase the number of squads playing.

Colonel D. B. Martyn, officer commanding the regiment, supported Lieutenant-Colonel Stephenson's words. He enjoined the men to play hard but to win in the right spirit. If they were unsuccessful he told them to lose in good grace.

DRAFT RESOLUTION

Lieutenant Fred N. Cabeldu end the call for more fields and draft resolution to submit to the Vic [illegible]

M'GREGOR TO MEET TIN KI[illegible]

Indiana Wrestler and China[illegible]man in Rematch at Tillicum Gym Saturday

Saturday's wrestling card under the auspices of the Tillicum Athletic Club will bring together in the main event Tin Kit, sensational Chinese wrestler, and Bob McGregor, Indiana, in an eight ten-minute round bout. The semi-windup over five ten-minute rounds will see Ernie Arthur, Victoria, go up against Jack Gorman, Texas. The opening preliminaries will feature a boxing bout of three rounds between Billie and Freddie Buxton and a wrestling exhibition between Young Dr. Sarpolis and Young Ernie Arthur. The first bout will start at 8.45 o'clock.

Kit and McGregor will be meeti[illegible] in a local ring for the second tin[illegible] In their first match the Chinam[illegible] notched up a victory, but only af[illegible] a great bout.

In Gorman, Arthur will be meeti[illegible] one of the toughest men of his lengt[illegible] career. Last week the Texan took t[illegible] out of three falls from Des Anders[illegible] clever Seattle grappler. Gorman [illegible] plenty tough and will take a lot [illegible] beating, although Arthur has alw[illegible] been able to hold his own with [illegible] best.

Nitsichin Winner Of Cesarewitch Stakes At Newmarket

Speedy Filly Wins Great Handicap By Three Lengths Edge

D. S. Kenedy's Entry Shows Her Heels to Classy Field in Famous English Classic; Chelmarsh Second and Sandwich Third; Winner Carried Nearly Top Weight; Twenty-six Starters; Montreal Resident Wins $150,000 Prize; Thousands of Dollars Change Hands in Sweeps

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 12—Carrying nearly top weight of 121 pounds D. S. Kennedy's good four-year-old filly, Nitsichin, won the Cesarewitch Stakes, great autumn handicap, to-day over the two and a quarter mile line three lengths in front of A. J. Buston's five-year-old Chelmarsh, who carried only 92 pounds, and two lengths back in third place was Lord Roseberry's Sandwich, top weight with 139 pounds.

Twenty-six of the finest long-distance handicap performers of the English turf ran in the renewal of the Newmarket feature, which was first run in 1839 and is worth approximately $10,000. Millions of dollars in sweepstakes depended on the result.

Beeting was 10 to 1 against Nitsichin, who was ridden by the veteran Beary; 22 to 1 against Chelmarsh, with W. Rickaby up, and 100 to 12 against Sandwich, winner of the classic St. Leger last year, ridden to-day by Harry Wragg.

Nitsichin, a daughter of Achtol, out of Latium, was second in the Newbury Autumn Cup a few weeks ago, and was winner of the rich Irish Oaks at the Curragh a year ago.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—One Canadian who prefers to sign himself "Brighteye," is richer by $150,000 as a result of the Cesarewitch Handicap run at Newmarket, England, to-day. The only Canadian to hold one of the twenty-three tickets on Nitsichin, the winner, was "Brighteye," Apartment 21, 5881 Monkland Boulevard, Montreal.

Seventy-five thousand dollars is won by "Sniper," Kipling, Sask., who had a ticket on Chelmarch, which ran second. The third horse was Sandwich, but no Canadians held a ticket on him.

Stamford, Conn., Oct. 12.—Concealing his identity under the nom de plume of "Bee Tee," a resident of this town, shares with a Canadian of Montreal the good fortune of holding a ticket on Nitsichin, which to-day won the Cesarewitch at Newmarket.

When informed of his good fortune the lucky one was too excited to speak over the telephone for his sweepstakes ticket will enrich him by $150,000.

Maurice Tate To Engage in Tests

London, Oct. 12.—Maurice Tate, noted Sussex bowler, will leave England to-morrow for Marseilles, whence he will sail to Australia to joint his teammates of the M.C.C. in Melbourne. Tate submitted to a medical examination yesterday at the request of the selection committee of the M.C.C., and it was revealed he had completely recovered from his breakdown. His return to the M.C.C. will considerably strengthen that aggregation in its attempt to wrest the historic "ashes" from Australia in the coming test matches.

COMEDY PLAY WELL RECEIVED

The Emmanuel Baptist schoolroom was filled to capacity Saturday evening when a two-act comedy entitled "A Perplexing Situation," was presented under the auspices of the Emmanuel women's auxiliary.

Preceding the play a musical programme was given by the following artists: Miss Gladys Marchant, soprano; George Green, cornet soloist; Sidney Chiveral, baritone; Alf Wilkinson, violinist; Mrs. Fred Butterfield, soprano, and Miss Nancy Kyle, 'cello soloist.

Those taking part in the sketch were: Mrs. George Anstey, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Boyer, Miss M. Jamieson, Miss Anita Davies, A. S. Woolard, Harry Crowther, Walter Wilson, Don Smith, George Anstey and Tom Anstey.

At the conclusion of the comedy Mrs. A. S. Woolard who had directed the rehearsals was presented with a handsome bouquet. Assisting in the programme was an orchestra composed of Norman Simister, David Anstey and Tom Anstey with Mrs. Anstey at the piano.

The chairman for the evening was Mr. A. H. Marrion.

FISHMEAL PLANT OPERATOR FINED

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Oct. 12—Operation of the fish reduction plant at Brechin, which has caused much complaint because of offensive odors, has terminated for the season, Magistrate Beevor-Potts was assured yesterday, during police court proceedings against N. S. Mosdell and associates. Robert Mosdell admitted operating the plant in defiance of the Provincial Board of Health, which had ordered cessation of operations, and was fined $30 or thirty days in jail.

Mr. Mosdell said the fish reduction plant had been operated in agreement with a credit association, the owners having made an assignment some time ago. Continuance of operation had been necessary to complete contracts, to ensure workmen getting their wages for their summer's work.

Mr. Mosdell announced that he would appeal the decision of the court.

BROOKS WILL MEET GEORGE

Local Heavyweight Wrestler to Battle Former Champion Here on Friday

Don George, former world heavyweight wrestling champion, will make his second appearance in Victoria on Friday evening when he meets "Rocky" Brooks, local heavyweight, in the eight ten-minute-round main event of the card at the Pacific Stadium arena. In the five eight-minute-round semi-windup Pat Riley, Chicago, will oppose Hardy Kruskamp, Denver. Local preliminaries will complete the card.

George appeared here a couple of years ago, when he was the holder of the title, and turned in a smart exhibition to win his bout. Since that time he had lost the title but has always been considered one of the best heavyweights in the game.

Brooks, who has been defeating a number of good heavyweights in recent matches, will have his work cut out when he goes up against George. "Rocky" is plenty strong and tough and he hopes to make a good showing against the former titleholder.

The Riley-Kruskamp match appears like a good one. In his first appearance here last week Riley lost to Brooks on a foul but proved himself a first-class grappler.

GOVERNMENT REFORM

by discredited ex-politicians desiring to stage a party come-back in a new role.

And so in every movement designed to bring about a change in existing conditions the efforts of those who are fearless have been foiled by the very masses on whom they are fighting and the people are getting the sort of government they deserve.

The present party system is apparently the only one which people will support to-day. Perhaps it might be said that I am discouraged unduly and that when the time comes the people will show that they "ring true" and defeat partyism. This, however, is absurd and unless the people are organized and thoroughly prepared to fight the battle against patronage, privilege, and partyism, at the next election they can only hope for a continuance of the status quo. It appears to me that since we have to use the weapons of partyism to clean out a rotten government our only hope lies in an organized party opposition.

THE MISSION TO LEPERS

To the Editor:—Your kindness in publishing the letters sent to you in the past in regard to the leper mission work encourages the local auxiliary to seek your further kindness in printing yet another for the benefit of those interested.

The many articles donated for the bales sent last November were duly received at the two leper homes in Korea, and the following are extracts from letters of acknowledgment received here early this year:

"Fusan, Chosen, Korea.

"The bale of goods came safely, for which we wish to thank you all. The contents were most useful, especially the woollens. We had two distributions, one at the leper home on Christmas Day and one at the village established by the lepers some years ago, which has grown so that the inhabitants now number 450. Of course we cannot care for these people as we do for those in our home, but we do give them some medicine, and at the end of the year give them what we can from mission boxes . . ."

"Soonchun, Chosen, Korea.

" . . . We opened up the bale of lovely things yesterday and wish to just add this line of thanks. This is as useful a lot of things as we have ever gotten. The lepers are just delighted with them."

The local auxiliary is hoping to be able to send a bale or bales again this year, and has arranged for a meeting to be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday afternoon, October 25, at 3 o'clock when articles may be brought in. The Rev. H. N. Konkle, Canadian secretary of the mission, who has been visiting the leper stations in the Orient during the past few weeks, expects to be present at this meeting, and will tell of his latest experiences. The list of articles suitable for sending in the bales is as follows:

Woollen scarves twelve inches wide, one and one-half yards long, in bright colors; woollen socks, stockings, knee-warmers, etc.; brightly colored handkerchiefs, children's clothing, such as knitted woollen vests, in various sizes, frocks for infants and small girls up to eight and ten years, bloomers to match, boys' shirts, open at neck, various sizes; folders containing several pockets in which lepers keep small personal articles, colored bags of print or cretonne with drawstrings, unmounted Bible pictures, such as those of Harold Copping, chiefly New Testament scenes; old cotton and linen for bandages, sewing material, reels of white cotton, thimbles, needles, pins, safety pins, embroidery thread, etc.; toys, etc., (except celluloid); dolls, mouth organs, rubber balls, pencils, skipping ropes, small mirrors, bead necklaces, soap, penknives, hair ribbons, etc.

We wish to thank all those who have helped in the past in this worthy cause, and anticipate a sustained interest and sympathy in this connection on behalf of these stricken and afflicted people.

Secretary-Treasurer, Victoria Auxiliary.

POPPY PROFITS FOR VETERANS

Proceeds Will Not Be Shared With Red Cross This Year

Profits from the sale og Flanders poppies on November 5 will be used exclusively for the relief of veterans and their dependents instead of being shared with the Provincial Red Cross Society, as was done on the last two occasions, it was announced by officials of the Remembrance Day committee to-day.

"The Red Cross Society is not, at this time, appealing for funds to further the great and necessary work which it is doing in the remote parts of the province, consequently the entire proceeds of Poppy Day sales will be available for aid to veterans in this district," officials said.

WORK FOR DISABLED

Disabled veterans in the Victoria Red Cross workshop are the sole makers of genuine Flanders poppies for distribution in British Columbia. Many different models of beautiful wreaths have been made, and the Remembrance Day committee will endeavor to sell one or more to every storekeeper. This symbol of remembrance is of threefold significance—it commemorates the sacrifices of the dead, provides a fund for the living who are in distress and furnishes employment for disabled men at the Red Cross workshop.

Headquarters for the Poppy Day campaign have been established at 711 View Street, where sample wreaths are on display. Canvassers are already in the field, and an appeal is made to business men and others to place their orders early. Col. H. T. Goodland, C.B., is chairman of the Remembrance Day committee and J. W. Waterston poppy sales manager.

SHOWS VALUES OF PRESS BODY

B. C. Nicholas Traces Origin and Operation of Canadian Press

Not Only News Gathering Agency; Promotes Canadian Spirit

The Canadian Press was more than a news distributing agency. It was one of the most important factors in promoting and strengthening a Canadian spirit. It bred a familiarity between on province and another from coast to coast and by developing an interest in all sections of the Dominion, welded the component parts closer together, B. C. Nicholas told members of the Round Table Club at their dinner in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening.

The speaker referred to the scarcity and staleness of foreign news prior to the invention of the telegraph. He noted the report of the battle of Trafalgar had been published in London seventeen days after the completion of the engagement, while the account of Waterloo had not been made public until three days after it had ended.

INVENTION OF TELEGRAPH

It was not until the middle of the nineteenth century that wireless had been invented and cables laid across the Atlantic Ocean. With this great stride, a system of correspondents for big papers had sprung into existence in foreign capitals. This had been followed by the creation of news gathering agencies which sold their copy to various papers. The costs had been excessive, so they grouped the papers to which they sold their services and spread the expense over them.

Mr. Nicholas spoke of the origin of Reuters, originally a German agency which became privately owned later in London.

The creation of the Central Press, another privately owned organization which entered into a reciprocal agreement with Reuters, carried news to thousands of papers. He spoke of other organizations which were all interlinked, making it impossible for big news to go untouched in any part of the world.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press, the great United States organization, had been created on a different principle. It had not aimed to be a profit making business. Its objective had been to supply news to United States papers on a cost basis. Mr. Nicholas was warm in his praise of the authenticity of Associated Press dispatches, lauding the system for its accuracy and speed.

Up to a comparatively few years ago Canada had received its foreign news in a more or less haphazard method. About twenty years ago the Canadian Press had been formed with the Associated Press as its model. A grant from the federal government of $50,000 a year to assist in carrying the high wire costs had been rejected in order that the Canadian Press might be independent of parliament.

The function of the Canadian Press was two-fold. First it covered world news, with the assistance of foreign affiliations, and secondly it covered Canada from east to west for its members.

Mr Nicholas spoke of the different bureaus in which news of Canadian interest was selected and sent over the wires to the parts of Canada most interested. The organization in normal times spent $700,000 a year in operating costs. It had cut this figure materially this year, he said.

SOUGHT EMPIRE SERVICE

At the last Imperial Press Conference in England an attempt had been made to link up the Empire in a press system modelled upon that of the Canadian Press. This had been thwarted by big men interested in privately owned organizations, but there was hope it might be accomplished at the next press conference in South Africa.

He explained the mechanical devices of the Canadian Press showing how the Morse operators had been transplanted by the automatic printer mechanics, giving the newspapers a great deal more wordage than they had enjoyed under the old arrangement.

Wireless had been used only as a supplementary means to telegraph for news distribution. Costs of the former and the fact that it could not be made exclusive were against its use.

At the close of the meeting he answered several questions put to him by the clubmen.

Preceding his talk Mr. Nicholas was introduced as a new member of the Round Table Club by Alderman W. T. Straith, president of the club.

SCOTS SELDOM RETURN HOME

Can Adapt Themselves to New Countries, Major Ralex Donald Tells Burns Club

"A Scotsman who leaves his homeland seldom returns," said Major Ralex Donald, world traveler, in an address on "Scottish Life and Character" in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

This was not because there were not many attractions in Scotland but because the Scotsman could always make things go and be comfortable in a new place, said Mjor Donald in the course of an amusing talk filled with Scotch anecdote and humor. This adaptability was one of the Scotsman's great characteristics and helped to explain why so few Scots were now to be found in jobless queues and free lunch kitchens.

As well as being self-reliant and persevering, Scots were proud, said Major Donald. They were proud of their clans and proud of their chiefs but never servile to the higher born. The proudest people in the world were the Scots and the Cockney, in the opinion of the speaker.

There was also a dour obstinacy characteristic of Scotsmen—the kind of obstinacy that in retrospect made the struggle between the Covenanters and Montrose look not only rather ridiculous but unchristian.

Major Donald paid high trbiute to Scottish women, saying there was nothing to excel the best type of Scotswoman with her soft warm voice, sympathetic attention and fine breeding. John Hosie, president of the club, presided and thanked the speaker.

MUSICAL NUMBERS

Pipe-Major Donald Cameron gave a bagpipe selection and the following contributed songs: Mrs. Bertram Mayell, "Wandering Willie," and encore; Mrs. H. C. Fraser, "Angus McDonald" and encore, and Mark King, "Wilt Thou Be My Dearie?" and "Hail Caledonia."

The 1932-33 syllabus for the club was issued at yesterday evening's meeting. On November 8, G. C. Grant and Reginald Hyward, M.P.P., will give their "Impressions of the Old Land; on December 13 there will be a "Ladies' Night"; on January 10 Adam Bell will give an address on Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald; the annual dinner will be held on Janury 10, when Judge J. A. Forin will speak on "Why the Immortal Memory?"; on February 14 B. C. Nicholas will talk on "The Scottish Influence in Canada"; on March 14 Hon. R. Randolph Bruce will give an address, and on April 11 the election of officers will be held.

Edmonton, Oct. 12.—Calgary interests plan immediate erection here of an oil refinery to employ about twenty-five men, Mayor D. K. Knott stated the Calgary interests planned to expend between $300,000 and $400,000 on the oil refining project.

Wheat Unchanged As Dearth of Exports Restricts Trading

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—Minus a guiding hand from outside markets and with export trade at a standstill, wheat showed little inclination to move in either direction to-day. Values at the close were ⅛ lower to unchanged.

October closed at 48¼, November at 49, December at 50¼, and May at 55⅛.

Pit operations were of the smallest proportions and uninteresting, with a few hedging sales uncovered and a little buying from a large outside interest constituting the only support.

Country movement was comparatively light and the limited hedging pressure suggested that the farmers were unwilling sellers at present prices.

Overseas news was without feature and most of the market interest usually present in the south was missing, due to the holiday in the United States.

Cash wheat and course grain interest was very light, no sales of any account were reported.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—The local market opened about unchanged this morning and prices have scarcely moved in either direction. The only buying that was in evidence was credited to the big Canadian interest, the offerings of December being taken by local houses. Scattered showers have occurred in Alberta and snow flurries in Saskatchewan. The forecast is for cloudy and cool in all three provinces with local snows or rain.

The cash market is fairly active and considerable wheat is being shipped down the lakes to take care of immediate and winter requirements.

With American markets all closed there is no news coming through from the outside. So far as can be confirmed, there has been no export business overnight and there is no evidence of any business doing. It is understood on the floor that the big interest that has been supporting the market have given the brokers instructions to take unlimited quantities of December wheat at fifty cents. Therefore it would seem impossible for the market to sink any lower unless the policy is changed. At the same time there is such a large surplus of wheat in North America, with foreign requirements less than last year, that it would seem practically impossible to place prices on a higher level at this time.

In another two months Canada will be meeting real competition from the Argentine and Australia in efforts to get rid of their surplus. Favor bulge sales when they occur.

Coarse grains—Practically at a standstill. No trade.

AIMLESS DRIFT AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Oct. 12.—In one of the quietest sessions for some time stock exchange prices drifted aimlessly to-day. Brazilian lost ⅛ at 9⅝. International Nickel and Montreal Power each gained slightly, the former closing ¼ at 9¼; Power at 34, up⅛.

Shawinigan was down a full point at 13. Dominion Glass slumped six points to 72, Bank of Nova Scotia lost three points at 267, while Dominion Steel and Coal "B" at 1¼; Montreal Power debentures at 42½, and B.C. Packers at 1½ each, lost ¼.

Massey-Harris closed ¼ higher at 4⅛, while Cockshutt Plow at 6, and General Steel Wares at 1⅛, each firmed ⅛.

TORONTO MINE TENDENCY UP

Toronto, Oct. 12.—The mining market was left pretty much to the specialties to-day. Teck Hughes rose from 3.28 to close at 3.44, a gain of 16.

Dome at 12.00, Wright Hargreaves at 2.85, Siscoe at 77, Howey at 60, and Hollinger at 5.05, all were up fractionally. Pioneer of B.C. weakened to 4.55, a drop of 8 for the day.

Vacuum Gas moved up to 9 for a gain of 2 points.

GOLDS ACTIVE AT VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—Georgia River, Reno and Pioneer were the most active of the gold stock on the board during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day. Georgia sold around 4 cents, Pioneer, fluctuating with Toronto, dropped back to $4.55, and Reno was somewhat stronger at 56½ cents.

Big Missouri sold at 13½, Beaver Silver at 4, National Silver around 2½, Bridge River at 6, Bralorne at 65, Pend Oreille at 85, Premier at 60 and the balance of the mining stocks around recent levels.

With a generally unchanged board, the oil section held at about the levels of the last few days. C. and E. brought 40 cents, Spooner 10 cents, Nordon 10 cents, Sterling Pacific 20 cents, Model 16 cents, Mercury 10 cents and Crow's Nest 1 cent.

The greater part of the trading interest was concentrated in the gold stocks, predicated upon recent development and success in several of the properties.

Sales this morning were:

Oils—50 C. and E. at 40; 200 Merland at 20; 1,100 Mercury at 10; 300 Model at 16; 100 Spooner Oil at 10; 1,500 Nordon at 10.

Mines—5,000 Beaver Silver at 4 (B-60); 500 Bralorne at 65; 4-6 Bralorne Fractions at 80; 300 Bridge River Con. at 8; 500 Big Missouri at 13, 1,500 at 13½; 1,700 Crow's Nest at 1; 10,000 Georgia River at 3½, 3,000 at 4; 100 Pend Oreille at 85; 300 Pioneer Gold at 455; 100 Premier Gold at 58, 100 at 59, 550 at 60; 500 Reno Gold at 56, 1,000 at 56½; 500 Ventures at 73.

URGE LEAGUE CONTINUE LINK

Associated Press

Geneva, Oct. 12. — Naotake Sato, Japan's representative in the League of Nations Assembly, yesterday opposed a move to abolish the League office at Tokio.

It was a valuable bureau, he said, and had contributed to the improvement of good relations between nations. He admitted relations between Japan and the League were not the best at present, but he asserted the Tokio office would serve a useful purpose in the present situation of the world.

PARIS MARKET

Paris, Oct. 12.—Prices hardened on the Bourse due to better news from abroad and buying for the October 15 settlement date. Rentes and international issues improved and the closing was well sustained.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Montreal, Oct. 12. — Prices on Montreal produce and dairy markets to-day were:

C.N.R. REVENUES UP FOR WEEK

Montreal, Oct. 12.—Gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending October 7 showed an increase of $221,236, or seven per cent, over the revenues for the corresponding period of 1931, according to the weekly statement of revenues issued to-day. For the period ending October 7, 1932, gross revenues were $3,433,001, compared with $3,211,765 for the same period of 1931.

Trade Board Takes Up Farmers' Protest

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Oct. 12—The Board of Trade yesterday evening decided to assist the Wellington Taxpayers' Association in its efforts to have Brennan Lake outlet and the Millstone River cleaned, to prevent flooding of 166 acres of agricultural land.

A resolution from the North Saanich Board, regarding pound areas outside city limits and bringing the Pound Act under the jurisdiction of the Provincial Police, was referred to the civic and legislative committee for a report.

Several communications, including resolutions on stocking Vancouver Island streams with Scottish salmon and extermination of muskrats, were dealt with.

GOLD STANDARD IN CAMPAIGN

U.S. Party Speakers Argue as to How Close Republic Was to Change

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 12.—Recent statements concerning the United States' position on the gold standard, made by Democratic campaigners seeking the defeat of President Hoover in the November 8 election, had been dubbed by the Republican National Committee to-day as "propaganda which flagrantly mis-stated facts."

Almost simultaneously, and outside the political arena, two matters cropped up which the forces of presidential aspirant Franklin D. Roosevelt will likely use as anti-Hoover material. They concerned the farm problem and prohibition.

FREE GOLD

James A. Reed, former senator from Missouri, followed a recent Hoover statement that the United States had come within two weeks of going off the gold standard, with the declaration, "We were never within $2,700,000,000 of the lawful suspension of gold payments."

The Republican Committee's statement in reply to Reed said:

"The truth of the matter is our so-called 'free gold' was down to a dangerously low level, below $400,000,000 last February . . . . . a drop from about $700,000,000 the previous August." (Free gold means the gold held by the Federal Reserve system over all legal requirements.)

Outgrowth of the constantly popping-up farm strike, started in Iowa to force high prices, a farmer march on Washington appears to be taking definite form. Secretary Lem Harris of the Farmers' National Relief Conference, said 500 "disgruntled" producers were already enrolled for the protest march into Washington December 7. He predicted the number might reach 5,000.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS

The election menu yesterday evening was featured by an address by ex-President Calvin Coolidge at a Republican rally in Madison Square Garden.

Mr. Coolidge's address was threefold:

An attack on "pending Democratic treasury raids" and a denunciation of Franklin D. Roosevelt for his "silence" on the question of bonus payments.

A defence of Republican policies, past and present.

A complete endorsement of President Hoover's leadership during the depression.

CLASH IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Oct. 12.—(Associated Press)—A dispatch from Jalapa, State of Vera Cruz, to-day said one person had been killed and two wounded in a battle between "Cristeros" (church supporters) and Anticlerics near Tuxpan. At Misantla Anticlerics seized a church and turned it into a school, the dispatch said.

REPORT MADE ON HOTEL CHAINS

Duff Commission's Study of C.N.R. and C.P.R. Systems Placed Before Commons

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—In the Duff commission's report, tabled in the Commons yesterday, the hotel operations of the two big railway systems of Canada are dealt with in considerable detail. The Canadian National's investment at December 31, 1931, amounted to $31,828,234, and the Canadian Pacific's $71,148,722, a total of $102,977,006, says the commission. During the nine-year period under review the Canadian National increased its hotel investments by $22,153,824, and the Canadian Pacific by $46,887,999. Over the period the Canadian National hotel operations showed a loss of $2,130,924, and the Canadian Pacific an operating profit of $7,468,827. These financial results do not include anything for interest or depreciation. If such charges had been made, the Canadian National's loss would have been substantially increased and the Canadian Pacific's profit would have been converted into a substantial loss, says the commission.

The commission finds very large sums have been invested in hotels which were not justified from any point of view, which investments could have been avoided if there had been a spirit of co-operation on the part of the managements of both systems. "It is a deplorable example of a wasteful expenditure of public and private money, and one that places a permanent serious financial burden on both systems," says the commission.

INVESTMENTS REPORTED

The following figures, which are included in the report, shows the investment in Canadian National hotels as at December 31, 1931:

Charlottetown, Charlottetown, P.E.I., $853,351; Pictou Lodge, Pictou, N.S., $200,554; Nova Scotian, Halifax, N.S., $2,440,928; Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, $8,639,247; Highland Inn and Camps, Algonquin Park, Ont., $173,334; Minaki Lodge, Minaki, Ont., $1,090,668; Nipigon Lodge, Lake Nipigon, Ont., $37,639; Prince Arthur, Port Arthur, Ont., $1,177,349; Prince Edward, Brandon, $523,080; Fort Garry, Winnipeg, $2,886,818; Grand Beach, Lake Winnipeg, $418,722; Macdonald, Edmonton, $2,226,060; Jasper Park Lodge, Alta, $2,576,744.

Under construction: Vancouver, Vancouver, B.C., $5,958,812; Bessborough, Saskatoon, Sask., $3,624,928. Total, $31,828,234.

C.P.R. FIGURES

The figures covering the total investment in hotels of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the same date are given as follows:

Algonquin, St. Andrews, N.B., $1,424,033; Banff Springs, Banff, Alta., $8,844,372; Chateau, Lake Louise, Alta., $3,413,804; Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, $8,871,703; Cornwallis Inn, Kentville, N.S., $744,559; Empress, Victoria, $5,512,396; Palliser, Calgary, $4,615,502; Pines, Digby, N.S., $940,081; Palce Viger, Montreal, $951,486; Royal Alexandra, Winnipeg, $3,213,745; Royal York, Toronto, $16,482,313; Saskatchewan, Regina, $2,559,918; Vancouver, Vancouver, $6,337,412; Crystal Garden, Victoria, $284,322; camps and rests, $605,736; London, England, $5,478,058 miscellaneous, $869,332. Total, $71,148,772.

BIG SUMS WERE PAID INSULLS

Associated Press

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Samuel Insull, recent utilities head, released from custody in Athens, Greece, yesterday despite requests that he be extradited to answer charges of larceny in connection with his handling of his late holding companies, drew a salary of $500,000 a year at the zenith of his career. This was brought out at a hearing in federal court here yesterday as to what pay should be allowed receivers of the Middle West Utilities.

In addition he had liberal dividends, but he has said that he lost all his fortune of $100,000,000 when his trust companies collapsed last spring. He now has a pension of $21,000 a year from the solvent operating companies.

As chairman of Middle West alone, Insull received $50,000 a year, while Martin Insull, now under a Chicago preferred charge at Barrie, Ont., as president, was paid $100,000 and Samuel Insull Jr., who did not give full time to the company, had a salary of $10,000.

LONDON MARKET

London, Oct. 12. — Gilt-edged securities were again a strong feature on the stock exchange. British funds advanced under general buying and better Paris and overnight Wall Street reports. Other sections also improved and the market closed firm.

NEW BASIS FOR COAL WORKERS

Canadian Press

Drumheller, Alta., Oct. 12.—Between 500 and 700 miners in the employ of four coal companies at Wayne to-day had quit the ranks of organized unions to tread the pathway of independence.

Continuous efforts of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada and the United Mine Workers of America in the Wayne fields to gain control of organized labor brought the breaks from the two bodies and the organization of local unions dealing directly with the management of the miners.

Competition and rivalry between the two unions a week ago led to a tense situation which necessitated police action.

Miners in the employ of the Sovereign Coal Company, whose property was the scene of large gatherings a week ago, organized an independent unit and are now operating under agreement with the company. Miners at the properties of the Rose Deer Coal Company and the Ideal Coal Company took similar action, to be joined during the week-end by miners in the employ of the Jewel Coal Company. Negotiations are now underway for a working agreement between the Jewel Collieries and their employees.

The changes leave only the Excelsior Collieries Ltd., where the employees are working under an agreement between the management and the Mine Workers' Union of Canada.

Osler Exhibit At Chicago in 1933

Canadian Press

Montreal Oct. 12. — The life and achievements of Sir William Osler, Canada's greatest physician and McGill's most famous graduate, will be illustrated in the Hall of Science at Chicago's World's Fair next year. From the Osler Memorial Library at McGill University copies of the great physicians publications and other personal mementoes will be taken to Chicago.

McGill's exhibit will include also an illustration of the development of medicine and medical training in Montreal. Pictures of the old General Hospital and other institutions of science and learning will be hung on the walls of the Hall of Science.

Asks For Soldier Settlement Facts

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Information relating to the Soldier Settlement Board is sought from the government by H. E. Spencer, United Farmer member for Battle River. He will ask in the Commons the original amount voted for the scheme; how many farms were purchased; the amount of the collective debt owed by the settlers to the board and the estimated value of the lands.

Must the Husband Always Be the Elder?

Finds Strong Won't Stoop To Coward's Weapons

The Weak Nearly Always Rule the Strong, And the Reason Is Plain: They Use Coward's Weapons, Against Which the Brave Have No Defence—Particularly Are Women Given to Using Tears, Tongue, Ill-health and Age To Gain Their Own Way at Whatever Cost

IT IS a tragic thing that in domestic life the weak rule the strong, fools dominate the wise. Take the families you know. In nine cases out of ten the real head of the house is not the strong, intelligent man with the wide experience of life that fits him to decide with sound judgment the problems that arise in his household and to be a guide and mentor to his children. No. It is the little hen-brained woman filled with prejudices and superstitions and ignorance who is the autocrat of the home and who rules her husband and children with a rod of iron.

Nor in the cases where the grey mare is the better horse, and the wife is wise and strong and broad-minded and the husband is weak and narrow and moronic, do you find that the wife's influence is paramount in the home. On the contrary, it is the stupid and bigoted little man who has his family under his thumb.

Why this is thus is a puzzle that we grow grey trying to solve. We can't understand why the strong surrender to the weak without even putting up a fight. We can't comprehend why the far-seeing permit themselves to be led into ditches by the blind. We can't see why high-souled men and women allow themselves to be needlessly sacrificed to silly, selfish egotists.

But the reason is plain. The weak are cowards and they fight with coward's weapons and against these the brave and honorable have no defence. There is no mean advantage that the weak will not take, no underhand blow that they will not strike to gain their own ends. The strong and wise will not stoop to do these things, and so the finer a man and woman are, the less able are they to cope with weak fools, and the more surely are they their victims.

Women's armories are full of these coward's weapons. Perhaps the most dangerous and the most frequently used is the tongue, which is a two-edged sword that has slain its thousands of men who were giants abroad but trembling mice at home, whose words were law to battalions of soldiers and multitudes of employees, but who said "ma'am" to their wives.

What can a man do with a woman who makes scenes in public except walk warily so as not to rile her? What can a man do to a woman who nags the life out of him except bow his head to the storm and let it roll over him?

The next coward's weapon that women use is tears. Perhaps more men have had their will power flattered out under hydraulic pressure than in any other way. You can't combat tears. Fighting them is like fighting ghosts, something awful, terrifying, impalpable against which a man struggles in vain, knowing that it will get him in the end. Any woman can weep the last cent out of a man's pocket and make him do the things he has sworn he never would do if she is unprincipled enough to do it.

It is perfectly appalling to think of the men who go into debt to buy motor cars and fine houses that they know they can't afford just because their wives cried for them until they got them. It is heart-breaking to think of the men who wipe their wives' eyes on the last shred of their self-respect and ambition when they give up the profession for which they have fitted themselves, or shut the door of opportunity in their faces because their wives dissolved in tears at being left alone while their husbands pursued their callings, or became perfect fountains of weeps at the thought of going away from mother and the girls.

Still another coward's weapon that women use to dominate their families is ill-health. They use nerves as a smoke screen to cover up unimaginable atrocities in the way of temper and irritability and general lack of all decent self-control. Probably there isn't a husband in the world who isn't more afraid of his wife's nerves than he is of a machine gun, and who wouldn't flee to his dugout, if he had one, when he sees them about to explode.

And heart disease. If there is a cinch on earth it is having a poor heart, which is why it is a favorite ailment with women. It is a perfect alibi, going and coming, for everything a woman wants to do and wants to get out of doing.

I have known women who enslaved their entire families for twenty years to their "poor hearts." They not only did no work themselves; they had to be waited on hand and foot because they couldn't make any exertion. All family troubles and worries had to be kept from them because they couldn't be excited.

Everybody else had to stay at home and toil to make the money to send the poor victim off to summer resorts and winter resorts. But she had to be kept cheerful and to do this she felt it necessary to belong to bridge clubs and go to parties and have a good time generally. And this treatment was so effective that these women lived on until they had worked their poor husbands and children into the grave.

The coward's weapon of old people is "I'm not going to live long. You won't have me with you but a short time." So mother thinks that daughter should give up her career and stay at home and nurse and coddle her, and that son shouldn't marry and should spend all he earns in keeping her in luxurious ease. And when mother makes this pathetic appeal to her children and squeezes out a few hard tears, what can they do except run up the white flag and let her wreck their lives for them with her selfishness?

Of course, mother doesn't make good on her promise of making a hasty exit and leaving her children free to follow their destinies. She lives on and on and on until daughter is a soured old maid and son is a cranky old bachelor, but she has conquered them and monopolized them, and that was all she wanted.

A terrible thing, these coward's weapons that women use. They should be outlawed as are the more hideous implements of war. DOROTHY DIX.

Columbus Crosses the Dark Sea

II—ON THE ATLANTIC

When Columbus started to sail across the Atlantic ocean, his thoughts must have been many. There was hope and belief in him that the journey would be a success! But there must have been doubts as well.

"Look!" Is That a Light?"

Almost five centuries before, Norsemen had crossed waters of the North Atlantic, had settled in Iceland and Greenland and had found a western land which they called Vineland. It is possible that Columbus had heard of the voyages of the Norsemen, but more likely he had not.

On board the three small ships in the fleet of Columbus were 100 men. Most were Spaniards or Portuguese, but one was an Englishman and another an Irishman. Some of the sailors had been freed from prison when they agreed to make the dangerous trip.

Day after day, week after week, the little ships sailed on. At one point in the journey, they saw a large mast floating in the water, and the sailors shuddered when they thought of the fate of a great ship which had dared to sail the Dark Sea.

At another time, sailors on the Santa Maria noticed that the compass needle was not pointing straight toward the North Star, and by this they were greatly worried. Columbus made an effort to explain; but he, himself, did not know the true reason.

On a dark night, a flame of fire streaked the sky, and this made the poor sailors more fearful than ever. It was no doubt nothing more than a large meteor, but to the sailors it seemed a warning from heaven that they must go no farther.

Onward, onward sailed the ships. August turned to September, and September turned to October. Now and then seaweed was observed floating on the water. It was taken as a sign of land, but land itself did not appear.

A prize had been offered to the first man who should see land, and there were several cries of "Land! Land!" Further progress proved, however, that low-lying clouds had been mistaken for land.

On the evening of October 11, 1492, Columbus was peering ahead.

"Look!" he cried suddenly. "Is that a light?"

Others looked where the admiral pointed, but they were not sure that they could see a light.

SHIP CARRIED LYTTON REPORT

Empress Liner Delivered Official Document to Japanese Government at Yokohama

R.M.S. Empress of Canada, which docked here yesterday from Hong Kong, carried the official Lytton Report on Manchuria to Japan.

The elaborately sealed case containing the official document was delivered to a representative of the Japanese government at Yokohama.

Traveling by Empress of Canada to Victoria was W. R. Haas, secretary-general of the League of Nations' Manchurian mission, and Dr. A. D. A. de Kat Angelino, adviser to the commission.

Stating that the Lytton report had not been published when he was in Japan, Mr. Haas said he was unable to discuss its findings. He said he was returning to Geneva via Paris.

While in Victoria yesterday, Mr. Haas received an invitation from Col. T. A. Hiam, former representative of Sir Henry Thornton on the Coast, to be his guest at Vancouver to-day. Col. Hiam was in Manchuria with the commission as railway director.

Germany now has 4,119,531 radios, a slight decrease from the beginning of this year.

West Coast Salmon Goes To Australia

Niagara Taking 2,240 Cases Shipped By Empire Cannery at Port Alberni to Sydney

Sir Norman Kater, Conference Adviser, Among 150 Passengers Sailing To-day

Marking a new development that has great possibilities in trade between British Columbia and Australia under the Canadian-Australian trade treaty, Vancouver Island canned salmon will go forward to Sydney by the liner Niagara which is sailing from Victoria this evennig for the Antipodes.

A special trip was made this week by the steamer Southholm, of the Waterhouse Line, to Port Alberni to load 2,240 cases of salmon, which is being shipped to Australia by the B.C. Empire Canning Company. This is the first large shipment of canned fish from Port Alberni since the days of the old Watson saltery. Other orders are expected for the Australian market.

The Southholm, formerly the E. D. Kingsley, took the salmon from the Alberni Canal to Vancouver, where it was trans-shipped to the Niagara before she sailed from the mainland port to-day.

The ship's cargo is made up of 3,000 tons, including besides the West Coast shipment of canned fish, 1,800 boxes of British Columbia-grown apples and 2,300 bags and 5,000 crates of B.C. onions.

Carrying 150 passengers, the Niagara sailed from Vancouver about noon and is expected to reach here at 6 o'clock this evening, sailing at 8 o'clock for Sydney via Honolulu, Suva and Auckland, N.Z.

SIR N. KATER SAILS

Prominent among the ship's passengers is Sir Norman Kater, M.L.C., Australian inad owner and one of the technical advisers to the Australian delegation at the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa. Since the Ottawa conference, Sir Norman has been touring the United Kingdom and the United States.

Other passengers include C. S. Savage, head of the fruit culture branch of the Australian Department of Agriculture, returning to Sydney, following a Canadian tour during which he has been examining markets for Australian citrus fruits in this country and S. Stuart McKay, son of S. McKay, Australian head of the Sunshine Harvester Company, Waterloo, Ont. At Honolulu the Niagara will be joined by the United States four ranking tennis stars, Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, Johnny Van Ryn and Keith Gladhill, en route to New Zealand and Australia for a series of exhibition tests.

BRANCH LINES COSTS ANALYZED

In Report to Parliament Duff Board Deals With Railways' Outlays

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The report of the Royal Commission on Transportation, tabled in the Commons yesterday, deals with the capital expenditures of the two big railway systems of Canada over the nine-year period, 1923-31, which totaled $805,112,311, of which the Canadian National expended $456,345,456 and the Canadian Pacific $348,776,855. On the construction and acquisition of branch lines, $162,451,546 was expended by the two railways. It is estimated a policy of co-operation would have avoided probably one-third of this expenditure. The mileage involved, 5,018, is equivalent to the provision of a line of railway extending from Halifax to Vancouver and back to the Manitoba boundary.

BRANCH LINES

Attention is called to the excess cost of Canadian National branch line construction compared with that of the Canadian Pacific for like purposes and in similar territory. This excess has averaged $15,867 per mile, or $30,073,201 altogether, and represents an addition to the annual interest charge of almost $800 per mile on the branch lines constructed by the National management, says the commission.

The branch line construction policies of both railways are considered, the report stating the explanation given by the representatives of the two railways are not such as to convince the commission the policies have been sound or wise. There is criticism also of the acquisition of certain branch lines by purchase.

These acquisitions, with betterments and improvements, have added approximately $35,000,000 to the obligations incurred on railway account by the Dominion and by the National Railways themselves. As to these latter purchases, the commission expresses the belief it would have been better had the government assumed the burden directly and thus avoided saddling the railways with capital charges and operating expenses resulting from the purchase of railways based solely on public policy.

IMMIGRATION HEAD IN CITY

A. L. Jolliffee Meets Robert Roff Here and Talks Over Immigration Matters

F. W. "Cyclone" Taylor, Vancouver Divisional Commissioner, Also Here

A. L. Jolliffe, chief commissioner of immigration, Ottawa, with F. W. Taylor, divisional commissioner, Vancouver, arrived in the city early to-day to inspect the Victoria headquarters and confer with Robert Roff, in charge of immigration here.

Before his appointment as chief commissioner, Mr. Jolliffe held the divisional post at Vancouver, now filled by Mr. Taylor. The latter, better known to the sport world as "Cyclone," was the key man on the Vancouver ice hockey team when hockey filled the arenas on the Coast.

The two officials will return to the mainland to-day.

Around the Docks

Smoke, which for some days has enveloped the Coast, extended eighty miles out to sea, according to Capt. A. J. Hailey, commander of the C.P.R. liner Empress of Canada.

"We could smell the smoke from the bridge when we were eighty miles offshore," said Capt. Hailey, in discussing the atmospheric density following the arrival of the ship from the Orient via Honolulu yesterday.

It was so thick off Cape Flattery that the ship did not pick up Swiftsure Lightship as she passed into the Straits.

OPIUM DISCOVERED

Delayed here slightly owing to the discovery of opium on one of the passengers, the Blue Funnel steamer Tantalus sailed about 6.20 o'clock this morning for Seattle. The ship reached here from the Orient at 1.30 a.m.

The opium case was investigated in police court this morning.

CANADIAN PHOTOS FOR KING OF SIAM

When Capt. W. J. M. Watson-Armstrong, consul-general for Siam in western Canada, sailed Saturday evening aboard the liner Empress of Asia for the Orient, en route to Bangkok to report to the Siamese court he carried with him among other gifts for King Prajadhipok, some fine samples of Canadian photography for His Majesty's perusal. King Phajadhipok, himself a creditable photographer, ordered a specially mounted set of pictures illustrating his Canadian tour to be made up and forwarded to Siam. This set, the work of the Associated Screen News, Montreal, now hangs in the national library at Bangkok. The photos Capt. Watson-Armstrong is displaying aboard the Empress of Asia (above) are views of the Wat-Phra Keo grand palace and the equestrian statue of King Chulalongkoon in Bangkok. They were made by the Associated Screen News during the visit to Bangkok last year of the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain on her triumphant first world tour. Capt. Watson-Armstrong, considering them better photographs than any he saw in Siam, is taking them to King Prajadhipok to be added to the national gallery.

Says C.N.R. Steamer Service Here Error

Duff Board, in Report to M.P.'s Deals With C.N.R. Ferries Recently Withdrawn

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—In its report to Parliament, tabled in the Commons yesterday, the Royal Commission on Transportation reviews the provision of steamship services on the Pacific Coast. It directs attention to the waste involved by the Canadian National's entrance into the "Tri-City Service," abandoned after a year's trial, after a capital investment of $8,176,582 and heavy operating losses had been incurred.

The commission states it is impossible to believe any publia interest was served by this duplication of coastal services. Any success that might have come to the Canadian National could only have been largely at the expense of the Canadian Pacific. The Canadian National was at some disadvantage in not having a service of steamships under its own control, but this situation could have been met had the managements of the two systems been willing to enter into a working arrangement.

"This is another instance where a willingness to co-operate would have avoided a sacrifice of funds and obviated the heavy losses which fell on both systems," says the commission.

FLIER WON HIS OWN CUP

Duncan Bell-Irving Turned Over Sweepstakes to Disqualified Runner-up

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—Duncan Bell-Irving, president of the Aero Club of B.C., was first winner of the cup which he donated for a series of landing contests.

In the competition at the Sea Island Airport on Thanksgiving Day, the president finished in first place, with Jack Wright second. Ten pilots participated. Mrs. E. Flahery and W. G. Mackenzie, directors of the club, being well up in the standings.

Mr. Bell-Irving turned over the sweepstakes money on the event to the runner-up, who finished closer to the mark but was disqualified on one of his landings. The average of two landings was taken. Monthly competitions will be held during the year and the one who wins most often will become possessor of the cup.

FISH STRIKE MAY BE CALLED

Walk-out of Fishermen Proposed as Protest Against Low Salmon Prices

Canadian Press

New Westminster, Oct. 12—The demand of the British Columbia Fishermen's Protective Association for a raise in the price of chums or dog salmon from three cents each to five or six cents has been rejected by the Salt Salmon Packers' Association of Canada, Vancouver, according to a letter received by W. E. Maiden, secretary of the Fishermen's Association.

The packers state that the Vancouver Island packs are nearly completed for the season. As for the packers on the Fraser River, their operations were on a more unsatisfactory basis than ever before. This condition of the industry, according to the packers, was due to a disappointing market in Japan where the exchange rate and general depression had an adverse effect. It was stated that the packers on the Fraser River could not increase their cost of production above the present basis.

To consider the reply of the packers a special meeting of the Fishermen's Association will be held on Thursday. A proposal to call a general strike of all fishermen in British Columbia coastal waters as a protest against low salmon prices will be considered by the association.

Officers Unable To Find Bridge Jobs Reach New Zealand

Canadian Press

Auckland, N.Z., Oct. 12.—Certificated officers, unable to find bridge jobs owing to the shipping slump, arrived here among the crew of the Commonwealth Dominion liner Port Gisborne to-day. When that steamer arrived from London she had a deck crew of eighteen young officers, of whom sixteen were English and two New Zealanders.

The first deck crew of certificated officers to reach Canada arrived in Victoria last month aboard the Donaldson Line freighter Moveria.

MAKING SURVEY OF BUSINESS

Jean Tillier, General Manager of French Line For Canada and U.S., on Coast

Time Ripe to Study the Advisability of Extending Pacific Coast-France Service

Maintaining that the time is ripe to study the advisability of extending their Pacific Coast-to-France service, Jean Tillier, general manager of the French Line for the United States and Canada; H. Ainsley Highman, general manager of the passenger department, and Pierre H. Dendievel, freight traffic manager, arrived in Vancouver today for an extended survey of business conditions in general, and the freight and passenger situation in particular along the West Coast, visiting also at Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Gilbert Macqueron, Pacific Coast manager of the French Line, and Capt. B. Aillet, former Pacific Coast manager, recently promoted to Europe, are also in Vancouver in the same party.

Capt. Aillet reached Victoria by the Ss. Emma Alexander on Thursday from San Francisco and went on to Vancouver.

The French Line's Pacific Coast service was established almost three years ago, and maintains regular sailings with a fleet of five modern combined passenger and freight ships, built especially for that service. From its beginning it has been favored with excellent business, and the popular support of western passengers and shippers alike, which has prompted the line's executives to make this trip at this time.

The officials will leave Vancouver either this evening or early Thursday for Seattle. They may call at Victoria en route to the Sound.

Colossal Overhead Airport For London

Gigantic Landing Wheel, With Thirty-six Skyscrapers As Base, to Cost $25,000,000

Planes Will Be Able to Land on Sky Runway, No Matter What Direction of Wind

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 12.—An overhead airdrome in the shape of a gigantic wheel half a mile in diameter, at an estimated cost of $25,000,000, is the proposal of London promoters, who hope to have a bill introduced in Parliament in the near future for permission to build it. The proposed airport of the skies is to be supported by thirty-six skyscrapers, in the heart of central London, over the railway lines, behind King's Cross and St. Pancras stations.

The scheme as outlined by W. Craven-Ellis, Conservative, M.P. for Southampton, one of the promoters, is as follows: There will be eight spokes in the wheel design of the overhead airdrome so that airplanes can always land no matter what direction the wind. Each spoke and surrounding rim will be 200 feet wide—three times the width of London Bridge.

The thirty-six buildings which will form the legs of the airdrome will be 120 feet high and will be used as warehouses, factories for light industries, flats and offices. One of them will be a hotel. The flats will house 800 families at a rental of ten shillings a week.

The promoters are W. Craven-Ellis, M.P.; Sir Walter Peacock, a former treasurer to the Prince of Wales; W. Workman, of Workman, Clark and Company, shipbuilders; Rodney Hannen of Holland, Hannen and Cubitt, contractors and engineers; C. W. Glover, the designers of the airport, and Commander Gibson.

NEW PLAN FOR SOVIET RUSSIA

Will Now Develop Smaller Industries, Including Textiles, Says German Traveler

H. Reuter Traveled From Moscow to Manchuli in Seven Days Without Delays

Soviet Russia is making active preparations to embark upon another five year plan designed to develop her smaller industries, according to H. Reuter of Duisburg, Germany, who arrived here yesterday afternoon by the Empress of Canada from the Orient after traveling across Siberia.

The first five year plan, which embraced the heavy industries such as coal, steel and power, has another year to go. Because of the fact that Russia is not importing any more than she exports, the plan is a little behind schedule, but Mr. Reuter says it is working out all right.

EFFICIENT RAILWAYS

The Russian railways are being very efficiently operator, Mr. Reuter traveled from Moscow to Manchuli, right across Siberia to the borders of China, by de luxe train in seven days. There were no more delays, he said, than might be experienced on a Canadian transcontinental train.

Soveit Russia has no tariff walls and that is why she is developing her trade with Germany and other European countries in the opinion of Mr. Reuter.

LONG CREDIT TRADING

The world would be better off to-day if no tariff barriers existed, he believes. Germany has no money and can only trade on long credits, Mr. Reuter pointed out. Similar conditions prevailed in the Central European ccuntries.

Such a state of affairs, he commented, was bound to react adversely throughout the world. In the meantime Russia was taking advantage of the situation by establishing trade connections unfettered by tariff barriers.

Mr. Reuter has wide interests in the Far East and he is now returning to Germany after spending some time in Japan. He will sail from New York by the Bremen.

Pain and Bloated Feelin

Keewatin, Ont. — "My husband had been a sufferer from indigestion for the past few years and tried several well-known remedies, but got very little relief," said Mrs. W. J. Parfitt. "Life was becoming unbearable for him with the pain and bloated feeling he exp enced. Upon taking the first bottle Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discov he is 100% better and all trace of digestion is gone. He feels like a n man—is gaining weight and eats kinds of food."
